DEPEW'S JUSTICE.

Equitable Offers an Explanation.

Chauncey Recited the Charges Against Himself, but Denies Them.

Due to Company's Embarrassment Reorganization Was Determined Upon.

Communications Published by Paul Morton—Principal and Interest.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Announcement was made today by the officers of the Equitable Life Assurance Society that a statement of the indebtedness to the society of the Depew Improvement Company was prepared this afternoon, the principal and interest amounting to $293,950.25.

The correspondence incident to the transaction was also, at the suggestion of President Paul Morton, made public, to the end, Morton said, that the impression prevailing, unjust to Senator Chauncey Depew, it might be removed.

The correspondence consists of three letters of even date, the first addressed to Morton by Henry B. Anderson of the law firm of Anderson & Anderson, attorneys for the Depew Improvement Company, announcing that the reorganization committee of the Depew Improvement Company had perfected the title to the property not covered by the Equitable mortgage, and was prepared to take over the property which secured the loan paying in cash to the Equitable the face of the loan and interest.

The second letter, also addressed to Morton, is from Senator Depew, who states explicitly his part in the transaction between the Improvement Company and the Equitable Society and points out what he declares are inaccuracies in the published statements and the great injustice which has been done him. Among other things, Senator Depew says:

"I had nothing to do with the organization of the Depew Improvement Company, not even the use of my name, nor was I in any way connected with it, until, five years after its incorporation, I purchased for $100,000 in cash a one-fifteenth interest in the stock company. The company at that time had a tract of land, consisting of about twenty-seven hundred subdivided lots and 265 acres not subdivided.

"The Equitable Life loaned $250,000 upon 1575 of the company's lots. These lots were selected as constituting the most valuable tracts there. At the time the mortgage was made, these lots were selling—the lowest at $200 and the highest $600 each. The valuation placed upon the plot by the Equitable appraisers at that time was $393,750, and upon the balance of the land owned by the company, $540,000, a total valuation of the property of $983,750. An appraisal was at the same time made and submitted to the Equitable by William B. Cutter, one of the leading real estate men of Buffalo, in which he appraised the value of the lots loaned on at $758,000.

"In 1901, a real estate depression set in in and about Buffalo, which lowered values and checked the growth of the town of Depew. It was at this time, October, 1901, and not when the loan was made in January, 1898, that the insurance department appraised a part of the property covered by the Equitable's mortgage at $150,000."

Depew then recited the charges made against him, denying each. The charges related to transactions connected with the default of the company and the foreclosure of the loan by the Equitable. He says that as a result of the company's embarrassment a reorganization was determined upon, and though there were unavoidable delays, the plan was progressing as rapidly as possible. The company was to be incorporated, and was to issue bonds for $750,000 to supply funds to take up the Equitable mortgage, principal and interest, and to pay the other debts of the company. There was not any other purpose than that the Equitable should be fully protected.

"My Dear Senator: I am very much pleased to receive your letter and the communication of the organization committee of the Depew Improvement Company, which disposes of the matter in a manner entirely satisfactory to the Equitable. An impression of the situation, which was erroneous and unjust to you, is dispelled. I think that it can best be removed by making these two communications public, and will do so if this action will be agreeable to you.

TYPESETTING MACHINES.

The President Will Allow the Contract for the Government Printing Office to Stand.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 31.—The President will probably not make public the findings of the Keep Commission, on its recent investigation of the Government Printing Office before its return to Washington, as there are some questions connected with the management of the investigation which he wishes to look into further.

In the main point of the inquiry, the contract made by Gen. Palmer, the Public Printer, for the purchase of seventy-two Lanston typesetting machines, the President himself today authorized the statement that the contract would be allowed to stand. He was induced to make this announcement by the report which reached him that rumors about the nature of the report of the Keep Commission were being used for stock-jobbing purposes and he determined to put an end to this at once.

ONE OF THE JUNTA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—On what he said was a secret mission to see President Roosevelt, Mincanor Obarrio, a prominent citizen of Panama, arrived in this city today on the steamer Havana from Colon. Obarrio was one of the original junta which was instrumental in establishing the independence of Panama.

CHAIRMAN SHONTS OF CANAL COMMISSION TALKS.

Cold Storage Plans—New Refrigerator Cars—Foodstuffs Can be Sent from United States in Five Days—Work on Canal to be in Full Swing Soon.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Chairman Shonts of the Isthmian Canal Commission has returned after a trip to Oyster Bay and to New York, where he looked into the details of establishing cold storage facilities on the Isthmus.

"The plan includes refrigerators on the ships, a big cold storage warehouse at Colon, and ten refrigerator railway cars which are being built in Chicago to transport food supplies to Panama, stopping and delivering orders at any of the labor camps along the way. Foodstuffs will be sent from the United States in five days and delivered on short notice, without any danger of spoiling," said Mr. Shonts.

"Food will be bought in Jamaica and in the United States by the commission, and sold to the clerical and laboring force on the Isthmus. We shall make neither profit nor loss. Between eight and nine thousand laborers, mostly gathered from the zone and from Jamaica, are digging on the canal. In two or three months the work on the canal will be in full swing.

"As to whether it will be a ship canal rests with the Board of Engineers. I have no opinion to express. I have only to say that the canal will be so built that it will be the most efficient for all commerce."

MUSCAT DISPUTE SETTLED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Announcement that the Muscat dispute between Great Britain and France had been settled is made by the secretary of Chief Justice Fuller of the United States Supreme Court, who has recently been at The Hague as a member of the permanent international council in adjudication upon this matter. The dispute relates to the right of certain traders to fly the French flag in the Persian Gulf, upon which Muscat is situated. Details of the settlement were not made public.

AMALGAMATE FOR COAST WORK.

DETROIT, Aug. 31.—An amalgamation of the lumber interests intended principally to operate in the redwood districts on the Pacific Coast was effected here today and the Pacific Lumber Company was organized with a capitalization of $1,000,000. Articles of incorporation will be filed under the laws of Maine. The new company is an outgrowth of the Pacific Company of New Jersey. Among the directors are W. H. Robinson of San Francisco and F. M. Murphy of Arizona.

JAPAN NOT RUSHING INTO THE PAPERS.

"Wise Guys" of the Orient Will Await Conclusion of the Deal.

No Danger of the Two Camps in Manchuria Clashing While the Political Features are Being Arranged. Mutsohito the Great Has Final Word in Respect to the Treaty.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The report that an Anglo-Japanese treaty was signed August 12 by Foreign Secretary Lansdowne and Minister Hayashi is confirmed. While secrecy is maintained for the present regarding the exact terms, it may be said that the document is of far-reaching importance. It affords mutual guarantees for the protection of British and Japanese interests, even if the two contracting powers are only threatened by a single hostile power, and assures the maintenance of the status quo in the Far East.

The new treaty will be found to be a powerful factor in insuring the peace of the world, at any rate, so far as the Far East is concerned.

COMMERCIAL UKASE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VIENNA, Aug. 31.—It is expected here that a commercial ukase will be the next result of the peace between Russia and Japan. Prince Demidoff of the Russian Embassy expressed this same opinion in referring to the possibility of an economical agreement between the two powers.

It is the understanding here that Great Britain, and to some degree France and Germany, locally supported President Roosevelt's efforts. The Foreign Office points out that Japan has attained all the aims of the war.

TOKIO, Aug. 31.—[By Asiatic Cable.] 4 p.m.—No official action was taken today concerning an armistice, and it is not clear whether the conferees at Portsmouth will arrange the details, or refer the matter to their respective governments to suggest plans of procedure. It is believed here that an armistice will be speedily concluded, though it is doubted that any danger exists in the interim of clashes in the field, for the reason that both the Japanese and Russian commanders have been apprised of the progress of the Portsmouth conference.

The attitude of the Japanese government indicates that there is no immediate intention to issue a formal statement relating to the result of the conference. It is possible that Japan's envoys to Portsmouth will publish a statement at the termination of their labors. The Foreign Office intimates that there will be no publication here until a signed copy of the treaty reaches the Emperor and its approval is gazetted, which will probably be a month hence, or until Baron Komura appears before the Diet and makes a report on the peace conference and its results. The date for the assembling of the Diet has not yet been determined.

Premier Katsura and Marquis Ito are the recipients of numerous protests and memorials against the versions of settlement of the war as given by the newspapers.

RADICAL "ROARS."

The Yorozu Shimbun, an independent radical newspaper, attacks the peace pact, opening its criticism with the words "Arise brethren." It then reviews the agitation for a representative government, with the power of treaty revision, and recalls the attempt to assassinate Okuma, saying: "The people never remained quiet when the national interests were menaced."

It further declares that the nation will be humiliated unless the people act strongly against the Portsmouth settlement. It asks: "Why should the victor be conciliatory and the vanquished arrogant?"

It declares that the people's quick action alone will prevent national disgrace after a series of brilliant victories on land and sea.

"Otherwise," it says, "our brothers who have been killed in the field have died an inglorious death."

KANEKO INTERVIEWED.
HIS BUSINESS ECONOMIC.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Baron Kaneko, ex-Minister of Agriculture in the Cabinet of Marquis Ito, concerning whose mission to the United States there has been much conjecture, gave out an interview last night, in which he declares that his business in America is purely of an economic nature. He denied absolutely that he had anything to do with the peace negotiations at Portsmouth. In his self-appointed task, he declares, he has accomplished much, and sees as an ultimate result the economic salvation of his own country, as well as an enormous amount of good to America.

"Throughout my life, and particularly during my terms in the Cabinet of Marquis Ito, I have taken a deep interest in economic questions," said the baron, "which led to my being placed in charge of the Japanese exhibits at numerous expositions, including that at St. Louis.

"In the year and a quarter that I have been in this country, I have been studying constantly. My sojourns in Europe proved to me that the European markets were filled with their own products, and I saw here that if the front door of the American market was closed, the back door was open to Asia. In the course of my investigations, I have talked with all kinds of people and have learned a great deal about what I believe to be the glorious future that lies before the United States in the Far East.

ECONOMIC ALLIANCE.

"America is our nearest neighbor. In her our hope is bound up, and since our country was opened up by America, in 1854, we have ever maintained cordial relations and been the sincerest friends. To me, the United States has always seemed a second home, and if I can bring about the economic alliance that I am now free to talk about, I shall feel, on account of the good that will accrue to this country from such an alliance, that I have paid a part of my debt of gratitude.

"Probably, within a few weeks, I shall go back home and shall tell my people the results of my study. I shall tell them that the United States is a country without a thought of territorial aggrandizement; that the American people will defend the rights of other nations as they will defend their own, because they love individual right and individual liberty. I shall tell my people that the way to open Asia, securely and peaceably, is through the introduction of American civilization.

"And I shall do more than that if I am allowed to do it. I am ready to serve as a loyal subject of Japan and as a sincere friend of America in bringing about an economic alliance—not a treaty signed on parchment, but imprinted in the hearts and the minds of the people of Japan and the United States. That is my ambition. To achieve it, I came here on my self-appointed mission, and I trust that my efforts will be crowned with success."

NOT DEPENDING ON INDEMNITY.
INTERVIEW WITH TAKAHASHI.

LONDON, Aug. 31. [By Atlantic Cable.] M. Takahashi, the financial commissioner of Japan, in an interview today, said:

"The Japanese government, in prosecuting the war, never had in mind the question of having to depend upon an indemnity. The government had prepared itself for any emergency, and at the present moment there is no less than $175,000,000 untouched in London, Germany and the United States.

"This being the case, I see no necessity for the issue of a new loan. Had peace not been concluded, my government would have raised an internal loan of $100,000,000 for the further prosecution of the war. This was the plan at the time the conference met. I consider that the present resources of Japan are ample for clearing up the war and meeting incidental expenses involved."

Lovely Woman to Wear Mirrors in Her Hats So She Will be Able to See Things.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The National Milliners' convention closed tonight, and the members hastened home to adopt the new fad of a mirror sewed in the crown of all hats.

This is the newest fad imported from Paris, and made an instant hit with the convention. The uses of the mirror are manifold. Under the pretense of arranging her hair, a woman can perform her toilet. On street cars or in an auto she can remove her hat and see what is going on in the rear seats.

DEAD PEOPLE, LIVE POLITICS.

PHILADELPHIA CORPSES FIGURED IN THE VOTE.

Police Also Ferret Out Fictitious Names on Assessors' Lists, as Result of Which Several of These Officers Have to Give Bail—Sixty Thousand Grafters.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—Peter J. Wagner, assessor of the thirty-seventh division of the Twentieth Ward, was held in $1500 bail today, and Lewis J. Buck, William G. Turner, Lawrence Farrell, election officers of the same division, were each held in $1000 bail, charged with conspiring to make false returns of the February election. John H. Elmore, Republican leader of the ward, was arrested and held in $500 bail, charged with intimidating a witness and obstructing justice.

The Twentieth Ward is in the fashionable section of the city. Testimony was offered to show that men who had been dead for years were voted and that persons who had not lived in the division for years were placed on the assessor's list and their names voted.

The Director of Public Safety today issued orders to the various police lieutenants of the city directing them to detail policemen to appear before the assessors of their respective election divisions on the evening of Sept. 5 and present to the assessors all fictitious names and those of persons who have died, moved or are illegally on the voting lists and request the assessors to strike the same from the roll.

After a recent canvass by the police it was announced that they discovered more than sixty thousand names illegally upon the election lists. The Department of Public Safety has prepared 60,000 affidavits sworn to by policemen and these will be presented to the assessors when the demand is made to them to strike off the alleged bogus names.

DYNAMITED IN MID-AIR.

AERONAUT BLOWN TO PIECES AS HE GIVES EXHIBITION.

Terrible Tragedy Occurs at County Fair in Ohio When Balloonist, Showing How Explosives are Used in War, Meets With Accident. Wife Witnesses Horrible Scene.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GREENVILLE (O.) Aug. 31.—In sight of 25,000 persons Prof. John Baldwin was blown to atoms here this afternoon by the explosion of six sticks of dynamite while 1500 feet in the air. His wife and children were among the spectators who witnessed the tragedy.

Baldwin has been giving daily exhibitions at the county fair here. He would ascend several thousand feet in the air and explode dynamite at intervals. Today, he mounted 1500 feet in the air. Every eye among the thousands of spectators below watched him until he became almost a mere speck.

Suddenly, a great cloud of smoke appeared. It hid the airship from view, the spectators supposed, as the balloon had vanished completely from sight. In another moment, the sound of the explosion reached the straining ears of the watchers, but the airship did not again appear. For a moment the crowd waited expectantly, expecting a view of the aeronaut would be obtained through a rift in the smoke.

Then a groan of horror rose from the multitude. The airship had vanished. Searchers immediately began looking for fragments of the wrecked airship. A half mile away they found pieces of silk cloth of which the balloon was made and splinters of the basket-like framework on which the aeronaut had been perched. Scattered about a twenty-acre field were found fragments of Baldwin's body. The distance at which the remnants of the airship fell was so great that the crowd had not seen the fragments fall.

No one can tell how the accident occurred. The six sticks of dynamite which Baldwin carried with him exploded simultaneously as only one report was heard.

RUSSIANS SO GLAD.

Czar Forwards His Earnest Thanks.

Trepoff Also is Thoroughly Satisfied and the Press is Resigned.

Odessa Experiences Immense Relief With Mobilization and Stagnation Over.

Statement of the Jews as Submitted to M. Witte. Portsmouth Points.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OYSTER BAY (L. I.) Aug. 31.—Emperor Nicholas of Russia has recognized gratefully the part which the President played in the negotiations for peace. In a cablegram received by the President, today, Emperor Nicholas congratulated and thanked the President for his efforts. The cablegram follows:

PETERHOF, Aug. 31.—President Roosevelt: Accept my congratulations and earnest thanks for having brought the peace negotiations to a successful conclusion, owing to your personal energetic effort. Our country will gratefully recognize the great part you have played in the Portsmouth peace conference.

[Signed] NICHOLAS.

That the Russian Emperor has thanked the President for his efforts toward peace between Russia and Japan was to have been expected, but it is especially significant that in his cablegram, Emperor Nicholas extended to the President his "warmest thanks for having brought the peace negotiations to a successful conclusion." The dispatch is regarded as one of the most remarkable ever sent by the head of one nation to that of another.

Congratulatory messages are still pouring in upon the President. The executive office force here is completely swamped and it will be many days before acknowledgment of the receipt of all messages can be sent out. It will be impossible for the President himself to respond to the felicitations of his friends everywhere, but in the course of time the sender of each message will receive a response.

PRESIDENT AND KAISER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—President Roosevelt's acknowledgment of Emperor William's coöperation in bringing about peace is widely commented upon, as disproving on the highest authority the legends still circulating abroad that the German Emperor tried to prevent peace.

THE PRESS RESIGNED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—The general tone of the press this morning is one of resignation. The Novoe Vremya is a notable exception. The paper refuses to believe in the success of peace, and contends that it is only a stage toward a new struggle between Russia and Japan.

The Novoe Vremya's article displays a further irritation towards President Roosevelt for his action, which the paper says "was regretable, inopportune and even disastrous for Russia."

The Ontechestva says: "After a shameful war, Russia could certainly lay no claim to an honorable peace. She should congratulate herself on the conclusion of the war, the continuance of which would cost greater sacrifices."

Other radical papers express pleasure at the conclusion of the war, which they hope will be followed by a concerted effort at internal development.

ODESSA'S IMMENSE RELIEF.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ODESSA, Aug. 31.—The news of the conclusion of peace was received by all classes here with sincere joy and immense relief, especially as the promulgation of a ukase for the demobilization of troops on the previous day clearly indicated the possibility of a continuation of the war.

The peace terms are considered a great victory for Russian diplomacy. The trade of this port will, it is believed, recover from its stage of stagnation.

TREPOFF IS SATISFIED.
"SITTING ON THE LID."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—"Personally, I am satisfied—thoroughly satisfied," was the emphatic response of Gen. Trepoff, when asked for his opinion of the peace conditions. The general, who, with Witte, is the man of the hour in Russia, and as assistant Minister of the Interior is more thoroughly in touch with the actual sentiment and situation throughout the empire than any other Russian, added, still speaking personally, that he considered Russia, by the terms of the peace, obtained all that she could have obtained by prolonging the war, especially since, being without a fleet, no matter how victorious she might be on land, should would be unable to attack the Japanese at sea or retake the island of Sakhalin. It was evident that Russia had obtained a diplomatic success, and he had no criticism of the terms in any particular.

Speaking further of the effect of peace on the internal situation, Gen. Trepoff maintained that conditions were by no means serious. The foreign press, he said, is mistaken in supposing that there is a revolution in Russia. It is true that in Poland and elsewhere there have been disorders, and in court the situation is serious. But there is no revolution on. The disorders are only sporadic. The return of the army from Manchuria, according to Gen. Trepoff, offered no ground for apprehension.

"It will be necessary for a large part of the army to remain permanently in the Far East, and the homecoming of the other part will be a matter of months.

"It took a year and a half," continued the general, "to get the present force to Manchuria. The troops will be equally long in returning. Naturally, peace made at this time, when it was believed in the army that they stood on the eve of victory, will cause bitterness for the moment, but this will wear away under the pleasure of getting home."

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

Passing to the subject of national assembly and the coming election, Gen Trepoff said that one of the great causes of dissatisfaction would soon be removed, as work on the law regulating the right of assembly was proceeding and a law would speedily be issuable, under which the people would be able to meet and discuss the candidates, their policies and other lawful objects. The police authorities were not opposed to such meetings, and would not interfere, except when the proceedings take a serious turn.

"The trouble with the Liberals here in St. Petersburg," said the general, "is that they are not accustomed to obeying the law, and have to learn that the laws are meant to be obeyed. If the zemstvoists want to meet again in Moscow, they have only to ask permission, stating the object of the meeting, and it will be freely granted."

Regarding the demand for freedom of the press, Gen. Trepoff intimated that the restrictions were more imaginary than real. He pointed out the liberty with which the papers are now discussing all sorts of subjects.

When questioned on the rumors of impending changes in the Ministry of the Interior, the general denied the current report that Gen. Count Alexis Ignatieff, head of the religious toleration committee, would be appointed minister.

He said M. Boulagin had not resigned, and that the press was busying itself far more than the government with this matter.

As the correspondent arose to leave, Gen. Trepoff again reverted to the subject of peace, saying in conclusion:

"Your President has done great work—magnificent work. He should be thoroughly happy and satisfied."

Manukhin, Minister of Justice, the report of whose resignation today is unfounded, expressed himself satisfied with the peace, which, he added, was necessary to the country.

THE JEWS TO RUSSIA.

LETTER HANDED TO WITTE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—What is announced to be the full text of a letter concerning Russia's treatment of the Jews submitted to Sergius Witte, the Russian peace envoy, by a committee of Hebrew bankers and merchants, is published today by the American.

The communication is signed by Jacob H. Schiff, Jacob Seligman, Adolph Lewisohn and others. It covers thoroughly the arguments and contentions of the committee made before Witte by the delegation recently for the amelioration of the conditions under which people of the Hebrew race now live in the land of Emperor Nicholas. Civil and political liberty for the Jews, on an equality with all other Russian subjects, is the keynote of the communication.

"Mindful of our privileges in meeting you during your recent stay at Portsmouth," the letter says, "we deem it well before you leave the United States and return to your own country to submit in writing, if only for a thorough understanding or for further reference, some of the statements to which we gave expression when we had the privilege of visiting you and of listening to your valuable views.

"We believe that the claim of the Russian government, that the question of the condition of the Hebrews in Russia is a purely domestic one with which the people and government of other countries have no concern, can no longer be maintained. When a government, either through the application of exceptional laws, or by other means, forces great masses of its subjects to seek to improve their condition, through emigration to other countries, the people of the countries which give an asylum to such refugees from persecution and oppression may, with entire propriety, criticise the conditions which have caused such an influx into their country and may properly insist that these conditions shall be improved in such a manner and to such extent that the causes of the forced emigration shall cease to exist, and this without justifying the charge that they are meddling with affairs that should not concern them.

"This we believe to be the attitude of the American people in general. We, as Jews, have the added interest in the condition of the Jews in Russia which ties of race and faith always and properly call forth, and we deem it, therefore, nothing less than our plain duty to do all in our power to procure an amelioration in their status.

"As we stated to you at our conference, it is our very decided conviction that nothing but the granting of full civil rights to the Jewish subjects of the Czar will entirely remove the conditions which have been the cause of so much disturbance in Russia and adverse criticism abroad. You have answered us that the Russian Jew in general is not sufficiently prepared for the exercise of full civil rights, and that the feeling of the Russian people is such that the Jew cannot be placed on an equal footing with them without causing serious internal disorders, and you suggested that it might be advisable and practicable gradually to remove the existing disabilities, and thus prepare the way for an eventual total granting of civic equality.

As to this, we aver that the million or more Russian Jews who have come to the United States have become good citizens, notwithstanding their sudden emergency from the greatest darkness into the most intense daylight of political and civil liberty, and that they have shown themselves entirely equal to the responsibilities which have been placed upon them as citizens of this great republic.

"Nor has it ever been different in modern history and experience. Napoleon, in 1808, Germany at a somewhat later period, and England, even in Cromwell's time, granted without injury to the State, full civil rights to the Jews, living then under conditions much darker than these under which they now live in Russia.

"While it may be true that a state of enmity against the Jews exists among part of the Russian people, for which the Russian government is to some extent responsible, still, in our opinion, placing the Jew at once on a footing of civic equality with the rest of the population would cause no more friction than each one of the steps leading to the same end. This very objection urged by you seems to us a good reason why this should be settled once and for all, instead of allowing it to drag on painfully, creating new disturbances at every stage.

"The claim that among the ranks of those who in Russia are seeking to undermine governmental authority, there are a considerable number of Jews may perhaps be true. In fact, it would be rather surprising if some of those so terribly afflicted by persecution and exceptional laws should not at last have turned against their merciless oppressors. But it is safe to assert that, as a whole, the Jewish population of Russia is law-abiding, and there is little doubt that once given civil rights, with all the opportunities which this will carry with it, the Jew in Russia will become as valuable a member of the commonwealth, and prove to be as ardent a lover of his country as have been the Jews of every country, which has accorded them the rights as citizens. The fact will not be disputed that, in the United States, the Jew has become an ardent American; in England, a loyal Englishman; in France, a patriotic Frenchman, and in Germany a thorough German.

"The people of the United States, as must be known to you, are close observers of all that is taking place in Russia during this momentous period of her existence. Their sympathies are for the time being alienated from Russia because, liberty and justice loving, they have recoiled from the horrors of Kishineff and from the terrible conditions, which, though long existing, have only now been fully disclosed.

"Jewish influence in the United States, especially political, already carries great weight and is steadily increasing, constantly recruited from the large immigration of Russian Jews.

"Can it be expected that the influence of the American-Jew upon public opinion will be exerted to the advantage of the country which systematically degrades his brethren-in-race, making their lives almost unendurable?

"No matter how many Jews may emigrate, there will always remain a minimum of six or seven million Jews in Russia, and it is quite evident that the Russo-Jewish question must be settled in Russia—settled promptly and thoroughly in the enlightened spirit which your imperial master has shown in so many other instances. This vexatious question will remove, at once and forever, a factor so damaging to Russia as a bone and abroad. We, therefore, earnestly hope that the exchange of views, which has taken place between us may lead to that solution which we are convinced you and the other best minds of your country actually desire."

UNTRUE AND ABSURD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—The Associated Press is in a position to state that the report emanating from Portsmouth to the effect that the war party is urging the Emperor to repudiate the treaty of peace is untrue and absurd. All the necessary measures for putting an armistice into effect have been taken here, but it is impossible to put them into actual operation in the absence of an understanding with the Japanese.

EULOGY BY THE SLOVO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 31.—The Russkoi Slovo, having the largest circulation in Moscow, today publishes a two-column eulogy of President Roosevelt and the part he has played during the last three months, saying in conclusion: "To the memories of the Russian and Japanese peoples the personality of President Roosevelt is crowned with the halo of peace, and will last forever."

The Liberal papers of Moscow made no attempt to conceal their joy at the conclusion of peace. The reactionary papers criticise Witte, saying that their thanks are due to Emperor Nicholas alone that Russia obtained peace terms which were possible of acceptance.

BRITAIN'S RESPONSIBILITY.

NEW TREATY INTERESTS PRESS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The conclusion of the new Anglo-Japanese treaty of alliance, which the Associated Press announced August 25, had been signed, has only now become definitely known to the English newspapers, which are keenly interested in it and are anxiously discussing its probable contents.

An important modification binding either power to come to the assistance of the other, if attacked by one, instead, as in the old treaty, of two powers, causes inquietude in some quarters, where it is thought to add enormously to Great Britain's responsibility, but on the whole, complete satisfaction is expressed as to the scope of the new treaty, as far as it is at present known.

The Daily Telegraph representing the views of the government and well reflecting the opinions of a majority of the newspapers, in an editorial, says: "The new Anglo-Japanese treaty will guarantee the terms of the Portsmouth treaty. It will check any insane idea of Russian revenge, will render impossible any anti-Japanese coalition, and effectually terminate the scramble for China."

It is supposed that the new treaty establishes an unqualified defensive alliance between Great Britain and Japan, and it is believed not likely that India is included in the sphere of territory over which the treaty aims for the preservation of the status quo. Should this prove the case, its value to Great Britain will be enhanced.

BLOWN UP PREPARING BLAST.

LANCASTER (Pa.) Aug. 31.—Three Slavs and an Italian were blown to pieces by the premature explosion of a blast near Safe Harbor last night. Another Slav is missing, and is believed to have been blown into the river, and two Slavs and a negro were badly injured. The men were engaged in loading a blast hole fifty feet deep, and had just placed in the dynamite and detonation cap. It is supposed the tamping rod struck this cap ditions of peace, Mr. Takahashi said: "All far-seeing Japanese will hail with satisfaction the conclusion of peace, although there must be a feeling of general regret that Russia did not display a more reasonable attitude in recognizing that Japan's terms were not only reasonable, but very moderate. In the circumstances, all Japanese who take a broad-minded view of the situation must recognize that the decision of their Emperor was the wisest possible. Had the government insisted on an indemnity, it is clear that the war would have continued.

"The objects for which the war was waged already have been more than achieved, and to continue the war for a pecuniary consideration would not have been worthy of Japan. I do not share the view that this is a patched-up peace, or that fresh conflicts are likely to ensue. Such a contingency has been already provided for in the Anglo-Japanese alliance."

Takahashi looks for one of the earliest developments in the Far East in the education of China by western methods, which has already commenced.

NO HASTY REJOICINGS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Aug. 31, 8 a.m.—A remarkable absence of rejoicing is one of the most striking features attendant upon the receipt of news that a practical conclusion of peace had been reached. The kind of reception that awaits definite news will depend entirely upon the nature of the terms. It is generally feared that extensive concessions have been made by Japan. It has been generally expected by the public, and hoped, that there would be a rupture at Portsmouth, in view of what was termed Russia's obduracy in refusing the payment of indemnity.

The Jiji says this morning: "An agreement arrived at without a rupture can only mean that great concessions have been made by our plenipotentiaries. A peace concluded upon such terms can never satisfy the nation."

The Mainichi says: "We are disappointed. We only hoped that there would be a suspension of the peace conference. It is impossible under the circumstances to conclude an honorable peace. The fruits of our arms have been lost by weak diplomacy. Japan, victorious in the field, has been defeated in the conference chamber."

The Nichiniehi says: "We feel surprised, and wonder how peace could have been concluded, when everything indicated the impossibility of making Russia accept the vital demands of our terms. In the absence of official confirmation of the terms, it is impossible to form a final opinion, but the indications are that nothing will ensure peace with terms that are honorable."

The minor papers are generally angry, and say that peace obtained upon the terms reported is a humiliating one.

CENTERING ON WITTE.

PREDICTION OF HIS RISE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Witte's message to the Czar that "Japan has accepted your demands," that "thanks to your wisdom and firmness, peace has been reëstablished," and that "Russia, as hitherto, will remain forever the great power in the Far East," has been posted today in public places. This action has dissipated the rumor that Gen. Linevitch would begin an attack upon the Japanese forces before an armistice is signed.

Prince Galitzan asserts that the army in Manchuria received news of peace with shouts of gladness. He said: "Witte is an incomparable juggler with figures. He was Minister of Finance for a decade, but he ruined the country, and he always showed a surplus in revenues. He will become Premier, will be created a count, and will undertake to save the tottering autocracy."

MOURNING FOR SAKHALIN.

RUSSIAN PRIDE OFFENDED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Judging from the press comment today on peace, it would appear that, while pleased with the prospect of the removal of further bloodshed from the Far East, a large portion of the public is unable to reconcile itself to the loss of territory, however insignificant. The national pride seems to be offended by the cession of part of the island of Sakhalin.

Yesterday the people spoke of "today's shame," meaning peace. Many of the utterances show evidences of regret that the army had not been given another chance to try the fortunes of war, though no one questions or underrates the humanity of the course followed by the President, the plenipotentiaries and Emperor Nicholas.

The tone of many of the utterances concerning peace induces one to believe that a further sacrifice of human lives would not be unacceptable, if the national self-respect could be regained thereby. One word of disapproval of the terms from Tokio suggesting that Japan did not desire to be bound by the terms that might result in a flare-up here in defense of war and the national honor.

Embittered by what they declare to be a dishonorable peace, the extreme patriots do not always refrain from criticising the President and the American people, who, they declare, have offended Russian sentiment by underrating the Russian preparations, strength and ability to cope with the Japanese. The people, almost without exception, welcome peace, and express the hope that the shackles which kept American enterprise out of Russia will be removed. Preference for American enterprise in Russia as against Germany is expressed.

The Russ says: "All we could have expected was avoidance of diplomatic defeat. This seems to have been accomplished."

The Novoe Vremya says: "Japan is dissatisfied with the peace. So are we. President Roosevelt was in favor of Russia ceding the island of Sakhalin and paying an indemnity. This does not please us. This peace is only one phase in our relations with Japan, which are only beginning. We shall rest, and then doubtless go on. As men who have spent eighteen months together, we now shake each other by the hand and say 'au revoir.' English and American capitalists should rejoice over the peace."

The Slovo says that peace should have been concluded before the battle of the Sea of Japan, adding: "Then we would not have lost any territory. The present agreement with Japan may result in relations which will reward us and heal the wounds inflicted on Russian patriotism by the war."

The Syn Ortechestva says: "Whatever we may have paid at Portsmouth, it was not the price of peace, but of war. We fear that secret treaties have been signed which are disadvantageous to Russia."

The Nasha Shisu remarks: "We must acknowledge that the peace terms are most disadvantageous. We cannot rejoice over them. We have lost too much."

The Svlet says: "Gen. Linevitch's army is not destroyed. The present treaty puts off, but does not exclude war, only a bucket of cold water has been poured over it out of the fountain of humanity with which President Roosevelt is now irrigating the whole world."

The Bourse Gazette says: "The war has forced Russia to open her eyes to her rotten political foundations and to her ignorance of the disorder in the army, and, in fact, in all branches of the national administration."

The St. Petersburg Gazette remarks: "We have been overcome, not by Japan, but by our dishonesty and happy-go-luckiness. The dreadful lessons of this war will not be fruitless, and will force us toward better forms of life. America and her noble and brave President have rendered us great service."

WARSAW GREETS PEACE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WARSAW, Aug. 31.—The commercial world greets peace joyfully as the economic conditions will improve. In consequence, the Bourse here was animated today, all values rising. The editorials in the newspapers welcome peace, and express the hope that Russia will now devote herself to internal improvements.

PORTSMOUTH LESSON AS WITTE HAS IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—[By Atlantic Cable.] M. Witte, interviewed at Portsmouth by the correspondent of the Slovo, is reported to have said:

"You see what one gains by standing firm. I was in a frightful position. I had not the right to accept a compromise, and a rupture seemed likely to enlist the sympathies of all on the side of Japan.

"President Roosevelt appealed to my patriotism, humanity, and good sense. Fortunately, I succeeded in holding out to the end.

"The Japanese could not read in my face what was passing in my heart. From the outset I assumed such an indifferent tone that it eventually carried conviction. When the Japanese presented their written conditions, I laid them aside without looking at them, and spoke of something else.

"On leaving the room, I intentionally forgot the conditions lying on the table. When one of the Japanese plenipotentiaries drew my attention to this, asking me if I did not wish to take away secret documents which someone might read, I put the papers carelessly in my pocket. It was thus to the last minute of the negotiations."

MRS. WATSON'S HORSEWHIP.

Mrs. Mary Watson, at the Englewood police court, today blushingly admitted horsewhipping J. B. Ritchey in the presence of a big crowd. She was fined $10. Ritchey is Mrs. Watson's next door neighbor, and when she followed him into the street and attacked him with a horsewhip, she had bought for the purpose, the incident caused a sensation throughout Auburn Park. Half a dozen chickens furnished the occasion for the trouble. Mrs. Watson had the chickens. Likewise she had rabbits. Ritchey had a garden. The rabbits burrowed under the fence, and stripped the garden of lettuce and radishes. Ritchey expressed his anger and the horsewhipping followed.

TRADE UNION WRECKING.

Trade union "wrecking crews" which have played so prominent a part in recent disturbances of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and which the police and the State's Attorney were unable to unearth upon investigation several weeks ago, are now threatened with complete exposure. It was revealed today that detectives have obtained important information concerning the hired sluggers who broke up the Federation election in July and mercilessly assaulted Michael Donnelly of the butcher workmen.

DEGREE FOR WITTE.

The University of Chicago will confer an honorary degree on Sergius Witte, the Russian peace plenipotentiary, at a special convocation, this month, if plans now in contemplation are carried out. President Harper said tonight that the Russian statesman had been invited to visit the university when he comes to Chicago, and that, in the opinion of the university officials, it would be eminently proper to pay especial respect to him.

BUNKERS FUE FOR BIG BLA

Fire Destroys Briquette tory at Stockton.

Coal Dust Ignited by Sp One Presumed Cause.

Contracts for Building W ern Pacific Awarded.

STOCKTON, Aug. 31.—The T briquette factory and coal bunkers cated on the water front in the w ern part of the city, were destro by fire early this evening, entailin loss of about $50,000. The in ance is $30,000. Three years on the 15th of September, 1902, first plant built by the company destroyed by fire and the new w were built on the site of the old pl

The fire today was beyond con when the alarm was turned in, ow to the inflammable material stored the bunkers, and three Southern cific cars, which were on the tra above the bunkers went down in ruins, when the fire had burned aw the tracks. The plant was in s cessful operation and five cars of c were dumped into the bunkers tod Tonight, there is a big blaze from coal and the piles of briquettes in bunkers.

Firemen worked desperately to sa the plant adjoining the bunkers, could not and when the mass fell i the flames, a fireman named Fra Kendall was struck by falling timb and severely injured.

The property destroyed was own by the Tesla Coal Company, of whi W. T. Bartnett of the Western Paci and John Treadwell were the pri cipal stockholders. The property w under the management of H. H. Gr fiths, who places the company's lo at $50,000. The insurance is $30,000 a was written through the company's o fice at San Francisco.

The origin of the fire has not be learned. Some of the workmen belie it was spontaneous combustion, as started in the bunkers where no fi is used. Another theory is that th coal dust was ignited by sparks fro a passing steamboat, which went dow stream shortly before the fire was see about 150 tons of coal had bee dumped into the bunkers during the day and three coal cars were standing on the tracks above the bunker when the fire started and could no be hauled out. CENTRAL COUNTIES CONVENE.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 31.—The quarterly meeting of the Central Coast Counties Improvement Association was opened this morning by President Walter A. Clark of Mountain View, with delegates present from the following bodies: San José Chamber of Commerce, Monterey Chamber of Commerce, San Juan Valley Improvement Club, Redwood City Improvement Club, Santa Clara Commercial League, Santa Clara Woman's Club, boards of trade of Saratoga, Palo Alto, Mountain View, Pacific Grove and Mayfield, and San Benito County Improvement Club. An address of welcome was made by V. A. Scheller, president of the local chamber of commerce, to which President Clark responded for the association.

The principal business this morning was the introduction of the report of the finance committee, showing a shortage, according to the books, in ex-Secretary I. B. McMahill's accounts. Details were given going to show that McMahill, who was for one year secretary of the association, is short in his accounts to the extent of $118. McMahill has for some months been under bonds for trial on a charge of having appropriated money of the local chamber of commerce while acting as its secretary.

Contracts for Building Western Pacific Awarded.

STOCKTON, Aug. 31.—The Tesla briquette factory and coal bunkers, located on the water front in the western part of the city, were destroyed by fire early this evening, entailing a loss of about $50,000. The insurance is $30,000. Three years ago, on the 15th of September, 1902, the first plant built by the company was destroyed by fire and the new works were built on the site of the old plant.

The fire today was beyond control when the alarm was turned in, owing to the inflammable material stored in the bunkers, and three Southern Pacific cars, which were on the tracks above the bunkers went down in the ruins, when the fire had burned away the tracks. The plant was in successful operation and five cars of coal were dumped into the bunkers today. Tonight, there is a big blaze from the coal and the piles of briquettes in the bunkers.

Firemen worked desperately to save the plant adjoining the bunkers, but could not and when the mass fell into the flames, a fireman named Frank Kendall was struck by falling timber and severely injured.

The property destroyed was owned by the Tesla Coal Company, of which W. T. Bartnett of the Western Pacific and John Treadwell were the principal stockholders. The property was under the management of H. H. Griffiths, who places the company's loss at $50,000. The insurance is $30,000 and was written through the company's office at San Francisco.

The origin of the fire has not been learned. Some of the workmen believe it was spontaneous combustion, as it started in the bunkers where no fire is used. Another theory is that the coal dust was ignited by sparks from a passing steamboat, which went downstream shortly before the fire was seen. About 150 tons of coal had been dumped into the bunkers during the day and three coal cars were standing on the tracks above the bunkers when the fire started and could not be hauled out. That was about all of the coal on hand and the supply of briquettes was not large, as big shipments had been made in the morning.

WASHINGTON LUMBER MILLS.

OVERWHELMED WITH ORDERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The lumber mills of Washington are overwhelmed with orders. Wholesalers have called in salesmen because orders taken now cannot be filled within the specified time. Many mills have orders booked that will keep them in operation three months. A large proportion of these orders are for future delivery in Eastern States. Both lumber and shingle markets are more bullish than for two years.

INTERURBAN ELECTRIC ROAD.

FRANCHISE TO WALNUT GROVE.

STOCKTON, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] H. H. Griffiths, who represents the Central California Traction Company, had a caucus with the Supervisors, today, to discuss his application for a franchise for an interurban electric road from Stockton to New Hope and Walnut Grove.

Griffiths already holds a franchise from Stockton to Calaveras River, but it is alongside the roadway. The company would prefer to use the center of the thoroughfare. The Supervisors objected to the center of the road, and after some discussion, it was decided to permit tracks along either side of the roadway, except in city, town or addition, where streets have been platted, when the tracks will be in the center of the street.

This interurban system will connect with the extensive lines inside of the city now being built by the Central California Traction Company. A line of steamers between here and San Francisco will handle produce and other freight moved by the new road.

LUNING PROBABLY DYING.

AFFECTED BY CONSUMPTION.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Nicholas T. Luning, son of the late San Francisco millionaire, is threatened with consumption, and is in such precarious condition that his employer today ordered him to go home and recuperate.

Little more than a year ago, Luning eloped with Ethel Button, daughter of an Oakland attorney. The parents of the young couple had forbidden their marriage. The latter came to Seattle, their money almost gone and their hopes at low ebb. Luning obtained a clerk's place in a real estate office, but lately his health has failed, and now he is thought to be dying.

ESCAPED THE JAPS.

CAPT. BORGMANN ELATED.

TACOMA (Wash.) Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Capt. Borgmann of the bark Gen. Fairchild, just arrived from Petropaulovski, is elated with the successful trip, having reached a Siberian port, landed his cargo of coal and gotten away without being caught. The trip was dangerous; a majority of the vessels making the attempt having been captured by Japanese.

Borgman tells of intense bitterness existing at Petropaulovski against the Japanese entering that port as members of the crew. He declares that while there several Japanese were taken from the vessels unloading and were shot. An effort was made to thus capture three Japanese aboard his vessel, but Borgmann frustrated these attempts.

BURNS KNOCKS OUT BARRY.

IN LAST OF TWENTIETH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tommy Burns knocked out Dave Barry, tonight, in the last forty seconds of the twentieth round with a right swing to jaw. Burns outclassed Barry throughout, but the fight was slow, as Burns did not dare take risks, being afraid that Barry might land a knockout blow.

The preliminary of ten rounds between Fred Landers and Joe Angell was a fine fight and resulted in a draw.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—Judgment has been given in the Superior Court in favor of the defendant in the suit brought by H. E. Bothin to recover damages from the California Title Insurance and Trust Company growing out of an error in the survey of city slip lots 71 and 72, which he had purchased. The title insurance company proved that in his policy insuring the title to Bothin it expressly provided that it would not be responsible for errors in surveys. These proved faulty and litigation ensued for which the damages were claimed.

Russian Government Also Keenly Aware of Its Danger—German Cabinet Committee Gets Busy With Preventive Measures—Grain Traffic Stopped.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—The spread of cholera from two localities on the River Weichsel five days ago to thirty-four cases in twelve localities, extending from the Baltic to the River Warthe, and its appearance in Hamburg, has given an unpleasant thrill to the people of Germany, for it may mean as long and steady a fight as in 1892-93 to prevent the disease from getting beyond control. In those years it is estimated that 800,000 persons died in Russia from cholera. The Russian government is keenly aware of the possibilities of the danger, which, so far, is not regarded as giving any apprehension.

A committee of the Cabinet consisting of Dr. Studt, Minister of Ministerial Affairs; Herr Von Sudde, Minister of State and Minister of Public Works; Herr Moller, Minister of Commerce, and Prof. Von Bethweg Hostein, Minister of Agriculture, has the central direction of the preventive measures. Numerous bacteriologists have been sent into the infected districts to assist in the surveillance of persons who contracted cholera. Cautionary notices are published in all the towns and villages within the affected area.

Grain traffic with Russia on the Warthe and the Netze rivers may be stopped by the German government to prevent rivermen from coming from Russia into Germany.

The municipal administration, on account of the appearance of cholera at Zantoch, has issued an earnest warning to the townspeople not to use the river water for any purposes. All bathing-houses supplied by river water have been closed.

DEATHS AMONG RIVER MEN.

PRESIDENT CHEERS STRICKEN CITY.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S TRIBUTE TO NEW ORLEANS NOTABLE.

Answering Telegram Applauding His Services in Restoring Peace, He Praises "Brave and Lofty Souls" of South, Not Selfish in Midst of Their Own Grief.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31.—Report to 6 p.m.: New cases, 41; to date, 1919; deaths, 6; total to date, 277.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31.—Evincing his deep sympathies with New Orleans, President Roosevelt today sent a notable acknowledgment to Mayor Martin Behrman of a telegram applauding the President's service to humanity in restoring peace between the warring nations in the Far East. The President's reply follows:

"No telegram has touched me as deeply as the telegram from you, showing that in the midst of her great trial New Orleans is so keenly alive to all that affects the interests of the world and the honor of our own country. You have given fit expression to the feelings of your brave and gallant people, which only those with brave and lofty souls in the midst of their own grief can find time to think of others. I trust I need not say how deep and constant my anxiety is for the welfare of your city and State.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

The new business year in New Orleans, opening tomorrow, finds the yellow fever situation so evidently under control that, based on present conditions, business men and financiers are looking forward to exceptional activity in all lines of industry when the fever is finally stamped out and free intercourse resumed. The report for today was again favorable.

Referring to some utterings of dissatisfaction which have reached him concerning the unloading of fruit steamers at Port Chalmette, Dr. White said today that so perfect were the arrangements that have been made that there was absolutely not a particle of danger.

Surgeon von Esdorf returned today from Leeville and said conditions there were very bad, but that since Drs. Marcour and Devron had arrived they were much improved. There are 475 people in the settlement, of whom 175 are now ill. Between twenty and thirty deaths have occurred there.

ANOTHER DOCTOR STRICKEN.

Another doctor was stricken today, Dr. Homer J. Dupuy, who resides on North Rampart street. Of the deaths all but one are Italians.

Surgeon von Esdorf returned today from Leeville and reported that, while conditions have improved, under the direction of the State Board of Physicians, there is nothing to be done but supply their needs and allow the disease to run its course through the whole system. He says that 273 of the people there have had the yellow fever, of whom 103 are now under treatment. He also found two cases at La Rose, thirty-five miles north of Leeville.

The most interesting news from the country was brought by Dr. Brady, who made a thorough inspection of the plantation between Houma and Schriver, in Terre Bonne parish, finding upwards of sixty cases scattered among the Italians.

Gulfport reports three new cases and one death.

USED DYNAMITE FOR TARGET.

SANTA FE (N. M.) Aug. 31.—Two youths named José Martinez and Hudore Romero have been killed by the explosion of a box of dynamite they used for a target, half a mile from Chama, Rio Arriba county. The boys were rabbit hunting. Not finding any game, when they reached the powder house of the Denver & Rio Grande Railway company, near Chama, they set up a box of dynamite as a target. The box contained 400 pounds of the explosive and its explosion set off four tons of powder. In Chama, many windows were broken.

OPENS TO OUR CONSULS.

War Ends and Nothing Bars Manchuria's Door.

Delayed Officials Now Proceed to Their Posts.

Panama Canal Consulting Engineers Meet Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The United States will take immediate steps, in view of the peace agreement, to look sharply after American trade interests in Manchuria. This was made plain today by information given out at the State Department that men selected as consuls at Manchurian ports, who hitherto have been prevented from going to them, will, within a short time, take charge of their posts. With this assurance of the "open-door" policy in Manchuria, the State Department will do all that is possible to further American trade.

The consuls that have not been able to reach their posts are: Dr. J. E. Jones, appointed to Dalny; J. W. Davison, appointed to Antung, and Fleming G. Cheshire, designated for Mukden. Dr. Jones is already on his way to Dalny. It is likely, too, that a consul will be located hereafter at Port Arthur, which never has been a consular post. One of the consuls elsewhere in Manchuria may be transferred to Port Arthur.

WILL DECIDE CANAL'S LEVEL.

DISTINGUISHED ENGINEER'S JOB.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A great step toward solving the important question of whether the Panama Canal is to be at sea level or otherwise will be taken when the board of consulting engineers meets in Washington September 1. While not absolutely determinative of what the level of the canal shall be, the deliberations of the board will go far to decide it.

Not for many years has there been assembled such an admirable aggregation of engineering talent as that which will make up the board of consulting engineers, selected by virtue of the President's order of last June. The board will include fourteen distinguished engineers—nine Americans and five from Great Britain, France, Germany and the Netherlands. Without exception, each of these engineers has long since passed the academic stage and has had a large part in engineering accomplishments of the foremost magnitude. For this reason the final verdict of the board will undoubtedly receive the gravest consideration of Congress and of the American people.

These are the members of the board as it will meet within a few days: American, Gen. George W. Davis, Alfred Noble, William Barclay Parsons, William H. Burr, Gen. Henry L. Abbott, Frederic P. Stearns, Joseph Ripley, John B. Henry, Isham Randolph; Henry Hunter, nominated by the British government; Herr Eugen Tincauer, the German representative; M. Guerard, nominated by the French government; M. Quellennec, consulting engineer of the Suez Canal, and D. W. Walcker, representing the Netherlands.

BY THE PRESIDENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 31.—The President today signed an executive order fixing the compensation of the members of the Advisory Board of Engineers of the isthmian canal and the amount the government will pay them for personal expenses. Each member of the board will receive $5000 on completion of the report on the canal plans which the board is to make. Following is the text of the order:

"It is ordered that each member of the Advisory Board of Engineers upon plans of the Panama Canal shall be allowed $5000 payable upon the completion of the report of the board. In addition thereto, he shall when on duty with the board be allowed $15 per day for personal expenses from the date of leaving his home until his return thereto, including Sundays and holidays. He shall also be allowed the actual cost of transportation incurred by him in travel, on duty in connection with the board, to include cost of ticket by railway or steamer, sleeper or parlor car accommodations, baggage transfer cabs and porterage.

"It is further ordered that the allowances of $5000 to Gen. Davis and Gen. Abbott shall be increased by the amount of their retired pay for the time during which they are employed upon the work of the board, it being my intention that those members of the board shall receive the same compensation for their work as the other members, and this increase being made to provide for usual deduction of retired officers' pay.

SAVING CALIFORNIA TIMBER.

NEW METHODS BEING USED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Forestry Service announces that a thorough investigation of forest reserves in California is under way to locate principal bodies of timber which are ripe for cutting and which can be logged without injury to the forests. As rapidly as practicable, maps and estimates will be made and plans will be prepared for cutting mature trees under methods which will improve and perpetuate the forests, rather than destroy them.

The essential features of such methods of logging include leaving and protecting the small growth, usually all trees under twenty or twenty-four inches in diameter, and reserving a fourth or a fifth of the large, full-bearing trees of the most valuable species—like the sugar pine of the western Sierras—to furnish seed. Watersheds of streams, which are important for irrigation or water power, should be lightly logged, so as not to impair the value of the forest as a natural reservoir. The tops and slash left by the lumbermen are carefully piled and burned to lessen the danger of destructive fires, and to expose it for seed germination. Under such methods, a new and unusually denser and more valuable forest growth is secured after logging, and the second cut of timber can be made within a comparatively short time.

Among lumbermen and miners of California the demand for reserve timber is steadily improving. In the Sierras alone forty or fifty million feet will be sold in the coming year to lumber firms, and large quantities will be used in other parts of the State by mines, irrigation companies and settlers. Carefully and conservatively logged, the timber resources of the reserves thus promise to contribute much to the industrial development of the Pacific Coast.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Canal Engineers Meet Today.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The board of consulting engineers of the Panama Canal Commission, which is to make recommendations as to whether the Panama Canal shall be constructed with locks or should be a sea-level canal, will meet here tomorrow.

AUGUST INCORPORATION LARGE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Incorporation papers filed this month in the Eastern States by companies with an authorized capital of $1,000,000 or more, as well as increases of a like amount by other concerns previously in existence, foot up $86,125,000. These figures compare with $61,315,000 in July and $32,960,000 in August a year ago. With the single exception of July, however, the current month's showing is the least important for any similar period this year, the large total being due mostly to increased capitalization by old companies.

DISAPPEARANCE ACCOUNTED FO

KALAMA (Wash.) Aug. 31.—The body of Charles Green, aged about 72 years, who disappeared in February last, was found today near Hoffmans Landing. From the appearance of the body it was thought that he had been murdered, and the Coroner's jury returned a verdict to that effect. There is no clew to the murderer.

G.A.R. ENCAMPMENT.

DENVER, Aug. 31.—Although the date for the opening of the thirty-ninth encampment of the G. A. R. is four days distant, crowds of visitors began pouring into the Union Depot, today, and by night the estimated number of arrivals was 15,000. Regular trains leaving Chicago and other mid-western points soon became overcrowded, necessitating additional coaches and engines. In one instance, the regular Burlington train had grown to such proportions, when Denver was reached, that it was running in six sections, each larger than the original train.

DR. SANDERS'S ADDRESS.

BOSTON (Mass.) Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. Frank K. Sanders, D.D., secretary of the Congregational Sunday-school and Publishing Society, will leave Boston September 1 for an extended trip through the West of two months. From September 20 to October 1, he will be in California, speaking at the State Association meetings, making a variety of special addresses in the southern part of the State and speaking in churches. On his return, he will stop in Utah and Colorado, making an extended study of the situation there.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA WOOLS.

BOSTON (Mass.) Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Southern California wools are selling at 21 to 22 cents, and middle county at 24 to 25 cents on the Boston market, this week, while choice northerns are quoted at 28 to 30 cents. All the large houses are sold far ahead of their deliveries, and leaders of the market have done six months' business in two. Unless the supply arriving increases at a rapid rate, there will be a shortage of fully 20,000,000 pounds within the next four months. Speculators are already started for the West to urge growers into contracting to sell their 1906 clips.

CHALMERS ELECTED CAPTAIN.

PALO ALTO, Aug. 31.—Alexander J. Chalmers of Portland, Or., was today elected captain of the Stanford University football team for the coming year. Chalmers was elected to succeed W. K. Sprott, who will not return to college this year.

ROCK ISLAND DIVIDES INTO FOUR DISTRICTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Aug. 31.—General Manager Dan E. Kane of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad today announced that in the future the engineering department would be divided into four districts, with a district engineer of maintenance of each. The four officers will be located at Chicago, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Topeka, Kan., and Little Rock, Ark. The district engineers will be appointed later.

General Manager Kane also announced that the road had adopted the "red ball" system for handling freight traffic.

The office of J. B. Smalley, superintendent of the Rock Island's Kansas division, was today moved from Topeka, Kan., to Herington, Kan.

WESTERN PACIFIC CONTRACTS.

CONTRACTS ARE AWARDED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—The directors of the Western Pacific have awarded contracts for the building of practically the entire line from Oakland to Salt Lake City. The names of the successful bidders, as well as the details and terms of the contracts, have not been made public. It is understood that the aggregate amount of the several contracts for construction is between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000.

OROVILLE TO NEVADA.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 31.—The Western Pacific work has been let, and the Utah Construction company of Ogden has the larger part of the contract.

Few details are at hand, but the information is that the Utah Construction Company gets the contract for the work from Salt Lake to the Nevada line, a distance of about one hundred and ten miles. More important still is the further fact that the work from Oroville, in California east to the other Nevada State lines goes to the same company. This latter part includes all the Sierra Nevada Mountain work.

CONSTRUCTION COMPANY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—It is learned from reliable sources that the Utah Construction Company has been awarded a contract for constructing about three hundred miles of the Western Pacific Railroad. The contract of the Utah Construction Company embraces all the heavy tunneling and grading in the Sierra Nevada Mountains. The contractors will commence operations as soon as possible.

WORK BEGINS AT ONCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Work of construction will be begun immediately by the company. This contract calls for an expenditure of $10,500,000. Virgil G. Bogue, chief engineer and vice-president of the Western Pacific, has been engaged in inspecting and tabulating bids for the construction of various sections of the road for several weeks. These were passed upon by other officials, but no decision was reached regarding the award until the selection of the successful bidder could be approved by George J. Gould, who arrived here from abroad several days ago.

Bids for the construction of other sections of the projected road, amounting in all to another 300 miles, are now being considered.

LOCAL RAILROAD TICKETS.

Traffic Manager McMillan of the Pacific Electric Railway, has invented a special newspaper commutation ticket to be used by the local newspapers in sending their papers over the lines of the company, the use of which will go into effect today. The tickets are put up in books, and pasted one each on the bundles of papers in the mailing rooms. The conductor then goes over the papers in his car, and detaches a coupon stub from the ticket on each bundle, treating the bundles of papers like so many passengers, and saving the checking and book keeping which would be entailed if they were shipped as regular freight or express matter.

Thomas Gabel, traffic manager of the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway, will return Saturday from his vacation spent in the woods of Oregon.

General Superintendent Hibbard of the Santa Fé is expected to return tomorrow from a trip of inspection over the line.

The Los Angeles-Pacific Railway expects to receive twenty more new motor cars, within the next month, which will be set up in the local shops ready for service.

The employés of the Broadway Department Store spent yesterday at Terminal Island, making the trip in a special train over the Salt Lake.

D. L. Williams, formerly with the El Paso and Northeastern, has assumed the duties as manager of the local offices of the Transcontinental Passenger Association.

Rates Constitute Discrimination.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today decided that the present freight charges on corn products and corn from Missouri River points to Pacific Coast terminals, insofar as the rate on corn products is more than 5 cents above the rates on corn, constitute a discrimination against corn products and producers thereof at places on the Missouri River.

SANCTIFIED THIRST A FINANCIAL FALLACY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The Subway Tavern, which was opened eleven months ago with an address by Bishop Potter and the singing of the Doxology, closed its doors at midnight for the last time as a "sanctified saloon." Today its proprietor will, it is stated, sign over the place to a man who has conducted the restaurant on the premises. The new owner will take out the "water wagon" sign and after extensive alterations will run the place as an ordinary saloon.

While all those connected with the establishment who could be seen last night were reticent concerning the change, several employés in the tavern explained that there had not been sufficient income from sales to pay running expenses. Instead of the well-known citizens who established the tavern drawing a five per cent. dividend, as they expected, it is said that in the last six months they had been compelled so often to go down into their pockets to make good a deficit that they had become tired and wished to be rid of the tavern entirely.

When the tavern was opened, in October, 1904, it was announced that only pure liquors would be sold. One room was fitted up with a soda fountain, where women might be served with beer. The outer walls of the building were painted with texts of scripture and highly colored signs, but, in the words of one of the bartenders, it was found that "rum and religion would not mix."

IMMEDIATE PLANS FOR AN ARMISTICE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTSMOUTH (N. H.) Aug. 31.—Japan, through Baron Komura, has agreed to the immediate conclusion of an armistice. At 11 o'clock tonight Takahira went to Baron De Rosen's room and explained that he and Baron Komura received instructions to arrange terms of an armistice. Baron Rosen immediately communicated with Witte, and it is probable that a meeting will be held tomorrow morning for the suspension of hostilities, preliminary to the arrangement of the details by the two generals upon the battlefield.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT ON NEGOTIATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The government has issued the following communication, explaining the course of the peace negotiations:

"In the month of June, the Emperor consented to accept the proposition of President Roosevelt for a conference of Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries, in order to ascertain how far it was possible for the two powers to determine conditions of peace. This important mission was entrusted to M. Witte and Baron de Rosen, who received full powers, by virtue of which they could, in the event of the acceptability of the Japanese propositions, proceed to the conclusion of a treaty of peace. It was mutually agreed that the negotiations should take place in American territory.

"The first interview between the plenipotentiaries took place at Oyster Bay August 7, and the conference opened at Portsmouth August 9. At the second sitting the Japanese plenipotentiaries presented the conditions of peace as elaborated at Tokio.

"Considering that several of these conditions were absolutely unacceptable, according to the instructions given the Russian plenipotentiaries and that the wording of the other conditions were interpretable as a detriment to Russian interests, M. Witte proposed a detailed discussion of each point separately.

"Having devoted several sittings thereto, the Russian plenipotentiaries came to the conclusion that an agreement was unattainable on four points, whereupon the Japanese plenipotentiaries declared their willingness to ask for complementary instructions, with the view of finding a conciliatory outcome to the serious difficulties that had arisen.

"After communicating with Tokio, the Japanese plenipotentiaries intimated that they renounced firstly the question of the limitation of the Russian naval force in the Far East, and secondly, the demand for the surrender of the interned warships; but they continued to demand the cession of the island of Sakhalin, and especially the payment of an indemnity.

"In accordance with the instructions they had received, the Russian plenipotentiaries positively rejected these last demands, declaring that they could not continue to discuss the other conditions of peace, if Japan continued to insist on the payment of the expenses of the war.

"Taking into consideration that such a state of the negotiations could only lead to rupture, President Roosevelt decided to address himself to the Emperor, through Ambassador Meyer, appealing to His Majesty's humanitarian sentiments and asking that he consent to accept a new Japanese proposal in order to avoid further bloodshed. This proposal was that Russia, in view of the actual position of Sakhalin on account of Japanese descent on the island, agreed to accede Japan the southern part belonging to her up to 1872, the northern part to be returned to Russia in consideration of the payment of 1,200,000,000 yen (about $600,000,000.)

"In expressing to President Roosevelt his gratitude for the efforts made to aid in restoring peace, His Majesty said he could not find it possible to accept the aforementioned proposals, which were, de facto, equivalent to the payment of an indemnity.

"The Japanese plenipotentiaries were informed of His Majesty's decision by the Russian plenipotentiaries, and they announced at the sitting of August 29, that, according to instructions from their government, Japan renounced her demand for the reimbursement of the expenses of the war, but adhered to her claim for the southern part of Sakhalin, undertaking not to take military precautions therein, not to construct fortifications, and to keep La Perouse Strait open.

"Thus, after the above had been inserted in the protocol, the sittings of the plenipotentiaries were terminated, so far as regards the preliminary questions looking to peace, which will serve as the basis of a final treaty of peace between Russia and Japan."

CORRESPONDENTS REST.

BIG BUNCH OF WORDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The correspondents are taking a well-earned rest, after having sent Tuesday nearly three times the usual number of words. Both telegraph companies forwarded Tuesday night more than 150,000 words. Newspaper men and others are packing for their departure, and all that remains is for Prof. Maartens and Mr. Denison to draft in French and English the peace treaty for Portsmouth, presenting the same for the signatures of the peace plenipotentiaries.

There is no secret treaty or agreement behind what will appear on the parchment, but the natural result will be increased trade and commercial alliance between Japan and Russia. White says he will remain seven or eight days to finish up the details regarding the Russian prisoners' transfer of the Liao Tung lease, etc.

SCENES AT PORTSMOUTH.

SUMMER GUESTS ARE LEAVING.

PORTSMOUTH (N. H.) Aug. 31.—In American fashion, the summer guests at the Wentworth Hotel have assumed that the peace negotiations are practically ended, and are leaving by every train. The plenipotentiaries realize, however, that there are many details to be arranged, and are receiving and sending cablegrams. De Maartens and Denison are for the time the main workers. They are framing the treaty, and calling to their assistance from time to time those delegates whose advice they need.

Up to noon, neither the Russian nor the Japanese mission had received any information regarding an armistice. The conclusion of a formal armistice is, however, not so important or urgent as to create alarm, if one or two days elapse before it is proclaimed. As a matter of fact, a tacit understanding has existed ever since both countries accepted the President's invitation of the plenipotentiaries to Portsmouth, that there should be no general engagement until the result of the conference was known. Oyama and Linevitch were ordered not to give battle without specific instructions from their home governments. Neither side desired a formal suspension of hostilities before the meeting, as it would be subject to misconstruction.

The peace conference had no precedent in history. Never before, through the intermediary of a neutral power, have warring countries met to talk of peace where the one who suffered the defeats refused to acknowledge it had been vanquished and came, not begging for peace, but with its head still aloft only seeking it for its own sake. To have followed the customary procedure of arranging a formal truce before the meeting, therefore, would have placed Russia in the very attitude which she disdained.

For the first time since his arrival here, Witte this morning went out for a walk, which he said he felt very much in need of, having practically had no exercise since he went aboard the Kaiser Wilhelm at St. Petersburg. Although the weather was disagreeable and rain threatened, he said he greatly enjoyed his stroll.

When Witte returned, Planson submitted to him the work he had prepared for this afternoon's meeting at the navy yard, which like yesterday's, will be at 3 o'clock.

De Maartens, after working practically all the morning, had drafted the whole treaty after the Russian interpretation of the agreement reached by the plenipotentiaries. His discussions with Mr. Denison, the Japanese legal adviser, were chiefly on the form and interpretation to be given certain words in the French text of the treaty.

Baron Rosen left the hotel in a motor car this morning, supposedly for Magnolia. The Baron returned to the hotel shortly after 12 o'clock, the rumor of his going to Magnolia proving to be incorrect.

The members of the Japanese mission do not see anything strange in the fact that no word has been received from Japan giving the impression there of the conclusion of peace under the conditions agreed upon between the two plenipotentiaries. One of the most influential members of the mission, speaking to the correspondent of the Associated Press, said he would not be surprised if the exact conditions of peace were not known by the great majority of the public, as the government very likely desires that the official announcement should be made only after the Emperor had ratified the agreement concluded at Portsmouth.

KOMURA TO FIX DATE.

TREATY IS NEARLY READY.

PORTSMOUTH (N. H.) Aug. 31.—Rapid progress has been made, today, in the drafting of the treaty of peace. Baron Komura at Witte's request tomorrow will probably fix a day for its signature. Russia's consent to a suspension of hostilities reached Witte, tonight, in a cablegram from Count Lamsdorff, whom Emperor Nicholas has empowered to deal with the important phase of the negotiations.

Although Gen. Linevitch has been informed of the practical conclusion of peace and directed to hold himself in readiness to open with Field Marshal Oyama negotiations for an armistice, the order for the suspension of hostilities and the signing of the truce will not go forward from St. Petersburg until Witte has been informed by Baron Komura that the Emperor of Japan has also given his consent and has empowered Marshal Oyama to conduct negotiations with the Russian commander in the field.

Having advised Gen. Linevitch of the situation, Russia will not hold herself responsible for any clash, which may occur before Japan has consented to an armistice. On this point, however, no serious anxiety is felt here, and the Japanese reply is momentarily expected.

So rapidly and well is Mr. De Maartens, with Mr. Dennison, performing his delicate and important task of drafting the treaty, that he was able to return from the navy yard tonight to report to Witte the practical completion of ten articles of the treaty. It is expected the treaty will, in its entirety, consist of fifteen articles, exclusive of the preamble.

Japan's original demands are said to have numbered thirteen. Only twelve, however, were presented to the Russians, as President Roosevelt is credited with persuading the Japanese plenipotentiaries, before the convening of the conference, to withdraw one of the conditions, which he regarded as unjust.

Whether this thirteenth demand dealt with the fortifications at Vladivostok cannot be learned. Having waived three of the demands presented, the indemnity, the interned ships and the limitation of Russia's naval strength in the Far East, the Japanese final conditions were nine. Several of these, however, will be divided in the treaty and grouped into two or more articles.

Witte is exceedingly anxious to sail for home. In the meantime he is to take leave of the President and personally present the thanks of his Emperor for the President's assistance. He is, therefore, doing whatever he can to hasten the drafting of the treaty, which he would probably be prepared to sign by Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, at the latest, unless some obstacle had arisen. The only difficulties which have thus far appeared have been due to the ambiguous language of certain parts of the daily protocols which form the framework of the treaty. It is here that the long experience and recognized authority of the famous international lawyers are proving of assistance to Japan, as well as Russia. Both De Maartens and Dennison, who is also well informed in international law, are selecting with great care the language of each article in order that the treaty may furnish no ground for differences in the future, and accurately record the exact spirit as well as the substance of the agreements concluded in the conference by the envoys. It thus happens that the framers sometimes spend an hour in the selection of one word, to find finally that they are both striving to express the identical idea.

FAKER TACKLES ENVOYS.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 31.—An amusing incident occurred at the hotel today, which illustrates the resourcefulness of the American faker.

Witte was strolling up and down the veranda of the annex, where the Russian headquarters are located, when an individual, with a violin under his arm and the history of much traveling on his face and clothing, stepped up to the chief Russian envoy and, accosting him in the most flattering fashion, asked if it was possible that he was speaking to the "great Witte." A friend who spoke English translated the strolling player's question to Witte, who replied in the affirmative.

Then, placing his hand on his heart, the man with the violin proceeded to recount his admiration for "Holy Russia" in the war waged with the heathen. He said he was an Irishman, and sympathized with Russia, and had only been sorry when "the great White Czar" had agreed to make peace. He asked the privilege of playing a "Song of Peace and War," which he said he had composed last night for Witte. The Russian envoy told him that he would be happy to hear the music if it could be finished quickly, as he was going to luncheon. For several minutes the faker treated His Excellency, who really has a fine ear for music, to some execrable violin playing. Witte cut him short, and lavished upon him $3 as surcease money.

Five minutes later, the same man was around at the front of the hotel telling Sato, the Japanese secretary, that he was an Englishman, a great admirer of the wonderful allies of his country, and that it would give him pleasure to render in the presence of Baron Komura a "Song of Victory," which he had composed especially for the occasion. Sato, however, was not greatly impressed by the man's appearance, and he would neither give him money nor listen to his music.

NORWAY DRIFTING REPUBLICWARD.

CLOSE FRIEND OF KING OSCAR ELUCIDATES SITUATION.

Says Recent Overwhelming Vote for Separation Was Result of Trick. Swedish Monarch Greatly Aged Since Separation—Dissolution Delegates Hold First Meeting.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Dr. P. Waldenstrom, one of the leading figures in Swedish politics, close friend of King Oscar, member of the Rikadag for twenty years and a leader in a religious reform in Scandinavian countries, reached Chicago yesterday for a brief stay.

In an interview, Dr. Waldenstrom asserted that Norway is drifting with apparent certainty toward the formation of a republic. While Norway, he declared, may yet get a king, his personal view was that the republicans, as against the friends of the monarchical idea, were gaining ground.

Dr. Waldenstrom said the Swedish and Norwegian governments today would begin further negotiations. The Norwegian Storthing is expected to assemble within a few weeks.

Asked if Sweden accepted in good faith the recent referendum vote in Norway for dissolution, Dr. Waldenstrom replied that the vote did not properly express the views of the Norwegian people as a whole. He then discussed an alleged trick by which, he hinted, the tremendous affirmative vote was obtained.

"The ballots used at the polls all were marked 'Yes' and no one was expected to vote 'No' in any event," said the doctor. The only way a negative vote could be cast was by writing out a special ballot. In addition, the men in charge of the election showed strong antipathy to any one casting a negative ballot, and persecution, or what amounted to it, followed him who flew in the face of the influence behind the referendum."

Dr. Waldenstrom said the action of Norway had been a hard blow to King Oscar, who, he declared, had aged rapidly in the past few months.

SEPARATION DELEGATES MEET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KARLSTAD (Sweden) Aug. 31.—The first meeting of the Swedish and Norwegian delegates appointed to consider the terms of the dissolution of the union of Sweden and Norway was held here today. It was agreed that each delegation should elect its own chairman. The Swedes selected Premier Lundeberg, and the Norwegians Premier Michelsen. Each will preside on alternative days. It was decided that the conferences shall be secret. The next meeting will take place September 1.

The National Firemen's Association, in convention at Kansas City, Mo., has adopted a report providing for the appointment by President McNeil of a committee to work for State and national legislation in favor of a uniform insurance tax.

Gen. H. B. Compson, adjutant-general of Oregon, under the Pennoyer administration, and who served in the Civil War in the Eighth Illinois Cavalry and received a medal for distinguished service and bravery at Gettysburg, is seriously ill at his home in Portland.

The Solano County Medical Society met at Vallejo yesterday. The navy yard was visited and several demonstrations were made at the naval hospital, under charge of Medical Director Simon. At a banquet attended by 120 persons Mayor Reney welcomed the physicians.

Prof. George Howard Darwin, second son of the late Prof. Darwin, and professor of astronomy and experimental philosophy at Cambridge, addressed the British Association at the meeting just held at Johannesburg, South Africa, on the subject of celestial evolution.

At San Francisco, the jury in the case of E. M. Chadwick, alias Sir Harry Westwood Cooper, accused of sending a forged telegram, yesterday reported its inability to agree, and was discharged. Chadwick, who already is under a ten years' sentence for perjury, was remanded to the County Jail.

One engine rendered helpless, a freight car demolished and ten boxcars badly crushed sums up the damage resultant from a rear-end collision of two freight trains, which occurred on the Oregon and Eureka Railway (the Hammond road) yesterday afternoon. The crews of both trains escaped with a slight shaking-up.

A telegram from Sir Norman Lockyear, chief of the eclipse party at Palma, Island of Majorica, says: "The results were indifferent, owing to unfavorable weather here." Prof. Cabrera, of the Royal College of Science, London, reports from Castellon de la Plana, near Valencia, Spain, that good records of radiation and temperature were obtained.

The two-year-old daughter of C. Haskins was killed at Wendling, Cal., by a piece of log that flew from where a crew of blasters were at work on the right of way for the railway. Two large pieces, weighing about one hundred pounds each, crashed through the roof. Mrs. White grabbed another child, just as the logs struck, and one of them hit her, but the little one was uninjured. The child that was killed was struck in the back of the head. Mrs. White was badly bruised, but her injuries are not considered serious.

CHICAGO'S LABOR DAY PARADE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Conflicting orders issued by the Labor Day Parade Committee and by the Teamsters' and Freight Handlers' unions may result in trouble Monday.

Some months ago, the Chicago Federation of Labor declared that all union musicians should wear a uniform of a certain design and a "flying squadron" has been appointed to see that no musician appears in the parade without this uniform. If one is discovered, the orders of the "flying squadron" are to take the musical instruments away from him.

The Teamsters' and Freight Handlers' unions have contracted for bands whose members, although union men, do not wear the uniforms prescribed by the Chicago Federation of Labor, and they assert that any attack upon their musicians by the "flying squadron" will be promptly resented.

INJURED IN COLLISION.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 31.—Several members of the Louisville baseball club were injured in a collision, today, between a trolley car and a wagonette, in which the club was being taken from the ball park to a hotel. The injured are:

ED KENNA, pitcher, bones of left arm fractured and dislocated; slight concussion of brain; bones of right hand fractured; nose broken, knee and eye injured. Condition serious.

FRED CLAY, center fielder; contusion of thigh and knee.

LARRY QUINLAN, shortstop; arm cut and sprained; ankle sprained and hand lacerated.

SUTER SULLIVAN, captain and third baseman; two toes broken; shin sprained.

NATHAN WILBUR, secretary of the club; back sprained; possible internal injuries.

BILLY HALLMAN, right fielder; back sprained.

PITCHER STETCHER, knee torn and bruised.

ROY BRASHEAR, second baseman; contusions of thigh and knee.

The wagonette had reached Eighteenth and Olive streets, one block from the ball grounds, when the accident occurred. The trolley car

Fight on "Open Shop" in Chicago Printing Houses.

Employers Secure the Help Needed from Outside.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—United States District Judge de Haven granted an injunction today to the Seattle Brewing Company, restraining labor unions from boycotting its product.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—An acute stage has been reached in a new labor war in Chicago. Nineteen of the large printing houses of Chicago were without union compositors this evening, a result of a series of strikes inaugurated by Typographical Union No. 16 against members of the Chicago Typothetae, the purpose of the strike being to compel the Typothetae as an organization to accept the demands of a "closed shop," and that eight hours constitute a day's work.

Further strikes are expected in case other houses undertake to do work for concerns at which strikes have been begun as the result of the posting of notices of an intention to inaugurate "open shops" and "nine hours" where, it is claimed, contrary conditions had been the rule. Pending such assistance to strike-affected firms, the strike "leaders" pronounced the strike complete and declared the outcome a matter of endurance, a spread here or to other cities not being contemplated, for the present at least.

Not counting other employés in the nineteen printing houses involved, printers to the number of nearly five hundred are idle. The strikers claim that eight large establishments will remain neutral, not accepting work for houses where strikes are in progress, and that in the eight establishments and elsewhere 2500 members of the union will be at work helping to supply funds for strike benefits. Among the establishments at which the latest strikes were inaugurated today were Poole Bros., M. A. Donohue & Company and the Methodist Book Concern.

Contrary to the declarations of the strike officials, Secretary Hamm of the Typothetae does not know of a single assertion, and the effect of a strike are would be overcome in short order, he said.

DEVELOPMENTS.

Following is a summary of today's developments as viewed by the officers of the Typographical Union No. 16: Firms in the Typothetae that were allowed today to run with union printers are so privileged either because they have promised not to aid the opponents of the eight-hour day in the union's present struggle against the Typothetae as an organization or because they employ only a few printers and can be permitted to run without interference by the union. Such concerns, not being molested, will shield the attitude of eight employers belonging to the Typothetae and who have pledged themselves to remain non-combative until January 1, when the proposed eight-hour work day plan will go into effect in every union composing-room in the country. In the meantime, no house employing union printers will be allowed to do work for any of the struck places."

The other side of the situation was presented by the secretary of the Employing Printers' Association. He said: "Employers in this controversy feel confident of success. At present we have 125 non-union printers at work in the plants that the union thought to tie up and cripple completely. There are more men on their way to Chicago from outside places and it will not be long before the strike will cease to affect the Chicago Typothetae members."

At the union headquarters today it leaked out that union printers from various parts of the country are taking advantage of the offer of Chicago strike-affected printing shops to come to this city in the guise of strike breakers, all traveling expenses paid. The wagonette had reached Eighteenth and Olive streets, one block from the ball grounds, when the accident occurred. The trolley car, going at a good rate of speed, struck the rear wheels of the wagonette squarely, turning it over and dragging it several yards. Pitcher Kenna, who was most seriously injured, was caught in the fender of the car, while Center Fielder Clay was under the car in front of the front trucks when the car was stopped.

SIDE TALKS BY THE OFFICE BOY

I heard a new "Riddle" down in Connecticut this summer. It went something like this. "Ann's mother has just finished reading a very beautiful story. Mary's mother sent over and borrowed the book. How old will Ann's mother be when the book gets back?" You have two guesses and the answer's not 69. There are an awful lot of knockers in New York, they take great delight in roasting Chicago and Philadelphia, they used to make me sore and I wouldn't do a thing but root for those towns. Chicago'd be all right if they'd only burn hard coal instead of soft so the ladies could wear white waists. (Speaking about shirt waists, honest, girls, there isn't a thing being worn in New York but white.) Philadelphia is perhaps a little dozey, but it's a great big substantial place just the same. The principle thing we buy in Philadelphia is Stetson Hats. I think we're about the biggest customers they have in the United States. They shipped us about a carload of new Fall hats on Aug. 15th, they're sure enough Jim Dandy hats, the most of them are $4.00 and $5.00 grades, but there are some to sell at $6.00 and $8.00 and a few as high as $12.00.

PITCHED INTO THE STREET.

Palace Laundry Management Roughly Handled.

Lack of Smoothness Leads to a Hot Fight.

Directors Do Things With a Rush That Jars.

Martial law was declared at the Palace Laundry on East Fifth street last night by irate stockholders.

The management was thrown bodily into the street after a hot fight, and Deputy Constable Holman was placed on guard by the invaders.

An expert accountant has taken charge of the books and criminal proceedings are threatened against C. J. Goodenough, the president and manager of the institution.

It seems at first glance as though affairs are not progressing altogether with smoothness in the Palace Laundry.

The invasion was led by J. H. Hoffman and Joseph Stitch; was the result of a directors' meeting held yesterday morning.

For some time three of the directors have been dissatisfied with the conduct of the management of the laundry—J. H. Hoffman, H. J. Macguire, J. J. Vosburg.

"That laundry is one of the best equipped in the city," said Hoffman last night after the fight, "yet we have been getting no returns—just coming out even. We were able to get no satisfaction from Goodenough. We should have been making big money. It don't look right.

"We even went into debt. With a business of from $2500 to $3000 a week, we lowered these debts, but Mr. Goodenough said we owed him for money he had advanced. This fund kept mysteriously increasing. It was seven months that he kept advancing money to the laundry, according to his own statement, before he said anything to us about it.

"I found that the trial balance showed a good profit; but Mr. Goodenough said that there was no money; we could get no satisfaction out of him. I did a little sleuth hounding; it didn't look good to me. I got the directors together and we decided to put him out."

Mr. Goodenough is now absent on a pleasure trip through the East.

His absence without leave was an additional aggravation to the directors, who met yesterday morning and declared him ousted from his job; Andrew Joughin was elected manager to succeed him.

After the election, Hoffman, Joseph Stitch, one of the stockholders, and the new manager went down to the laundry.

The foreman, a man named Carr, was found in possession of the works. To him Hoffman introduced the new boss. Carr refused to acknowledge his allegiance to the new manager. They pleaded a while; finally Stitch pulled off his coat with an air of determination and threw the foreman, struggling and clawing like an indignant cat, into the street.

Hardly was this done when E. M. Miller, attorney of the corporation and a director, hove in sight. He has been an adherent of Goodenough in the management. They told him briefly to get out. When he protested, they picked him up by the scruff of the neck and the loose end of the trousers and gaily tossed him out too, although he caught wildly at doors and chairs and anything that might stay his enforced retreat.

The first act of the new management was to pack up the entire set of old books and open a complete set of new ones.

Mr. Goodenough's side of this affair can not be had, of course, until he returns from the East. Hoffman stated last night that if the books show crookedness he will be prosecuted.

"And," he said, "they look rotten enough as far as we have gone."

WANT FRESNO MAN FOR MURDER

MISTAKEN IDENTITY CLAIMED.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 31—Requisition papers were received by Gov. Pardee today from the State of Arkansas demanding a warrant of arrest for a man named Robert Chestney, who is under detention in Fresno, and who is wanted for the murder of one W. T. McNally.

It seems that Chestney was identified and arrested by a railroad detective, but the claim is made that it is a case of mistaken identity and that the party under arrest is in reality a young man named William Henry, whose mother, brother and sisters all reside in Fresno and are willing to testify that their relative has never been in Arkansas during his lifetime. They have retained the services of an attorney and will contest the granting of a warrant of arrest.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Mother Drowns Self and Child.

PUEBLO (Colo.) Aug. 31.—The bodies of Mrs. L. B. Haver, wife of a prominent real estate dealer and her five-year-old son, were recovered from the Bessemer ditch early today. The bodies were securely tied together with a stout cord. The woman is said to have been in poor health for some time. No explanation was left by her for taking her own life or that of the child.

Jail for Collins Till Nov 1.

VICTORIA (B. C.) Aug. 31.—George D. Collins will remain in British Columbia until November 1, when his case comes up again before the Supreme Court, in the hope that a majority of the judges would sit on it. His Lordship ruled that until the date mentioned Collins must remain in jail.

Bullet Sends Her to Hans.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—"Hans is dead; I do not want to live. Good bye." With these words, Helma Samuelson fell dying upon her bed in the residence of Thomas W. Mulford on Pacific avenue today, after sending a bullet through her body just above the heart. She was despondent because her sweetheart, Hans Tikander, a lineman on the electric railway system at Sausalito, was accidentally killed about six weeks ago. She was 19 years old and of attractive appearance.

Bull and Bullion.

The incursion of a furious bull into a farmhouse at Kierling (Styria) yesterday led to the discovery of a hidden treasure, wires the Express Vienna correspondent.

The bull, meeting two tourists walking by the banks of the river, made a rush and galloped after them as they were running in the direction of the village.

They rushed for shelter into an old farmhouse. The bull followed, and, with a snort of anger, charged the door of the farmhouse, which gave way to the terrific onrush of its horns.

Meantime the two fugitives had locked themselves in an upper room, thinking they were safe there from their pursuer.

The infuriated animal, however, followed them upstairs, and, butting its powerful horns against the door of the room, shivered it to pieces.

Suddenly there was a terrific crash as the old flooring of the room collapsed under the heavy impact of the maddened animal, and the next moment the two tourists were amazed at seeing the bull's head and shoulders emerging from a huge gap in the flooring, while the lower part of its body was invisible.

The animal was literally hanging imprisoned between the rafters of the flooring, and, bellowing with rage and terror, was unable to extricate itself.

Three hours later a policeman shot it through the head.

Immediately afterward the farmer who occupied the house discovered lying in a corner of the lower room a heavy iron box, which, on being forced open, was found to contain a large quantity of gold and silver coins of the time of the Emperor Charles V, their value being roughly estimated at £15,000.

The treasure box had become dislodged from its secret hiding place under the flooring when the bull had crashed through the woodwork.—[London Express.

SHIRT SLEEVE DIPLOMACY.

PIERRE SOULE'S FAMOUS MISSION TO SPAIN.

President Pierce's Attempt to Acquire Cuba Half a Century Ago. Seizure of the Steamship Black Warrior in the Harbor of Havana. Ostend Manifesto and Its Results.

[Kansas City Star:] Notwithstanding the new tone and character which John Hay gave to our negotiations with other powers, it was only fifty years ago that our diplomacy was the laughing stock of Europe. The London Times ridiculed American diplomacy as a "very singular profession," and not without cause. The United States was then, in 1855, in the most aggressive, expansive stage of her existence. Webster, Clay, Calhoun and other old statesmen had recently died, leaving jingoistic young America holding the reins of government with a loose, unpracticed hand. The spirit of annexation and filibusterism stalked wildly over this country already heavily burdened with domestic troubles. Our "manifest destiny" pointed to the acquisition of Cuba and the desire to obtain it led, eventually, to the promulgation of that most glaring example of shirt-sleeve diplomacy—the Ostend manifesto.

We waited Cuba and Pierre Soule, as he was thought to be the man most likely to secure it, was appointed by Pierce as Minister to Spain. It was an unhappy selection. Soule was a thoroughbred man of the world, an accomplished and patriotic gentleman, a "perfect bird charmer," but being a Frenchman of humble birth, who had been banished from his native country on account of his rigid democracy and rabid anti-monarchical political principles, he was persona non grata to the Spanish grandees, and also to the French and English who had no sympathy with our filibustering attitude toward Spain and Cuba. Donn Piatt, who was then secretary of the American legation at Paris, has said the Soule's appointment "was the absurdest proposition ever submitted to a civilized nation." It may be said, however, that he was cordially received by the Queen and that his relations to the court were friendly and amiable; also that he was on such good terms with a considerable number of the members of the Spanish legislature that they called upon him at his home at all hours of the night. He was quite confident, at one time, of securing Cuba and felt sure that if he had $500,000 of secret service money to "lend" to members of the Cortes upon "their own application," he could make Cuba a part of the United States. But thanks to the opposition of France and Spain, and of the Spanish press, and to the enmity between our Minister and the Spanish Secretary of State, Soule's schemes for the peaceful acquisition of Cuba had gone awry when the "Black Warrior affair" furnished him an excuse for trying to drag Spain into a war and to give the United States a chance to take the island by force.

BLACK WARRIOR SEIZED.

The Black Warrior was an American merchant steamer plying between Mobile and New York and stopping at Havana for passengers and mail. She was not allowed to carry freight to Havana. She had made several trips and had been allowed by the Cuban authorities, contrary to the regulations of Cuban ports, to clear the port of Havana without making a detailed manifest of her cargo. But in February, 1854, she was seized by order of the royal exchequer for violation of the regulations of the port, her cargo of cotton, worth $100,000, was confiscated and her captain was fined $6000. The vessel was abandoned to the Spanish authorities. The event caused considerable excitement in Washington. The President urged Congress to give him authority and means, in case Spain should refuse indemnity, "to insure the observance of our just rights, to obtain redress for injuries received, and to vindicate the honor of our flag." Secretary of State Marcy, after the President and the cabinet had considered the matter, instructed Soule to demand $130,000 indemnity to the owners of the vessel. The instruction said that it was the hope of the President that the Queen would "visit with her displeasure the Cuban officials who have perpetrated the wrong. . . . Neither the views of the government nor the sentiments of the country will brook any evasion or delay on the part of her Catholic Majesty in a case of such flagrant wrong." Soule was told, however, to present the strong features of the case without discussing it. Col. Sumner of Civil War fame carried the instructions to Soule. It is told of Sumner that on his return he stopped at Paris and prevailed upon Judge Mason, our minister to France, to present him to the emperor and empress. Mason warner Sumner that the empress was a Spaniard and advised him to refrain from even mentioning that he had been to Spain. The first thing poor Sumner did, however, was to reply to an inquiry of the empress that he had taken to Soule dispatches in relation to the Black Warrior outrage. "How, sir! do you call that an outrage—the vessel that took over Lopez and his infamous gang of pirates?" The colonel explained that the vessel had not been built until after Lopez had been executed. But that didn't calm the empress; she informed him that France would help Spain if there should be a war and that they might liberate the Negroes in Cuba and thereby revolutionize the United States.

FRENCH EMPRESS LEFIED.

Sumner got mad in turn and said: "Madame! I beg to say, with the highest respect for Your Majesty, that we are not afraid of Spain; that we are not afraid of Spain and France together, and the niggers in Cuba to boot."

How Judge Mason dashed from the palace is picturesquely detailed. This story, if true, shows crude diplomacy in Col. Sumner. Anyone but a shirt-sleeve diplomat would have lied to the Empress.

Soule's passionate desire to obtain Cuba warped his judgment. Between the lines of these dispatches he saw his country in arms against Spain, working vengeance for the insults which he had suffered from the Spanish and French aristocracy and for the wrongs of Cuba to this country. He immediately presented the demands, April 8, 1854. The next day was Sunday and the beginning of Holy Week. The hot-headed Soule, making no allowance for the proverbial procrastination of the Spaniard, nor for the observance of Holy Week, waited impatiently for a reply. No answer came and on April 11 he sent a peremptory and unnecessarily rude demand for the indemnity and the dismissal of all persons concerned in the wrong. The Spanish Secretary of State, backed up apparently by the Ministers of England and France, replied to Soule's imperious demand with commendable spirit and mildly reprimanded him for the "harsh and imperious manner with which this matter has been expressed." Soule sent the reply of Spain to Washington. Before it arrived, however, the Black Warrior, with her cargo, had been released and she was pursuing her old route from Mobile to New York, via Havana. Marcy wrote to Soule that the wrong and insult to the nation had not been atoned, but told him to take no further steps at that time in relation to the outrage. War was still imminent; filibusters were active; our eagerness to acquire Cuba was growing stronger, particularly in the South and but for the fact that "Bleeding Kansas" was absorbing the interest of the nation, we should have probably entered into a war for the conquest of Cuba.

THE OSTEND MANIFESTO.

A revolution in Spain brought in a new administration. Marcy, still hoping to get Cuba peacably, wrote to Soule suggesting "a full and free interchange of views" between him, Buchanan, our Minister to England, and Mason, our Minister to France. These three men met first at Ostend, then at Aix-la-Chappelle, where they issued the famous Ostend manifesto which embodied "notions abhorrent to justice and at war with the opinion of the civilized world." It argued that the transfer of Cuba would be mutually advantageous to Spain and the United States; that since we were willing to pay a good price for it, if Spain refused to sell, we must apply the great law of self preservation to the acquisition of Cuba; that if Cuba endangered our internal peace and the existence of our cherished Union, "by every law, human and divine, we shall be justified in wresting it from Spain if we possess the power." The document was written by Buchanan and his signature appeared first; then came the signature of Mason, followed by that of Soule. It is quite true that this triumvirate "planned a magnificent burglary and published the prospectus in advance." Our diplomats grossly exceeded their authority, were guilty of misconduct which in our day would result in immediate recall.

Soule, though an ardent champion of the extension of slavery, seems to have been sincere in his devotion to the Union. He was the manuscript of the proceedings at Aix-la-Chappelle, and his enthusiasm carried the other Ministers along. Buchanan probably saw visions of the White House and felt the need of southern votes. As for Mason, an article which appears in the May number of Harpers Magazine, 1876, says that he can scarcely be held accountable—depending very much on whether it was before or after dinner that he signed the paper.

Our Secretary of State, Marcy, replied to the manifesto in a chilling tone. He pointed out to the ministers the absurdity of their position and told them that there should be no attempt to "push on a negotiation." Soule resigned his post and came home to work for the acquisition of Cuba. Although President Pierce was not in sympathy with the manifesto, his administration gets the discredit of it. Such blunders as this "manifesto of the brigands," as it was called by one newspaper, belong to other days. American diplomacy, owing largely to the work of John Hay, is recognized the world over as embodying everything that is meant by "a square deal."

Asiatic Cavalry.

Gen. Skobeleff, in urging further aggressions in Central Asia on the part of Russia, once drew a glowing picture of the hordes of Asiatic cavalry which would thus be rendered available at some future day for an assault upon India. One needs but to watch such a game as this to realize the force of his words and the potentiality of these new resources of the Czar. The horses are the tenderly-reared descendants of those which carried Tamerlane and his victorious army from Samarkand to the Nile, from the Nils almost to Constantinople, and from Asia Minor to the gates of Moscow and back again to Samarkand. They are large, strong and fleet and full of endurance, showing many traces of Arabian blood and still more, perhaps, of that of the now almost extinct Turkoman steed.

Their sleek coats and rounded bodies show how carefully they are watched over, each one the pride of its owner, who is himself a born horseman and born judge of horse flesh. Add to this the fact that if the native of Central Asia has in the past developed a reputation for fanaticism he has shown himself no less indisputably brave. Russia needs but the time necessary to train her new subjects and to render them loyal to herself to have at her disposal a force the power of which for such purposes as that of the invasion of Afghanistan can not be overestimated. The second and racial prejudice, she has already done much to attain by a surprisingly wide system of paternal government. The first will follow within two or three decades, and when that, too, has been reached the Czar will have at his disposal a new force, more efficient, more terrible and almost as numerous as his Cossacks.—[Scribner's Magazine.

Surgical Progress.

The operation for appendicitis is more commonly spoken of than any other. It has, inevitably, been tried in cases which were, for one reason or another, inoperable; it has been clumsily performed; but with all allowance for errors in diagnosis and actual performance, it has preserved thousands of lives. Still another operation that seems to a layman little less than miraculous is laparotomy for perforation of the bowels in typhoid. Perforation has been practically certain death; but if the patient's strength be not too much exhausted, he may sometimes be saved by the knife. Still more interesting is the comparatively new operation for chronic dyspepsia. Indigestion may be due to a contraction of the walls of the stomach and the outlet, caused by illness or actual ulcers. In such instances the dyspeptic suffers because his stomach cannot easily and regularly discharge its load. Soda-mint tablets, pepsin, exercise, and extraordinary care in eating all fail to relieve him. But an enlargement of the lower orifice, the pylorus, may again make existence worth having.—[New York Post.

A Progressive Pope.

The Pope is a practical economist as well as a spiritual head, and considering the things temporal that affect the interests of the church, these gifts are not out of place. His influence along this line has been successfully exerted, not only to put his own great household upon an easier footing, but it has reached out to the educational institutions under his authority and has brought order out of more or less confusion. His comparatively humble origin, his knowledge of all classes and his close touch with people, even as Patriarch of Venice, have stood him in good stead in his present exalted position. He can see far beyond the walls of what has been a voluntary prison to his later predecessors, and the signs multiply that he does not intend permanently to observe the precedents in this case.—[Boston Transcript.

Friend of the Prune.

We desire to call attention to the fact that we have made no invidious remarks about the failure of the prune crop. It may be reckless to admit it, but the Recorder is friendly to the prune. This may be in part accounted for by the fact that in his youth dried apples constituted a good part of the editor's fruit diet.—(Holton (Kan.) Recorder.

Crawford Broadway Styles are famous. The fit, durability, and comfort which characterize Crawford Shoes are a few of the many reasons why "once a Crawford wearer, always a Crawford wearer."

Crawford Shoes hold their shape because they are made that way by experts who have been studying foot styles and foot comfort for years.

all happening within two hours.

The bent of the human mind is wel indicated by the fact that when we left California all the talk on shipboard was relative to Honolulu and the Ha waiian Islands. Now since we have left those localities the reading and talk is all in relation to Japan. Little attention is paid to the Philippines, though excellent maps are on display and in easy reach. After leaving Yoko hama, or Kobe, it is presumed the talk will be in relation to the Philippines.

It is reported that the members of Congress and officials of this party are to be received by the Emperor of Japan at Tokio at a luncheon and also by the American Minister with a dinner in the evening. Our stay in Japan will be ample for all sightseeing purposes. Yokohama has large stores and inasmuch as Tokio is only an hour's distance away those members of the party who desire to purchase will have every opportunity to do so. A majority of the party will undoubtedly go by rail from Yokohama to Kobe, which will make a seventeen-hour ride through the heart of Japan. Joining our steamer again at Kobe for a delightful sail through the Inland Sea to Nagasaki. The Japan enthusiasm is now at its height. But this is a long sail. The sea has not been as placid as usual, but the waves and counter-currents have not been able to much disturb the smooth and even movements of our great ship.

CAPTAIN WANTS TO BE FARMER.

The captain of our vessel knows the seas as well as a Populist knows the last public debt statement, and is a most interesting person. He admits being a crank on cleanliness, and his ship proves it, but a crank upon that subject is well located when he is on a big ship. Our captain's name is J. W.
Saunders, and the map shows that an island has been named for him. But like all other captains of the sea he wants to be a farmer, and I have naturally supposed that Iowa is the greatest farming country in the world. However, I am afraid that he will never become a farmer. In fact, he could not be persuaded to quit the ocean, on which his life has been spent. This monstrous ship was built in New York and Capt. Saunders sailed her around to San Francisco in forty-three days, going through the Straits of Magellan and up the west coast. The captain is deservedly popular with all the passengers, and whenever the young people want a ball he makes the necessary arrangements on the promenade deck.

EN ROUTE TO MANILA.

What Lafe Young Learned from a Contractor.

Wonderful Improvements in Manila Harbor.

Workings of the Great Red Cross Organization.

BY LAFAYETTE YOUNG.

(Editor of Des Moines Capital.)

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

AT SEA WITH THE TAFT PARTY ON BOARD THE STEAMER MANCHURIA July 21.—Hawaii is not alone in its labor troubles. It is a live question in Manila and some of the best talent to be found on the islands is being applied to secure a proper solution of the difficulty.

Among our passengers is Mr. H. Kruse, vice-president of the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Company, which company has the building of the harbor at Manila in hand, an improvement that will cost $2,500,000. The work includes breakwater, masonry, superstructure and a large amount of dredging, the earth that is being removed forming new-made land in front of the walled city. From this new-made land the proposed wharves will project into the area protected by the breakwater. This contract is a large one, and has been in progress three years. The managers of the company undertook to perform their work by the employment of white labor, paying practically the American scale of wages. But they found that on that plan they would become bankrupt. It was finally determined to undertake to have the work done by native Filipino laborers. The work of preparation began by instructing and drilling the men relative to their labors. Mr. Kruse says a Filipino to be made useful must be dealt with as a child. After the men were thoroughly instructed they were placed under American foremen, and in this way the work proceeded satisfactorily. Each workman was provided with a home for his family.

COCKPITS FURNISHED.

Collectively they were supplied with parks and music, with schools and a cockpit. Cockfighting is the great national amusement. The company, which Mr. Kruse represents also built a church for the workmen and their families. The church was finally paid for by the people and the same may be said of the school. After the church was completed the Filipinos took a ballot in true American fashion to determine the denomination of their church. They selected the independent Catholic denomination, but such was their desire to please their employers that they suggested that they would change the denomination if it did not suit the company. About three thousand Filipinos have been employed in making the harbor improvements which I have described, and Mr. Kruse is enthusiastic over the success of his company with Filipino labor. The men are paid about 50 cents a day in gold. The Manila railway, having a length of forty blocks, was also built by Filipino labor. Mr. Kruse thinks the Philippine Islands must be developed by Filipino labor. In that way two purposes will be gained, improvements will be secured and the people will be instructed in useful employment.

Mr. Kruse does not pretend to express an opinion as to the labor situation in Hawaii, but he is satisfied with the situation in the Philippines, where there are seven millions or more of natives. He thinks our government should keep constantly in mind that the Philippines are not to be operated for the benefit of the United States, but for the benefit of the Filipino people. After July 1, 1906, the United States coastwise laws will be applied to the inter-island commerce of the Philippines, which must result in higher freight rates on the local commerce and higher prices for labor, and that all these things should be operated to the betterment of the Filipinos.

PASS THE 180TH MERIDIAN.

On the 18th we passed the 180th meridian and lost a day that is there was really no 18th of July on shipboard. We had no Tuesday-Life week, skipping from Monday until Wednesday. This is due to the fact that starting from Greenwich we are half way around the globe, and technically are traveling eastward. It is related that on this vessel within a year a child was born dead, and was buried at sea within two hours of its birth, yet the child was born on Monday and was buried on Wednesday, all happening within two hours.

CAPTAIN WANTS TO BE FARMER.

The captain is deservedly popular with all the passengers, and whenever the young people want a ball he makes the necessary arrangements on the promenade deck.

Yesterday the Taft party was gathered in a suitable place on the ship and once more photographed by the official photographer, Burr McIntosh. If we do not all go thundering down the ages it will not be because we have not been sufficiently photographed. Our vessel is like a great big hotel and for many hours we often forget we are on the Pacific Ocean.

Maj. Guy L. Edie, a medical officer of the United States Army, of much skill, says the surprising thing is that the United States is he only great country without a full working and perfected Red Cross organization. As a medical officer he indorses the Red Cross and says the organization should be at once perfected and extended so that in time of battle this organization could furnish the nurses' hospital supplies and afford attention to the sick and wounded which could come from no other source. That distinguished soldier, Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, indorses all that Maj. Edie has said, and goes further, saying that all the military hospital work outside of the actual field hospitals should be done by the Red Cross Society. He says that it would be impossible for any government to maintain a medical department sufficient for emergencies and for the work of actual war, but that the Red Cross Society can, through its organization, call to the aid of the government volunteer nurses and millions of supplies to the great aid of humanity.

TAFT IS AT THE HEAD.

Of the forty-four nations which signed the Geneva convention in 1864, the United States is the only country where the true purposes of a Red Cross Society have not been carried out. Japan has given the highest illustration of the effectiveness of the Red Cross Society. Eight hundred thousand Japanese had contributed previous to the beginning of their war, $1 a head to the purposes of the Red Cross, and when their great battles began the Japanese nurses wearing the Red Cross were ready for duty on or near the battlefields. Beginning with the Civil War period the United States has had a so-called Red Cross Society, which grew into disrepute by its inability ever to report its financial condition. The American Red Cross Society became an individual affair and as a matter of course died. The last congress granted a new charter to the American Red Cross Society and this new charter prescribed regulations which will prevent any of the mistakes of the past. Of the new Red Cross organization Hon. William H. Taft, Secretary of War, is president. He is also one of the incorporators. The chairman of the central and also of its executive committee is William K. Van Reypan, Surgeon General United States Navy, retired. The treasurer is the Hon. Charles Hallam Keep, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and the counselor is the oHn. Louis A. Pradt, one of the assistant attorney-generals. One of the working members of the executive committee is Miss Mabel Boardman, of Washington, who is a member of the Taft party. Miss Boardman is a most capable young woman, educated and refined, wealthy, and therefore, having leisure, has traveled the world around and she has taken up the Red Cross work of organization not only with enthusiasm but with well-matured and systematic purposes. She is to be practically the reorganizer of this great and necessary society. She has made a study of Red Cross work as well as Red Cross organization of other countries.

STATE ORGANIZATION.

After her return from this journey she will at once proceed to the organization of State Red Cross societies. It is expected that each State will have an organization backed up by district organizations. In time of peace these organizations are to be nominal, the annual dues being one dollar. Life memberships will be twenty-five dollars. These funds will be carefully handled, and the entire organization will be under the supervision of the war department. Already organizations have been effected in a dozen States. The labor imposed upon local organizations will not be great, but when war or great calamities shall come the State organizations will be alive and ready to contribute in money and in men and women for the great cause of the relief of the sick and injured.

The entire Red Cross idea, whose history has been related to me by Miss Boardman, is most intresting. By agreement of forty-four nations the Red Cross is a perpetual flag of truce on the battlefield, not to be fired upon by either side, no matter which side they belong to. To the Red Cross society all sufferes on the battlefield look alike. Formerly each army had its special hospital flag. These flags were not known to the opposing forces and afforded no protection. Therefore, on countless battlefields men desperately wounded were allowed to remain and suffer for hours or even days by exposure to heat and rain, increasing the percentage of deaths. The Geneva convention recommended the adoption and use of a distinctive flag and arm badge. This flag to be a Geneva Red Cross on a white ground, and an arm badge or brassard a Geneva Red Cross on white band. This has been adopted, and is now in use in every country having a national Red Cross organization. This Red Cross is beginning to be a symbol of helpfulness and pity. Its presence also affords protection to hospital supplies, not only in time of war, but for relief in time of peace in mitigating the sufferings caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other great national calamities. The American congress at its late session considered the importance of the Red Cross work so great that the charter just granted provides for government supervision, and the auditing of all accounts by the War Department.

THE GOVERNING BODY.

The central committee or governing body consists of eighteen members. The chairman and representatives of the state, treasury, war, justice and navy departments are appointed by the President of the United States. Six members are elected by the representatives of the State branches, and six by the incorporators. The other officers are elected at the annual meeting of the incorporators and representatives of the State branches. This is an outline of the organization, and every detail has been carefully worked out. The examples of all other Red Cross Societies have been carefully studied in order that the new American organization may be the best. The charter provides for the creation of State and Territorial branches. The object of a Central Committee is to have in each State and Territory a society that will be ready to act at once in time of war, and so strong in its personnel that it will command universal confidence. Each branch will act as the unit in the organization and take charge in case of any great calamity in its State. Its executive committee or special committees will enroll doctors or trained nurses for Red Cross service in time of war or disasters in the State or its immediate vicinity. Reports as to the number of doctors and nurses (all of whom must be graduates of recognized medical and training schools,) enrolled by each branch will be made annually through the Central Committee to the army and medical department. In case of calamity or war its Executive Committee, or the committees of its subdivision of its cities and towns, will secure and take charge of all contributions of supplies and materials, forwarding the same to the localities where they are required. The secretary of each branch will keep the number, names and addresses of the doctors and nurses enrolled for actual service. This service may be given either without compensation or for the same salaries as those paid by the War Department, namely, $150 per month for medical officers and $40 per month for nurses.

All employés of this character must sign regular contracts prepared for that purpose. The secretary will always be informed as to where Hospital and relief supplies can be obtained at the shortest notice.

A CHART PREPARED.

A chart has been prepared based upon the regulations of the army medical department giving the personnel and supplies needed for field hospitals for forty-eight persons, so that any branch or subdivision thereof will be able at short notice to provide such a hospital fully equipped for active service. The treasurer of each branch, in case of calamity in a State, will retain all moneys contributed for the relief work, keeping an accurate account of all receipts and expenditures. The annual dues will be $1. 50 per cent. of which will be retained by the local organization. It is the universal experience that in case of war or great public disasters money flows into the treasury of some societies freely, and would flow more freely if the Red Cross were perfected in this as it is in other countries. It is expected to make this new society the first aid to the wounded anywhere and at all times. It is a relief organization always alive and always ready to be called into service. It will be a volunteer army, but so organized that its action will be quick and effective. The American people are to be congratulated that the old pretended Red Cross Society is abandoned and that a new one is to be organized on right lines, with men and women at the head of it whose names are a guarantee of honesty, integrity and faithfulness. Miss Boardman will not do any dress parading and will not be a self-advertiser, but under her leadership the Red Cross will be a live institution in the United States, as it is in every other country.

These are some of the sea talks on the long sail with fellow-passengers on the Pacific.

A manufacturer's success without capital is a pertinent instance of the effect of advertising in THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

This manufacturer made a food product, not a very good thing to begin with when one considers the number of advertised foods there are. The manufacturer borrowed money to pay for a four-inch advertisement in the September issue of THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL. He made his creditor the president of his company as security for the loan. The advertisement was continued for several months, during which careful work was done in the way of distributing goods, writing letters, securing good dealers and distributing agents.

Four months after the first advertisement appeared — and mind you, this was four inches four times — California had bought a carload; one town in Texas had ordered thirty-six cases; twenty-eight cases went to Minneapolis. The factory was running day and night; new machinery had to be added until the daily production amounted to three thousand pounds. New capital to the extent of sixty thousand dollars was interested on this showing created by advertising, and today there is not a State or Territory which is not represented by a special agent. No other publication was used until this business had become a pronounced success through advertising in THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL is not the only advertising medium in the country, but granted that your appropriation is limited to one publication, THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL is a very safe one with which to begin.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Rabbi Hecht Returns.

Rabbi S. Hecht returned yesterday from his vacation and will hold services as usual in the Temple B'nai B'rith this evening.

Youngsters Raid Groceries.

Adolph Rivera, Arthur Lehman, Joaquin Portussch, Frank Domingues and Frank Castellato compose a quintette of youngsters of bad repute gathered in by the police yesterday. The boys raided several grocery stores in the vicinity of Spring and Temple streets and stole a number of articles of merchandise. They were sent to the Detention Home.

Safe With Friends.

Mrs. T. E. E. McNamee, who was injured in the street railway wreck in San Fernando street early Tuesday morning, has been located. The woman was only slightly injured and she went to the home of friends at No. 1541 Newton street after her discharge from the Receiving Hospital. Her husband feared she had wandered away in a demented condition. She was found safe in the hands of friends.

Turnverein "Gym."

Today will be opened for the inspection of the public, the handsome gymnasium building of the local Turnverein just completed at No 1345 South Figueroa street. It covers a ground space 185x80 feet. The indoor floor space is 85x80 feet and the average height of the ceiling is twenty-five feet. There is a fencing-room, a reading-room with the latest improvements in sanitary arrangements, baths and lockers. On the grounds a 160-yard running track has been prepared and an outdoor playground laid out and space has been provided for a basketball and a tennis court.

BREVITIES.

Times' "Liner" Advertisers—Important change in rate for Sunday classified advertisements. Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge, 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent per-word rate was established in 1893, The Times Sunday circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

NORMAL NOW ON SOLID BASE.

SCHOOL BUILDING HAS HAD A TRANSFORMATION.

Billowy Floors Have Been Replaced With Level Hardwood, New Heating System Has Been Installed in Place of Stoves and Rooms Have Been Remodeled and Renovated.

The State Normal School has undergone a transformation.

Changes and improvements that have been wrought in the buildings and equipment in the summer vacation are so numerous that the faculty and students who last June escaped from the dingy halls with feelings of joy, will be happily surprised when they assemble next week.

For the past two months a small army of workmen has had possession of the building from basement to attic, filling the air with the thud and din of hammer and saw, the dust of falling plaster, and the pungency of paint and varnish; and now, as the atmosphere begins to clear, one sees on every hand the satisfying evidences of improvement.

A peculiar formation of the strata beneath the center of the main building has for a number of years been causing the walls to crack and the floors to bulge and swell. The workmen have tunneled into this plague-spot, removed the unstable foundation, and in its place built massive piers of masonry carrying heavy steel girders upon which rests the weight of the partition walls on both sides of the main corridor.

The systems of hills and valleys in the floors of the hall whose undulations, added neither charm to the view nor gracefulness to the gait, have been smoothed to a level, so that one may walk up and down the halls without watching one's steps. The alarming rumors of tottering walls about to topple over into yawning and bottomless chasms will be heard no more.

Following this work under the building, new maple floors have been laid, the walls, have been replastered and tinted, and the woodwork has been made new.

A score of rooms have been remodeled, the better to adapt them to their intended uses, and to render them as convenient and attractive as possible. The greatest improvement of this kind has been effected in the school gymnasium. This room, which has heretofore presented a decidedly cheerless, barn-like aspect, has been ceiled thoughout, and provided with a fine smooth hard-wood floor. The improvements made here have given the first normal school gymnasium in the United States the added distinction of being the most attractive one in the West.

However, the most important and extensive change of all has been accomplished by the installation of the new steam-heating plant—if one may safely mention the subject of artificial heating during the present spell of weather.

The new heating system will cost about $30,000. The boilers are located in a boiler-house placed about one hundred feet from the main building to insure safety from fire. Every room in the school is fitted with radiators, and nearly all are provided with perfect ventilation by means of electrically-driven fans. The installation of the Johnston heat regulating system is said to insure perfect automatic control of the temperature. The removal of several dozen unsightly old stoves, with their menace to health from dust and smoke, and the constant danger to buildings and occupants from fire is a change that will be appreciated by those concerned. A considerable quantity of old furniture which has survived the allotted age of usefulness will accompany the stoves to the second-hand store, having been displaced by something new. The legislative appropriation has also made possible the purchase of considerable valuable apparatus for laboratories and classrooms.

With a remodelled building a fine and constantly growing library, its own printing press, and its well-equipped laboratories, including those for manual training and domestic science, and its greatly improved gymnasium, the State Normal School of Los Angeles enters upon its twenty-fourth year with a better material equipment than it has ever before possessed.

Two new teachers have been enrolled in the faculty list. Wayne P. Smith, Ph.D., who for several years has been principal of the Mendocino High School, enters the history department, and Charles W. Kent, a teacher of manual training from Rock Island, Ill., and a graduate of Michigan, taking charge of the manual training department.

The management of the school desires it to be clearly understood that the two-years' course is to be permanently continued. The school will admit graduates of accredited High Schools and others properly qualified, and these will receive the Normal School diploma upon the completion of the two-years' course, provided they choose to take that course. In addition to this two-years' course there is being worked out a plan for a separate three-years' course which the student may take instead of the shorter one, and upon the completion of which he will receive not only the Normal School diploma, but in addition an advance credit of two years at the State University. This longer course will be entirely optional with the student.

The outlook for an increased attendance during the coming year, and for a steady growth in the scope and effectiveness of the school is promising.

THE VANISHING POINT has been reached by Summer.

Time to think of your Fall suit. Time you realized that every claim we make for Brauer-Krohn tailoring is the plain, unvarnished truth. The easiest way to come to this realization is to come to us with an order for your Fall Suit.

Try, say, our ability to turn out a $30 suit. We'll make it of your pick of these new Green Cheviot-Worsteds, or the new Grey Saxonys that have taken the East by storm. You won't be able to find a fault with the tailoring—nor find a flaw in the fabric. Since Los Angeles' best dressers have found that it pays to pay us for our tailoring, isn't it quite logical to suppose that you would also?

THE "NICKEL-IN-THE-SLOT"
Self Playing Piano

In one of our store windows is exhibited one of these wonderful self-playing pianos—the only perfect "nickel-in-the-slot" musical device ever put on the market.

Proprietors of hotels, summer resorts, saloons, dance halls, excursion steamers and other places of leisure and amusement are the people to whom this invention will appeal more especially—because it is a money maker suited to their needs.

To keep the piano playing 24 hours would require $30 worth of nickels—if it plays three hours it will earn $4.00 a day. $1100 in ten months was earned by one of these pianos in York, Pa., another, in Troy, N. Y., earns from $2.50 to $5.00 every day.

Not only will this instrument pay for itself in a few months but it will increase business in other lines—it draws the people.

A small electric motor operates this piano—once started it requires no further attention. A child can attend to it.

Send for descriptive folder and testimonials from enthusiastic buyers.

DICKEY DAVIS IN THE COLD?

Threatened With Ousting from City Library.

Perhaps He May Escape by Directors' Grace.

Lummis Favors Giving Him Only Chastising.

Let every matinee girl sound the wild alarm!

Richard Harding Davis and all his works are threatened with excommunication from the shelves of the city library.

They wish to put Van Bibber away on the dark shelves of the "bad room" alongside that horrid Kreutzer Sonata. They would banish the lovely if cynical Miss Catherwaite to the literary Inferno haunted by Ouida's "Massarenes." And they would have the ban on Gallagher as it already rests upon the Amateur Cracksman.

It is simply awful.

The guilty man is Library Director Rodman; 'tis he would lift Dickey Davis's scalp by the roots. And as member of the Book Committee he has the power to turn Dickey D. out, if the other members of the committee will consent.

Mr. Rodman is one of the best-read men in Los Angeles; he does the "literary end" for the library board.

His plan became known at the City Hall yesterday; a Times reporter, breathless with agitation and alarm, rushed to his office. Mr. Rodman temporized and eluded the charge.

"I didn't really mean to put him out of the library," he pleaded. "One of the library attendants asked where she should put Davis's works, and I said my own idea would be to put him out. However, I gave the necessary directions to place his newest works on the shelves."

"EMINENTLY PROPER."

Perhaps then, after all, Dickey may be saved. Still, Mr. Rodman gave forth disquieting views.

"I wouldn't say Mr. Davis's books were immoral; it is not that. Quite the contrary; he is eminently clean and proper."

The smile that was on the lips of the library director was a crooked little smile of satire.

"What I object to in Davis is his lofty attitude. He writes down to his readers as though he would say, 'Now, of course, I do not expect you to attain the high intellectual level necessary to understand this, but I will put it as simply as possible.' He talks to his readers like a Sunday-school teacher.

"I consider his characters inane and of no genuine characterization. His descriptions are all descriptions of himself, and his varied attitudes of mind. However, this is only my own opinion; I don't know what the other directors think."

Mr. Lummis, in a white flannel tennis jacket, was consulted; he favored giving Dickey D. a reprieve.

CHASTISE, SAYS LUMMIS.

"W-e-l-l," he said slowly, "I think Richard Harding Davis ought to be chastised rather than banished. I haven't talked with Mr. Rodman about it.

"Yes, 'tis a fact that this unearthly clever young man does use every country he describes as a blackboard upon which to inscribe how smart is R. H. Davis. He is also somewhat lofty.

"Still, Davis has done some good stuff. He is primarily a newspaper man. He does know a good story when he sees it, and we will have to admit that he wields a pretty sassy pen at times. He has done some excellent short stories."

The budding young girl things of this town would never permit this outrage to be perpetrated as long as Providence gives them health and strength to resist.

But, really, they shouldn't be too severe on Mr. Davis. One of the best pieces of journalism ever put to paper was his account of the coronation of the Czar of Russia; some of the Van Bibber stories are a little thin, and, of course, Richard has made himself the hero of all of them and, in his early days, C. D. Gibson added to the offense by making all the hero illustrations of the stories merely portraits of Davis himself; also his Mr. Clay is an impossibly chaste young God-thing nineteen feet tall, according to the artist.

But at the same time the "Derelict" is not to be banished to the shelves, nor "Gallagher" nor "My Disreputable Friend, Mister Ragan," nor the "Fever Ship."

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Two Men Injured by Frightened Team Attached to Transfer Wagon Running a Dozen Blocks.

Two men were taken to the Receiving Hospital yesterday afternoon as the result of a runaway accident.

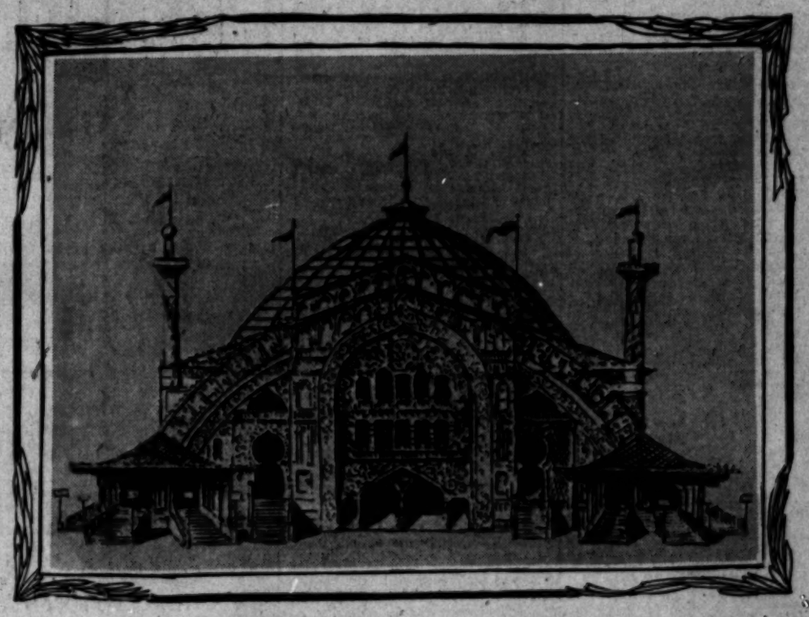
P. J. Finnegan, driver of a Los Angeles-Pacific transfer wagon, was thrown from his seat near First and Main streets, by the frantic efforts of his team to get away, and a terrible wound was made in his scalp, where his head struck the street. The gash was about two inches long and was stitched up by Surgeon Bonynge.

The frightened team ran south on Main street to Fifth, where it turned east. Joseph Winter, a Los Angeles street car conductor, saw the horses coming toward him near Los Angeles street and attempted to stop them. He jumped and caught one by the bit and he declares that but for the slipping of his foot from under him just as he grabbed the animal, he would have stopped them. As it was he was thrown violently to the street, the wagon passing over his body. His chin was injured and a large flap of skin torn from his left knee, but it is thought he is not seriously hurt.

Before the surgeons had completed their operation on Finnegan, Winter was taken in to await his turn on the operating table.

The team was caught after it had run a considerable distance east on Fifth street, by Patrolman Holmes.

Two-Million-Dollar Amusement Gardens Coming.



Perspective of main building for Kiralfy Amusement Gardens in Los Angeles.

By January 1 there will be opened for public favor in Los Angeles the greatest amusement gardens ever established in the West—the like of which, indeed, is not now in the United States.

A permanent exposition and spectacular show will be placed in this city by the Kiralfy Amusement and Exposition Company. The entire affair will represent an expenditure of over $2,000,000. The buildings to be erected at once will cost $300,000.

Bruno Frankel, director of concessions for the Kiralfy company, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from Portland, where he has had charge of the amusement company's exhibits. He is a guest at the Angelus.

He has brought with him the plans adopted for the main building of the Los Angeles exposition, a view of which is given herewith; and he will proceed with the details for beginning of construction. Work is to be begun within the ensuing month, and the buildings will be ready for the grand opening the first of the year, so that new features will add to the attractiveness of Los Angeles for the ever-present tourists.

The company has secured a tract of fifteen acres adjoining Eastlake Park, and will probably add to this another fifteen acres. This is to be its permanent quarters, and the lands will be highly beautified, and made the most attractive pleasure gardens and show grounds ever seen in the West.

It is the intention of the Kiralfy Exposition Company to run a continuous show season of forty weeks; and while there will be numerous permanent features, others will be changeable every month or six weeks, so that the best attractions obtainable in the United States will be shown here.

The whole gardens will be modeled somewhat on the order of Earl's Court or the Crystal Palace in London, and high-class, refined exhibitions will be given.

During the year there will be given a series of special exhibits, including a horticultural fair, a horse fair, an automobile exhibition, etc.

One-half of the grounds are to be parked, and a large section of these will be subdivided into gardens of various European countries, each having its distinctive features in architecture and botanical growths. A children's playground is also to be made a drawing feature of the gardens.

The other parts of the grounds are to be used for various amusement enterprises, somewhat on the plan of "Dreamland" in New York. A small general admission fee, probably 10 cents, will be charged, and this will admit the patron to all outside attractions; an extra fee will be charged for admission to some of the larger spectacles.

The main exposition building will be 200x400 feet, with a high glass dome, and of Italian architecture. In the galleries and foyers will be placed art exhibits and industrial settlements, where varied quaint and curious industries are carried on by natives from the lands to which the crafts are peculiar.

The Kiralfy company is now in correspondence with some of the leading musical directors of the United States, and it is certain that one of the prominent musical organizations will be settled here and give daily concerts for forty weeks.

One striking feature of the amusement gardens will be the illuminations. Frankel states that the electric-lighting scheme will surpass anything of the kind ever undertaken in the West, and that the whole vast gardens will be a glow of electricity, multi-colored, at night. An electric fountain will be one of these attractions.

The company also intends to install a mammoth pipe organ in its main building, and there will be given weekly concerts by noted organists. Excursions will be run at regular periods from outside points to these special attractions, and a systematic campaign of judicious advertising of the new Los Angeles amusement gardens will be taken up all over the Southwest, including Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Nevada.

Nearly all of the concessionaires who have had quarters with the Kiralfy Exposition Company at the Portland Exposition have signified their intention of coming to Los Angeles with the new amusement gardens, and Frankel states that many new attractions will be combined with these. A constant change will give novel features to the amusement seekers.

"We have selected Los Angeles for this exposition," said Frankel, yesterday, "because we do not know of a city with a more promising present or future. It is now the Mecca of tourists, and is more talked about than any other city in the West. We believe this condition will continue, only on a larger scale, and that here we shall find an ideal place for a permanent exposition such as we propose. We intend to make of it one of the noted features of the Southwest, and one that of itself will do much to attract hither thousands of visitors."

CROOKSHANK RESIGNS AS LAND REGISTER.

A. J. CROOKSHANK resigned yesterday as Register of the United States Land Office at Los Angeles, the resignation to become effective as soon as his successor shall qualify, probably by October 1. He will assume the presidency of the First National Bank at Santa Ana during the absence of his father,

ANGUS J. CROOKSHANK

M. M. Crookshank, the president, who is about to leave for the East on an extended visit.

It is announced on excellent authority that Frank C. Prescott of Redlands will succeed Crookshank; in fact, it is said that Senator Flint long ago decided upon Prescott for the place, and that Senator Perkins and his colleague from this section of the State have united in recommending the San Bernardino county man.

Crookshank some time ago decided to resign before the expiration of his term of office, next May.

The bank of which Crookshank is to assume the presidency in the absence of his father was established by himself and his parent in 1886, and now is in the front rank of the financial institutions of Orange county. He remained with the bank a number of years, and then engaged in the lumber business at Santa Ana for a period prior to his appointment as Register of the Land Office.

His first appointment to the government position reached Crookshank seven years ago. He was reappointed at the expiration of his first term upon the recommendation of Senator Bard, and, had he not resigned, he would have held over until May.

During his incumbency of the office, Mr. Crookshank has made an excellent record; he has been commended on various occasions by government officials for the manner in which he has discharged his duties, and there never has been a complaint of any kind from private or official sources.

While Crookshank originally was appointed from Orange county, his home for many years, he has been a resident of Los Angeles for the greater part of the time he has been in public office. His new duties naturally will require his residence at his old home.

The salary of the Register is $3000 a year, and the office is one of the plums for which numerous supporters of Senator Flint have been scrambling. It is the first to become vacant since the election of the Senator.

Prescott, who was Speaker of the Assembly during the Senatorial contest, whose perfidy at that time turned his constituents against him, has been slated for a long time as the next Register.

Prescott has the support of the Republican machine, which, together with the friendship of Senator Flint, undoubtedly will land the coveted office in his lap.

FUNERAL OF RINDGE.

Remains of the Honored Los Angeleno to be Laid Away This Afternoon in Rosedale.

Arrangements have been made for the funeral of Fredick H. Rindge, which will be held today at the family residence, No. 2498 Harvard boulevard.

The body arrived by special train over the Coast route from Ureka at 2 o'clock this morning, and was taken to the Rindge home, where services will be conducted by Dr. W. L. Ryder of the Westlake Methodist Church at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Dr. Robert McIntyre and Rev. A. W. Adkinson, P. E., will conduct the scripture reading, and Dr. E. A. Healy will lead in prayer. "Memoirs" will be read by Dr. G. F. Bovard, president of the University of Southern California. There will be addresses by Dr. John L. Pitner, P. E., and Rev. J. C. Healy of Asbury Methodist Church. A quartette from the Westlake Church, of which Mr. Rindge was a member, will render music.

The active pallbearers will be Senator Frank P. Flint, George I. Cochran, Wilbur S. Tupper, John B. Miller, Arthur Letts, Dr. John H. Haynes, John C. Drake and A. J. Wallace.

The honorary pallbearers selected are Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, Henry E. Huntington, Charles R. Drake, W. C. Patterson, Gen. M. H. Sherman, O. T. Johnson, J. Ross Clark, W. Gillelen, E. P. Clark, W. W. Beckett, Col. Daniel Freeman, Valentine Peyton, Joseph H. Clark and J. M. Elliott.

The interment will be at Rosedale, in the family plot, and a short service will be conducted at the graveside.

Today the flag will be at half-mast on the Conservative Life building at Third and Hill streets, and the front of the building will be draped in black crepe. The general and private offices will also be draped, and a large wreath will hang at the door of the private office of the dead president of the insurance company, in whose passing Los Angeles sustains a great loss.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday it was resolved that the board and the secretaries attend the funeral of Mr. Rindge in a body, and they will gather at the association rooms at 2 o'clock with that purpose in view. The Y.M.C.A. building will be closed out of respect to the memory of the deceased president between the hours of 1 and 6 o'clock p.m.

A committee consisting of Arthur Letts, W. E. McVay, A. P. Fleming and D. E. Luther was appointed to draft suitable resolutions concerning the death of Mr. Rindge. Another committee was authorized to make arrangements for a memorial service, time and place yet to be decided.

APOLOGY ACCEPTED.

Damage Suit Against State Dental Board Dismissed by Doctor Who Was Illegally Arrested.

The damage suit which Dr. S. G. Shaefer of the Schiffmann Company filed several weeks ago against the State Board of Dental Examiners, in which he demanded $50,000 damages for illegal arrest, is not to be pressed. In the Superior Court today a dismissal of the action will be requested, and the matter will be dropped.

Dr. Shaefer was arrested at the instance of R. J. Vigliani and one Shands, spotters for the State board, on a charge of practicing dentistry without having a certificate. At the time the warrant was served on him Dr. Shaefer pointed to a certificate hanging framed upon the wall of his office, but that made no difference.

The State Dental Board admitted that a mistake had been made, and passed a resolution of apology, but the doctor sued. Yesterday at a conference of those interested, an agreement was reached and the case compromised.

THROWS SWITCH TOO SOON.

Carelessness of Conductor Causes Wreck on Long Beach Line of Pacific Electric.

A wreck which blockaded the southbound track of the Long Beach line of the Pacific-Electric for more than an hour, occurred late yesterday afternoon at the Sixteenth-street crossing on Compton avenue. A heavy express car, southbound, had been ordered to take a siding for a faster car behind it.

The car stopped at the siding and the conductor threw the switch, but without waiting for the second pair of trucks to clear the switch, he threw it again into position. The result was that one pair of trucks took the siding while the rear trucks remained on the main line. This turned the car almost at right angles with the track and derailed it both on main line and switch, but the car did not turn over, and no one was injured.

A GRIM TASK, THE CORONER'S.

"Dead Man's Office" Shows Seventy August Cases.

Total of Four Hundred and Four Since January 1.

Autopsy Surgeon Tells of Brains Gone Wrong.

"Well, sir," said the genial Coroner of Los Angeles county, drawing off his coat and tossing that superfluous August garment across the back of a chair, "I've missed my guess. What's your smoke?"

"Referring," said I, "to our midnight chat in China alley a few days ago beside the body of Ling On Gon, when you ventured the opinion that August of 1905 would turn out to be the heaviest month in the local history of this 'Dead Man's Office?'"

"Just so. It's 2 o'clock now," glancing at his watch. "Unless we get five cases between now and midnight, the passing month will fall behind the record month — December of 1904—when this office handled seventy-five Coroner's cases. The total for the present month, barring any 'new business' before midnight, is only seventy. You see, it didn't keep up the pace; dropped off after our China-alley talk."

"Aw, you ought to be satisfied!" growled the deep voice of a deputy in the next room. "Seventy cases a month is plenty for me with the thermometer at 102 in th' shade."

"I am, you bet!" answered Dr. Trout, mopping his big, smooth-shaven face with a damp handkerchief and chuckling; for it would take more than the grimness of his occupation and the excess of hard work piled upon him by a departed public to spoil his serene good humor.

Then, opening up two of the big, flat books that contain better-kept records than ever distinguished a former administration of the Los Angeles coronership, he began calling out the data while I tallied:

"Better take August, 1905, first," he suggested. "Ready?"

"Uhhuh."

"Murders, three: On Saturday, the 5th, Jesus Correles was shot to death by John Vala (both Mexicans) at Chatsworth Tunnel; drunken quarrel. Got it?"

"Aye."

"On Sunday, the 6th, we got Rinkchi Minamibe in a Jap boarding-house on Los Angeles street, all cut to pieces. He was a Japanese gambler and sport. What? No, don't know who did it or why. On Sunday, the 20th, Lottie Bebee, a young woman, was shot down in cold blood by her half-brother, Charles Bebee, at the corner of Tenth and Hill streets. He was drunk and wildly jealous of the girl, who had refused to become his wife. He fired ten or twelve shots, reloading his revolver twice. He put two bullets into the girl, fired several at members of the family, and wound up by shooting himself five times in quick succession, all of the five balls penetrating the region of the heart. He fell down dead beside his victim in the back yard of her father's house. That's all the murders for the month."

"It's enough," said the reporter. "What comes next?"

"Suicides," said he, turning the pages and counting to himself. "There's ten of them. Ready?"

"Yes—and suppose we make them brief. No more harrowing details than necessary, please."

"Suicides," observed the Coroner, "are brief of themselves. But we'll not linger: Nelson Carlton, nativity unknown, a single man, shuffled off on Thursday, the 3d, by taking strychnine; 40 years old; cause unknown. On Friday, the 4th, Jacob Levin, Russian, ended things with a gun; he was 25 years old, unmarried; a consumptive. Am I going too fast for you?"

"No; but you might take that pencil from between your teeth. I could hear better."

"Well, I'll do that if you say. F. Beal, a Californian, aged 31, on Tuesday, the 8th; used a gun; family trouble—divorced—and an old case of typhoid. On Wednesday, the 9th, Charles F. Hinkle of Pennsylvania, aged 25, closed his career at Second and Spring with a dose of cyanide of potash; had been here three weeks; despondent because he couldn't get work; belonged to a wealthy family; brother committed suicide some years ago. An incurable disease, and long brooding over it, led Jacques LaSalle, Frenchman, aged 43, to turn a revolver on himself at Cahuenga Pass on Friday, August 18; had been a resident of this neighborhood eighteen years. The same day Mrs. M. McCleas, formerly of Pennsylvania, aged 31, took strychnine; nervous prostration and previous insanity. What? No, four more to come.

"On Sunday, the 20th, Charles Bebee (the one I told you about a minute ago,) aged 31, formerly of Ohio, evaded the gallows by firing five bullets into his breast, after murdering his half-sister. On Tuesday, the 22d, Won Kin, Celestial, aged 41, hanged himself; couldn't find

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council was last night asked to set a date and appropriate $5000 for that library investigation.

Adopting a report from the Board of Public Works, the Council last night instructed the City Clerk to advertise for bids for disposing of the city's garbage.

Street Superintendent Hanley last night laid off forty men and twenty-two teams in his department; lack of funds was the reason assigned.

The Board of Supervisors decided to lower the tax rate for the county; the new rate probably will be $1.10 instead of $1.125. Estimates include no allowances for new public buildings, which may be paid for in future by bond issues.

Judge Bordwell yesterday sustained the demurrer of the County Superintendent of Schools in the fight over the location of the San Fernando Union High School, and the matter must be decided under some other action.

AT THE CITY HALL.

LIBRARY MUSS LOOKS SERIOUS.

THAT INVESTIGATION MAY COST THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

Council Asked to Appropriate Five Thousand Just for a Starter—There are to be Scores of Witnesses and All Must be Well Paid—Postponed Again.

Last night for the first time that library investigation assumed a serious aspect to the city legislators. For the first time the Councilmen learned that the city will be compelled to pay fees to all witnesses summoned.

One legislator, acting at the suggestion of Oscar Lawler, attorney for the library directors, moved that the date for the hearing be set and that $5000 be appropriated to pay the expenses of the investigation.

This motion brought Chairman Smith of the Finance Committee to the floor with a vigorous objection. "There is no good end to be attained by calling this investigation before the absentees return," he exclaimed, "and if it were to be called there is no necessity for expending all that money."

To this sentiment a majority of the legislators subscribed and the motion to fix the date and appropriation of the investigation was promptly tabled.

Attorneys for both sides insist that it will cost considerable money and more time for the post mortem, which the Councilmen have promised the club women.

THAT GARBAGE CONTRACT.

Charles Alexander must defend his right to be the sole salaried collector of municipal garbage in a competitive contest before he shall be permitted to continue collecting and disposing of refuse at the rate of $2750 per month. Last night the Council instructed the City Clerk to advertise for bids for collecting and destroying garbage. Bids will be opened September 11.

Alexander is collecting waste at the present time on the strength of a verbal agreement with members of the Council to pay him $100 a day for the work.

Despite the fact that there had been no Council session for ten days, last night's meeting was exceptionally uneventful. Only matters of the most prosaic routine were presented, and these were disposed of without debate.

This was due chiefly to the fact that only five Councilmen and Howton were present. Councilman Healy had been depended upon to make the sixth member. But yesterday morning Mr. Healy was taken suddenly ill at his home. Later in the day he was compelled to undergo a severe surgical operation, which will probably keep him confined to his home for the next fortnight.

City employés, fearful that they would not get their salary demands in time to meet first of the month payments, dogged the heels of the legislators in and about the city so closely that they last night succeeded in herding enough together to hold a short session.

Last night the salary demands were all approved, and this morning the employés of the park, police and fire departments, and the force of clerks in the City Hall will be able to draw their pay as usual. Demands for some of the other departments are delayed and will not be ready before next week.

A numbr of new salary ordinances are now under consideration by the Finance Committee, but none of them were presented last night. The committee's report, like the library investigation, has been delayed until all the members return from their summer vacations.

One of the proposed ordinances affecting the city's finances now under consideration provides for the increase of saloon licenses from $900 to $1200 a year.

MANY MUST GO.

TODAY AX FALLS.

Street Superintendent Hanley maintained a state of siege in his inner office during the greater portion of the afternoon and evening yesterday. During that time he was making out lists for foremen instructing them as to what teams and laborers in the different crews should be discharged. Naturally every laborer and teamster in the department sent friends to the Street Superintendent to tell why the special man whom the friend represented should be permitted to remain and his neighbor told to go.

When the day's work was finally over Mr. Hanley had signed the official death warrant of forty men in his department. Twenty-two teams were also dismissed. Other reductions in the street department force are to follow; their scope is as yet known only to the Street Superintendent, and that official just now is studiously keeping his own counsel.

Park Commissioners express the belief that by practicing strict economy in the purchase of supplies they shall be able to go through the year with reducing the present number of laborers and teams.

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1895, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

"Bob" Burdette's Weekly Letters.

The Times is publishing each Sunday a letter written by the famous "Bob" while he is on his European tour. Judging by the installments already printed, they promise to be more than interesting, loaded with his old-time humor, and well worth reading.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

COUNTY TAXES WILL BE LOWER.

REDUCTION OF TWO AND ONE-HALF CENTS IN SIGHT.

Cut in Rate Decided Upon by Supervisors Makes Decrease in Percentage, While Total Returns Will be Greater Because of Higher Assessments—Improvement Bonds.

County taxes are to be lower. Not so much lower that the sight of the Tax Collector will be greeted with acclaim or loud huzzas—but lower. The Board of Supervisors, when they take formal action on September 18, probably will fix the rate for the coming year at $1.10 inside cities and $1.70 outside, which is 2½ cents lower than last year's rate.

The board started in yesterday on the estimates for the coming year, for the purpose of determining on the tax rate, sufficient progress being made to indicate what amount will be needed to defray the expenses of the county government. Unless some radical error be discovered, calling for a decided change in these figures, the rate undoubtedly will be as stated.

The State rate for the coming year is 49 cents, as against 53½ cents for the last year, while the county rate probably will be 61 cents, or 2 cents more than the preceding year, the combined amount being $1.10 for cities. For the outlying districts there is an addition of 60 cents, road tax, making the total $1.70.

Although the rate probably will be lower, the total amount of taxes to be raised will be considerably above that of the preceding year, due to the increased assessment in the county, which amounts to $20,000,000 or so.

It is said that the rate would have been made much lower but for the increased expenses following the recent adoption of the County Government Bill by the last Legislature, and for the fact that a large increase is resultant upon the higher per capita tax for school children, the Legislature having increased this from $6 to $7, or an addition of nearly $500,000.

Had it not been for the extra expenses that thus have arisen, it is declared that the rate would be 6 or 7 cents below that of last year.

The estimates do not include any expenditures for public buildings—for a Detention Home, additions to the County Hospital, or jail, or for any other similar improvements.

In the last three years, $400,000 has been paid in direct taxation for the new jail, for County Hospital additions and for other public buildings. Hereafter, if similar improvements are to be made, the matter will be referred to the voters in the form of bond issues.

That such bond issues may be called for is indicated by the plight in which the county now finds itself—with inadequate accommodations at the Courthouse for all departments, with the new jail already almost overflowing, with better facilities demanded at the hospital, and with an annual expenditure of $6000 for rent of outside offices, such as the Law Library, the Superintendent of Schools, the Coroner, the Public Administrator and other officials.

The tax rate as it will be fixed is said to be the lowest in the State, while the county practically is out of debt, the total charge against it being in the neighborhood of $100,000, owing solely to the fact that payment on the bonds cannot be made for three or four years.

SCHOOL SITE FIGHT.

ACTION FAILS TO SETTLE.

The fight over the location of the San Fernando Union High School must take another turn if the proposed new building is to be placed on a site other than that at Maclay avenue, which, according to the returns of a recent election in that district, was the one chosen by the electors.

Judge Bordwell yesterday sustained the demurrer to the complaint of T. J. Wilson against Mark Keppel, Superintendent of Schools, wherein it was sought to have the superintendent restrained from certifying to the County Clerk the number of votes cast in favor of the two sites in question, known respectively as the Maclay avenue and the San Fernando Mission Land Company's site.

As appears from the returns, 106 votes cast for the Maclay-avenue site nue site and 99 for the San Fernando Mission Land Company's site.

Wilson alleges that twelve of the votes cast for the Maclay avenue site were illegal, on which ground the plaintiff sought to require the superintendent to certify that a less number of votes, therefore, were cast for the Maclay-avenue site than for the other.

The court holds, however, that the superintendent, in certifying to the returns, is merely acting under the law and that the court is not warranted in intervening, although it is set forth that, if illegal votes were cast, the plaintiff has recourse in proper action.

CENSUS OF PRODUCTS.

COUNTY TO COMPILE IT.

Acting under a new State law, the Board of Supervisors yesterday appointed John O. Lowe as special census enumerator for Los Angeles county, to compile statistics relative to the industries and products of the county.

The new law provides that, on or before November 1 of each year, the Supervisors shall supply to the Secretary of the State Agricultural Society statistics showing all the quantity and value of all products grown, produced or manufactured in each county, the expense for gathering the statistics to be borne by the county.

The statistics called for include those pertaining to cereal products, fruit trees and vines, city and country real estate and the improvements thereon, all fruits, nuts, wines, brandies, live stock, poultry, forest products, manufactures and all other forms of industry.

In fact, it is a yearly State census, similar in many respects to that conducted by the Federal government every ten years.

SALARIES GO UP.

NURSES GET INCREASE.

The Prettiest Nurse and others of like attraction at the County Hospital are to have the raise in wages for which they have so long hoped. The Board of Supervisors yesterday decided to grant an increase of $5 per month all around for the nurses, the juniors to receive $10 instead of $5 per month, and the seniors $15 instead of $10. The increase becomes effective today. The board also increased the pay of the chief engineer to $100 per month, and appointed E. E. Green as assistant engineer at a salary of $80 per month. New engines and machinery have been installed at the hospital, adding to the duties and responsibilities of the engineer and making the appointment of an assistant necessary.

George C. Kellogg, formerly of the Soldiers' Home, who is afflicted with senile dementia, and Mrs. Candace Vaughn, who is a violent and raving religious mono-maniac, also were sent to Patton. The woman became so violent upon reaching the Courthouse that she could not be taken into the courtroom.

SUPERVISORS' VACATIONS. O. W. Longden, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, begins a two weeks' vacation today. Supervisor Alexander, who will become acting chairman, will leave upon Mr. Longden's return for a reunion at Marion, Iowa, on the 20th inst. of the Twenty-fourth Iowa Infantry, with which he served during the Civil War. This will be the first vacation of Mr. Alexander since becoming a member of the board, during which time he has not missed more than two meetings.

POLICE COURT.

BUTCHERS "OWN UP."

R. A. Morris, John Angilstis, Frank Alsi, M. Hanson and J. Bash, were before Justice Rose yesterday on complaint of Meat Inspector Hughes, charged with using an injurious preservative in Hamburg steak, which they sold over the counters in their meat markets. They all "owned up" and were fined $25 each.

Francis Carter, Frank Williams and Edward Banks, three of the quartette of negro boys charged with burglary, were examined before Justice Rose and held for trial, $1500 bail being demanded of each. There is a second charge against Carter and on this he will have a hearing on Saturday, when L. C. Seagraves will also be called to answer.

HAMMEL TAKES OFF HIS STAR.

HIS SUCCESSOR AS CHIEF OF POLICE NOT NAMED.

Capt. Auble Will Command Under Direct Orders from the Mayor. Hammel Can Have the Job Again if He Wants It—Presented With an Elegant Silver Service.

Acting under instructions from Mayor McAleer, Chief Hammel yesterday turned over to Capt. Walter Auble the keys of the Chief's office and $200 in cash. The money represents the unexpended balance in the secret-service fund.

To the Mayor the retiring Chief said that he is going away to the mountains on a six weeks' hunting trip.

It is regarded by some as a significant fact that during the six weeks that Mr. Hammel is out of the city there will be no change in police affairs. Not even the proposed changes in the detective's office will take place for several weeks.

Mayor McAleer has lost none of his high regard for the retiring Chief. To his friends the Mayor has repeatedly expressed the opinion that he would rather see Hammel at the head of the police department than any other man in Los Angeles.

It is pretty generally understood that when Chief Hammel completes his vacation and returns to the city there will still be a vacancy at the head of the police department; also that the commissioners will be ready to welcome him back to his old position.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Chief Hammel was invited to a meeting of the police force at Eagles' Hall on East Third street, to receive a testimonial of the regard of his fellow-officers.

The chief was accompanied by his two chief lieutenants, Capt. Bradish and Capt. Auble. As the trio reached the platform there was great applause, and they had to wait for it to cease.

Capt. Bradish, in a simple word, stated that they were there to bid good-by to their chief, and introduced George Beebe, Esq., to address them.

Beebe began by saying that they had met there not to praise the chief for anything he had done, but to express a sentiment, for the men had learned to love and respect him. Continuing, Beebe said to Hammel:

"It is not for me to praise you for deeds well done, for that has been repeatedly done by official boards, semi-official bodies, by the press and by your fellow-citizens. But I assure you the feeling expressed here today is warmer, deeper and truer than any of the encomiums expressed by others."

Capt. Auble stepped forward and opened the lid of a handsome silk-lined box as he placed it on the pedestal in front of Chief Hammel. It contained a full set of solid silver tableware bought by contributions from the entire Police Department.

Sergt. C. E. Dixon at this juncture stepped forward and read an original poem entitled: "Chief Hammel, by one of the Bunch," which was received with applause.

The Chief was pretty near knocked out by the gift, the kind words and the almost constant applause excited by every word of praise bestowed upon him. There was pathos in his voice and almost tears in his eyes, as he arose to respond.

He referred feelingly to the presentation of a gold star to himself eighteen months ago by his men, and now at the close of his labors this new evidence of their esteem was all he could bear.

"If I have succeeded," he said, "it is because I have had the loyal support of my fellow-officers, and this last token of your regard shall be treasured as the most sacred gift I have ever received in my life."

A plate on the lid of the box bears the inscription: "To the Chief, from the Boys in Blue." The Chief assured them that wherever his future should be cast he craved the favor of being commanded by the donors, declaring that wherever possible he would be "Johnny on the Spot."

At the close of his response the retiring chief stepped down from the platform and warmly shook the hand of each officer as he left the hall.

MAN FROM TEXAS BETWEEN FIRES.

SETTLES THE LITTLE QUESTION OF INSPIRATION.

Tells of Thousands of "Forgeries" in the Holy Book and is Greeted With Songs from the Upper Room. Sidewalk Faker Also Adds to His Discomfiture.

A man from Texas undertook last night to have some fun with the Bible. His name is John D. Pitts of Texas.

He had an audience of a hundred people in Blanchard Hall to hear his lecture, which he calls "A Lawyer's Analysis of the Bible." The announcement at the door stated that he would tell of astounding changes and forgeries made by priestcraft, and of the humors of the scriptures.

Just as he was getting under way, telling of the 7800 times forgery had been committed in changing a word that meant "good" into the word "Lord" and the word "God," a great volume of melodious sound floated in at the windows, left open to admit the cool air. It came down from the upper room in the same building, where Francis Murphy was holding his mid-week prayer meeting with a crowded house. Over and over came in the refrain: "And crown Him Lord of all," until they had sung the long hymn through, and "repeated the first verse."

Every time the lecturer would pause, the gap would be filled by a line from the familiar hymn, and when the Murphyites up higher got through with that one they began on another. Finally a courageous young lady, while half the little gathering smiled broadly at one another, went forward and closed the stage door that led to the open window, and then the music could be heard only as a sweet echo.

This was not all that Mr. Pitts had to buck against.

From down at the front door came floating up another sound. It was that of the raucous voice of a uniformed freak, who marched up and down in front of the door, making the air hideous with his cries:

"Read the article about the Salvation Army grafters."

The door was closed to shut out this annoyance, though it was more in accord with the lecture than the songs of the Murphy host in the upper room.

As Mr. Pitts stepped on the platform he showed a striking resemblance to Prof. Billy Manning, and if he gets up and hustles he will be able to reach as high a plane of oratory as that occupied by Prof. Billy.

Pitts claims that his "researches disclose a new and sensational history of certain alterations and forgeries, and the facts presented will finally and forever disprove the claims of divine origin or inspiration of the Bible stories."

Jewhillikens, but he's done it, to his own satisfaction.

NEW INDUSTRY.

Pictures to be Printed on Cloth by a Method Recently Invented at Long Beach.

A plant is to be established at Long Beach by the Schaefer Photographic Company for the making of pictures by a new process invented by a local man, G. A. Schaefer. The work consists of copying pictures of all kinds on a specially prepared cloth, something which many have sought to accomplish before. Work turned out by this process is declared to be equal to the best carbon. The great advantage claimed for the process is its cheapness as compared with the older methods, the cost being only a fraction of that charged for work done by other processes. The cloth is treated by a secret method known to the inventor himself and after that the work can be done by girls who require but little instruction and who can turn out several times as much work as high-salaried experts under the old way. The establishment will employ about twenty persons.

The company is financed by local capitalists. The directors are G. A. Schaefer, Joel P. Pitts, T. N. Cunningham, Z. K. Ferguson, and J. M. Danziger.

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1895, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

Quite a large amount of interes centered in the Sutton-Dodd match for little Miss Marjorie Dodd is no only the youngest player in the tour nament, but is one of the favorite with the spectators. While Miss Dodd came up to all expectations, yet sh was clearly outclassed by the Califor nia player.

WRIGHT DEFEATS WARD.

SUPERIORITY WELL MARKED.

NEWPORT (R. I.) Aug. 31.—After many years, the aspirations of Beals C. Wright of Boston for the national tennis championship were crowned with success in his defeat of Holcombe Ward of Orange, N. J., the title holder, on the Casino courts today, in straight sets, 8 scores were 6-1, 6-2, 11-9. The pair won the championship in doubles last week, for the second time and, having played together for so long a time and knowing each other's game so well, the contest today was looked upon with much interest.

Wright's superiority, which for two sets was most masterful and for a greater part of the third was well marked, was the feature of the contest. Both men played a strong, resourceful and well-planned game, but Wright was able to carry off his strokes, while it was not until almost the eleventh hour, the tenth game of the third set, that Ward managed to gauge the height of the net or the boundary of the court.

With Wright within two points of the match, Ward began to get the balls somewhere out of Wright's reach, and within a very short time the set had become a deuce affair. For ten games the crowd, which numbered more than a thousand and included hundreds of followers of the game throughout the country, saw some of the best tennis ever played on a Casino court.

Both men covered the court in a marvelous manner. Seemingly impossible balls were reached and not only returned over the net, but were placed in a way that allowed the player to get back into position. Both men ran in on their services, and both carried off their service games. As it was Ward's first service, he was always getting the vantage game, only to lose it when Wright won his own service and brought the set back to deuce. Once Ward was within a stroke of the set. At the last, after eighteen games had been played, Wright found a weak spot in Ward's defense, and won the vantage game.

The next game, which was the last, was easy for the Boston man, as Ward drove out of bounds, and the championship went to Wright.

HANNA SPRINGS SENSATION.

OFFER FOR MAJOR DELMAR.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—While owners, trainers and horse fanciers were yesterday discussing the chances of the various candidates in the intercity matinée events, which start at Washington Park today, H. M. Hanna of the Cleveland Gentlemen's Driving Club sprung a sensation by making C. K. G. Billings an offer of $15,000 for the champion trotting gelding, Major Delmar. At a late hour last night, Billings had not decided whether he would accept the offer or not.

The negotiations were conducted for Hanna by H. K. Devereaux, who has charge of the Cleveland man's string at the track. He first offered $10,000, and this was flatly refused. Late in the evening, when the larger bid was made, and it is thought that Hanna is prepared to bid still higher, if the second offer is rejected.

FINAL GAMES AT BARMEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BARMEN (Germany) Aug. 31.—The final games of the chess tournament continued here today. Marocsy won his unfinished game with Gottschalk, and after a prolonged struggle tied Janowski for first place, at 10½ points. The two leaders will divide the first and second prizes of 1500 and 1000 marks respectively, but will play a series of games to decide the winning of the tournament.

Marshall of Brooklyn, with ten points, secured the third prize of 700 marks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Nelson is greatly pleased with his new training quarters near Colma, as it is very little warmer there than in San Francisco. Over at Larkspur, intense heat peeled off the flesh from "Battling," and Monday he was down to weight. He took a rest today in order to gain weight.

Britt is favorite over Nelson. Over at Sausalito poolrooms the odds were posted. They are 10 to 8. Several $50 bets were made on Britt, while Nelson money was very scarce. This will prove a surprise to Manager Nolan and Nelson. They have contended betting should be even money, and it was only yesterday that Nelson made the statement that if he did not go into the ring a favorite, he would believe there was something crooked about the fight.

WAITING ON JEFF.

MORLEY ESTIMATES TERMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Promoter Coffroth announces advance orders for seats at the Britt-Nelson fight have now passed the $30,000 mark, and still there is no let-up. The sale does not open until Saturday morning, but a man has been kept busy two days receiving orders and filling away seats asked for. The most popular seats are $5, $10 and $20 seats, those selling for $7.50 and $15 not being in much demand. On the chart being used at present, there are now only 220 $5 seats left out of 2000, but today, the chart of the enlarged arena was ready and the situation was relieved. Coffroth has added 2000 more seats to his pavilion, making the whole place seat 14,000.

Coffroth is still waiting to receive definite acceptance from Referee Jeffries. The big fellow was at Catalina Island, yesterday, and could not be reached. His friend and business associate, Jim Morley, however, is responsible for the statement that Jeff will ask for at least $10000 for his services.

WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNEY.

WESTERN CHAMPION DEFEATED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—With practically no choice between the contestants in each of the four matches, play was resumed in the second round of the Western Women's Golf Association championship at Homewood today. The result of the play will decide what quartette shall be in the semi-final contest tomorrow.

Miss Frances Everett of Exmoor, western champion, was defeated by Mrs. Frances Anderson of Hanadale, by one down in 19 holes.

Today's play so resulted that Mrs. Dering and Miss Ruth Steele and Miss Parimetier and Mrs. Anderson will come together in the semi-finals tomorrow.

GOLD CHALLENGE CUP.

CAPTURED BY DR. STRONG.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The amateur drivers gold challenge cup, which was won last year by the Cleveland mare Aerolite, owned by H. M. Hanna, was this afternoon captured by S. A. Pickering of Pittsburgh, with the grap gelding Dr. Strong in two straight heats. There were four entries, Prince of Orange, by C. K. G. Billings, Cleveland; Aerolite, H. M. Hanna, Cleveland, driven by Harry Devereaux of Cleveland; Tom Axworthy, F. C. Jones, Chicago, and Dr. Strong, entered by S. A. Pickering of Pittsburgh and driven by Callery of Pittsburgh.

Major Delmar, driven by C. K. G. Billings, his owner, went two miles against the track wagon record of 2:09, finishing in 2:05 2-5 and 2:05 3-5.

The details of the harness races were practically completed last night at a meeting of the Speed Committee, which consists of Dr. Ralph Hagan, Henry Berry and Secretary A. W. Buner. The plan should meet with the approval of both professional and amateur owners and drivers for each day's programme will consist of two races for $1000 each and one matinée race for a $100 silver cup offered by a member of the association.

OUTSIDE MEETS.

In connection with the racing in this city, or rather preceding it, there has been organized what is called the Southern California Fair Circuit, which includes horses in the driving clubs of Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Santa Ana. The opening races of this circuit will be at San Bernardino, beginning Thursday November 9 and continuing three days. On Thursday, November 16, the horsemen will open at Santa Ana for three days and the following week they will come to Los Angeles.

It is expected that there will be about 150 horses in the three meets and entries for the three will close Tuesday, October 24. This date will give the harness horses in the South a chance to get out here in good season if they care to race at San Bernardino and it is announced that all records made on and after October 24, will not act as a bar to the races here or in the country. The purses at San Bernardino and Santa Ana will be $600 for each race.

It might be stated that Sweet Marie may be one of the features of the racing in this city. It is more than likely that she will be sent home after the Memphis meet ends, October 27.

BIG GAMES FOR U.S.C.

NORTHERN TEAMS ON SCHEDULE.

Football boys of the University of Southern California will travel north the last week of October for games with Berkeley and Stanford.

Arrangements were completed last night whereby Berkeley lads will take on the Methodist lads October 28. The boys will remain as guests of the State University for a week, and a game will then be played with Stanford on November 4, just one week before the big Stanford-Berkeley game. Both will be Saturday events.

These are the best dates that will probably be arranged with a southern team, and Coach Holmes is well pleased with the schedule. The U.S.C. coach promises to take North the best team that ever represented this section, and unless all his plans fails there is a strong probability that he will have the heaviest bunch that ever rushed a pigskin for a local college.

Carl Elliott will captain the team, and the boys will go into early training for the important games to be pulled off at the season's opening.

TOO MUCH FOG.

RACES POSTPONED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN DIEGO (Cal.) Aug. 31.—A dense fog off Coronado obscured the starting point of the yachts in today's Lipton cup race. A very light breeze was blowing and the race has been postponed until tomorrow because of the fog.

New Speedway.

The speedway that has been the dream of every harness horseman in this city for many months may possibly be realized in a small way by the utilization of the western end of Washington street, west of Western avenue. This stretch of road is being graded and fixed up and the members of the driving club will use it for speeding their choicest. It may possibly be ready for use next week.

Grand Circuit Races.

NARRAGANSETT PARK (R. I.) Aug. 31.—The grand circuit races scheduled for today were postponed on account of a wet track.

CHANGE IN PULLMAN SERVICE.

SLEEPING CAR RESERVATIONS DISCONTINUED.

On and after September 1, 1905, the practice of making sleeping-car reservations will be discontinued. Sleeping-car tickets will be sold in advance. This change is made for the purpose of better accommodating travelers. Very often duplicate reservations have been made for one person while at the same time others have been denied accommodations, which they could have secured but for these duplicate reservations. In many cases, reservations are made, and although the traveler changes his plans, he fails to give notice thereof, consequently the space goes unoccupied while other travelers have been denied the accommodations they desired.

Rates to Sacramento.

On account of the California State Fair at Sacramento, September 2 to 9, and the celebration Native Sons of the Golden West September 8, the Southern Pacific will sell tickets at one and one-third fare for round trip from all points in California to Sacramento. Tickets will be on sale August 31 to September 8, inclusive, and will be good for return until September 11. Continuous passage is required in each direction. Information at Southern Pacific Ticket Office, 261 South Spring street.

DESERT GETS A NEW VICTIM.

NEVADA MERCHANT LOST WITH NONE TO GUIDE HIM.

More Than Two Score Men from Camps of Searchlight and Crescent Search a Week for Remains of J. C. Thomas—Another Death Due to Trackless Sands.

The desert has claimed another victim in the person of J. C. Thomas, a merchant of Crescent, Nev., and lately a practicing attorney in Wisconsin.

Unused to the desert, Thomas started from Searchlight on the evening of Wednesday, August 23, to walk to Crescent, eighteen miles distant. It is known that he was well supplied with water, and that he had provisions. But from the moment that he filled his canteen, just prior to departure, he has been seen by no living man, so far as can be ascertained.

The first intimation that a man was lost came to Searchlight by letter from Thomas's partner, P. O. Chilstrom of Crescent, begging that the desert be searched. Parties were immediately fitted out, every old shaft in the vicinity was investigated, and expert trailers attempted to trace the missing man, but a rainstorm had obliterated every sign of a trail, and after many hours, the Searchlight party gave up the quest.

Twenty-four men from Crescent, in two well-organized parties, have been searching systematically first for the man, and then for his body for the past week. Wagons with water and provisions accompany the searchers. It is now recognized as an almost hopeless task, but Mr. Chilstrom will not give up.

J. C. Thomas was a man of considerable property, and leaves a widow and young family. Besides the store at Crescent, he owned several mining claims in the vicinity, which he was developing, and he came to Searchlight to look at a property that had been offered him. Finding it inconvenient to wait for the stage, he determined to walk home in the cool of the evening. Heavy rains came up during the night, and though this is a main stage and freight road, very well traveled, Mr. Thomas probably turned off into one of the numerous small washes which, at night, are very deceptive, being more easily seen than the road itself. Once away from the road his case was hopeless unless he had turned back along the wash he had come by for the whole distance. Being a stranger to the desert and ignorant of its dangers, he would more probably have tried to cut across country to reach the road. He would then inevitably circle and penetrate farther and farther into a trackless waste. Men lose their heads very readily under the terror of such a situation. They struggle on aimlessly with all sense of direction lost. They become at last delirious from thirst, disrobe and rush blindly through the fearful heat until they fall exhausted, to die horribly.

The finding of Mr. Thomas's body will be but a matter of chance unless the spot can be located by means of circling buzzards. Men are watching the sky for this grewsome evidence, as almost the last possible clew to a sad mystery.

CALLANAN TO THE BAT!

"Death-to-the-Flea" Man Takes His Inning, and Makes It a Hot One.

Yesterday morning The Times printed The Story of the Festive Flea, the Pungent Powder, the Vociferous Demonstrator, and the Cat that Was Sick unto Death. The writer of that True Story essayed to be funny. How ridiculously he fell down may be judged by the following signed communication, delivered in the editorial rooms of The Times last night with a free can of pulverized extinguisher:

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31, 1905.—To the Editor of The Times: Will you please allow me to refute some statements made in your valuable paper of yesterday morning, Aug. 31—in which one of your reporters condems the use of my flea powder—in his statement or article he berates me as an inhumane and even goes as far as to suggest the intenntion of the Society "For the Prevntion of Cruelty of Animals" against the charatable and humane acts of one who relieves the poor dum animals of one of their many burdens, the "Flea." how many of you humane especially this time of the season, would be greatfull to be relieved of such a pest and instead of being classed and condemned as one with cruel instincts I ought to be enrolled as an Honory Member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Man can rid himself of his many burdens by the force of mind over matter and as the lower order of animals, over whom we have such control look to us for protection and receive it from those who have the delicate feelings and heart to give to them that protection. then it ill becomes one of the humans to scandolize the one who has the insticts of charity and benevolence placed in his heart to give such relief and protection. I am a poor person and make my living, and an honest one too—by selling this insect powder, a powder injurios not to man or beast. why a child of five years of age by mistake, ate one half a package and it not even showed symptoms of illness, it is mostly composed of sulphur, and hundreds of dollars have I paid out to those whom would bring dogs or Cats to me to relieve them of their fleas and herewith attached to this hasty article you will find the signatures of business men who have it for sale and have used it.

"In conclusion it ill becomes any one with a higher education and an easier occupation to condem one with an honest and manly occupation and endeavor to injure his business and I am sure and sincerely believe you as Editor of your valuable paper will place me right in this matter, notwithstand what force is brought to bear on you by the one who wrote said article.

Who says "shirt-sleeve diplomacy" is not a success?

And William Jennings B. "was also among those that wired."

So the English have begun to use ice water! Well, well, who'd ha' thought it? After all, the earth do move, taking with it all the fussy little tales that hang back.

Honestly, now, who can really blame that "nature man" at Riverside for developing violent antipathy to clothes, with the thermometer waltzing about away above 100 deg.?

Theodore Roosevelt stands before the world today as the greatest man living. He was first in war, is first in peace, first in the hearts of all men who love brains, honor and courage.

It is intimated that there is a strong probability that "the President will receive the Nobel Peace Prize next year." All right. It can't be any nobler than the President deserves.

Whether it shall be called the Treaty of Washington, the Treaty of Portsmouth, the Treaty of Sagamore Hill, or the Treaty of Any Old Place, is really immaterial, if it only sticks.

It takes the highest type of diplomacy to successfully evade and ignore time-honored diplomatic traditions. But that's what the young Rough Rider President of the United States has done.

It is a real comfort to learn, from the astronomical sharps who went to Guelma, Algeria, to observe the solar eclipse, that "Bailey's beads were also observed." We had really forgotten all about Bailey and his old beads.

The earthquake at Portsmouth was probably due to the huge sigh of relief that good old Mother Earth heaved when she heard that two of her belligerent sons had made up their minds to shake hands and stop scrapping.

These are the days when forest fires rage in the mountains, destroying in a day the growth of years, and leaving an abomination of desolation in their path. Of all destructive animals that cumber the earth, man is by long odds the most destructive.

The Paris papers seem to be somewhat perturbed over the question as to whether the United States "has decided to return to her traditional friendship for Russia." Of course not. We cannot return to that from which we have never departed.

And still the reserve of water in our reservoirs goes lower and lower, at the rate of about 3,000,000 gallons daily. Old Sol is evidently determined to give us a good, thorough object lesson while he is about it. Even the Yellow Yawp ought by this time to be converted from the error of its ways.

This talk of raising the assessed valuation of Los Angeles property 40 per cent., or any other per cent., in order to provide pay for more place men, may as well stop right where it has begun. Taxes in Los Angeles are high enough already. The goose that lays the golden egg must not be killed. We shall need her services in the future.

Ben Downing, "the pioneer mail carrier of Alaska," declares that he could reach the North Pole "if there was anything to gain." But Ben cannot see that there's anything to be gained by reaching the pole, and there are plenty of persons who take the same view. Even if one could pull up the old axis and bring it home with him, the chances are that it wouldn't be worth more than from 15 to 21 cents.

Cornelius P. Shea, the plug-ugly president of the Chicago Teamsters' Union, will be called upon to answer before the courts for his disregard of law during the recent strike, now happily defunct. If ever men were guilty of conspiracy Shea and his gang were guilty of it in the teamsters' strike. While Shea, as the principal offender, should be severely punished, there are other guilty ones who should not be allowed to escape.

One may read all the books ever invented on the joys of the simple life, but he must follow their precepts with modest moderation. It seems that the authorities at Riverside do not consider breechcloths and ashes a sufficient covering for the human form divine, hence Gustaf Frank has been forced to meander otherward. He is now hiking to San Bernardino—but he has on the "pants" that all real "gents" are compelled to wear in our latitude.

The new board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Society appears to be capable of understanding the difference between graft and honest business, when the lesson is hammered home by the club of public opinion. By disallowing pensions of $25,000 each to the wives of officers who established the system of looting policy holders, the directors indicate the dawning in their minds of the idea that the funds of the society are not theirs to give away. In time, if the process of ethical development is not checked by the contemplation of the superior opportunities for graft residing in an unwatched surplus, an Equitable director may become as honest as a perch climber

BUSINESS.

The stock market at New York suffered severely yesterday from heavy selling, which came from all quarters, including London. Much of the selling was induced by fears of a coming stringency, this feeling being based upon the low level of the New York bank reserves. Wheat at Chicago closed firm at 78¼@78⅞ for September and 81 for December.

DUTIES ON "FREE" IMPORTS.

There is some talk that it may become necessary, in the near future, for the government to make some departure from its present fiscal policy in order to meet possible—or probable—deficiencies of revenue. If conditions could remain as they are, the annual revenues of the government would probably be sufficient to meet expenses. But the new trade combination in Europe against the United States, initiated by Germany, designed to knock a big hole in our tariff wall or to shut us out of the European markets so far as possible, is certain to cut into our national revenues, whatever action we may take to counteract it, or if we take no action at all.

Several plans have been suggested for meeting the situation. If we should enter upon a general scheme of reciprocity at the behest of our German friends, we should certainly decrease our revenues to such an extent that some radical measure for recouping them would be necessary. It is extremely doubtful whether the American people would stand for the imposition of direct taxes to make up the deficit. Why, they would ask, should we tax ourselves some millions of dollars in order that the foreigner may come in and occupy our markets with his goods, displacing home products to a corresponding extent? Our manufacturers who now complain that they must have wider markets for their surplus products, would have a much larger surplus to dispose of if their foreign competitors were allowed to compete with them more freely in the domestic market. And with this increased occupation of our home market by foreigners, we should necessarily have decreased revenues. Lowering of duties will not increase our revenues.

One of the numerous suggestions that have been made for increasing the revenues is that the free list should be abolished altogether, and that a moderate duty of three to five per cent. ad valorem should be imposed on all imports which are now exempt from duty. This would produce, it is estimated, a revenue of from $18,000,000 to $30,000,000 annually. This might be sufficient to meet the deficit—and it might not. No man can tell with any approximation to accuracy the amount that may be needed for the purpose. If we begin juggling with the tariff, there is no telling where we shall stop, nor how low the revenues from imports will go.

The proposition to abolish the free list will not be likely to meet with general approval in any event. Under the Dingley tariff about one-half of our total imports come in free of duty. The articles on the free list are for the most part products which do not compete, or compete in a minimum degree, with our products. If we were to place duties on these products, whether the duties were high or low, such duties would not be protective in any general sense, because there would be no corresponding industries to protect in the United States. Coffee will serve as an illustration. We do not produce coffee in the United States. Whatever duty we might place on coffee would increase the cost of coffee to the consumer by the amount of the duty, because there would be no home competition.

We should be levying a "tariff for revenue only," instead of a protective tariff, if we were to place duties on articles now on the free list. A tariff for revenue only, without reference to the question of protection, is in fact a direct tax masquerading as a tariff.

Possibly this plan may be resorted to if the revenues should run so low as to render necessary some such radical expedient. But it will not be any more popular than specific increase of internal or direct taxation. Either plan would probably be regarded by the people as preferable to the Cleveland scheme of increasing the bonded debt of the nation by borrowing money to meet current expenses of government.

IS IT REALLY TO BE PEACE?

Although an agreement has been reached for peace between Japan and Russia, it is well to remember that peace will not really have been attained until the treaties shall have been "signed, sealed and delivered." As the President so epigrammatically expresses it: "Whistle softly. We are getting into the thin timber, but we are not yet out of the woods."

There is much dissatisfaction with the terms of peace, both in Russia and in Japan, hence there is a remote possibility that this may result in a rupture between the late belligerents before the final exchange of ratifications. But this possibility is, at the worst, so remote as hardly to furnish cause for anxiety. Some clouds will arise upon the horizon before final and full agreement upon details, but these will all be cleared away, without much doubt. There is no good reason to fear that peace will fail, now that it is so nearly in sight.

It is difficult to perceive why there should be serious dissatisfaction on either side. Russia, considering the remarkable series of reverses which she suffered on the field of battle, saved more than she really expected to save on the field of diplomacy. This result was due in chief part to the skill and resourcefulness of M. Witte, who in a way snatched victory from defeat. This, it would seem, should satisfy even official Russia, in which practically all of the dissatisfaction seems to exist. It will probably be found that this dissatisfaction has its basis more in court jealousy of M. Witte than in anything else. If a rupture should come, it will not be likely to come from Russia. The Czar is satisfied. His ultimatum was accepted by Japan. What more could he have demanded or expected? And the Czar is still Russia, in the ultimate analysis, whatever steps may have been taken in the direction of more liberal government.

Japan accepted the final terms of Russia in apparent good faith. Japan, by the terms agreed upon, is to receive more than she declared for at the beginning of the war. Could she reasonably have insisted upon more than she is to receive? Her enemy was and is still able to continue the war indefinitely. Her large army in the field, though several times defeated, is by no means conquered. In the nature of things, and under these conditions, Russia would fight on, though earnestly desiring peace, rather than suffer further humiliation.

Both the Emperor of Russia and the Emperor of Japan have given their word to sign a treaty of peace upon the terms agreed upon at Portsmouth. Neither could break his word without incurring the displeasure of the world. The public opinion of the world is not to be lightly regarded.

The peace terms which have been agreed upon at Portsmouth will therefore be consummated, without a reasonable doubt. Both nations have had war enough, and more than enough. Their people desire peace, and the Portsmouth agreement affords, both to Russia and to Japan, "peace with honor."

THE NOBEL PEACE PRIZE.

In a cable dispatch from Norway President Roosevelt has been congratulated on his efforts "for the peace of the world and for humanity." The dispatch was sent by the Nobel peace prize committee. Alfred Nobel, previous to his death, in 1898, was the richest citizen of Sweden. He accumulated his wealth by the manufacture of explosives, having factories in different parts of Europe, whence he supplied the armies of warring nations. His estate, after deducting bequests to relatives, amounted to nearly $9,000,000 which was divided into five funds for the establishment of institutes of physical science, chemistry, medicine, literature, and humanity or the cause of peace, respectively.

It was provided that each institute should have a building in Stockholm and a faculty of specialists. Each year prizes are awarded to the most deserving person in either of the departments named, absolutely without regard to nationality. Nominations for the prizes may be made by the legislative body of any country, by the faculties of law colleges, or professors of history, philosophy, or political science in any established university, or by any society organized for the promotion of peace.

The prizes are officially announced and presented by the King of Sweden on the 10th of December of each year, the anniversary of Nobel's death in 1896. It was, however, arranged that the prize for the fifth object—the promotion of peace—should be awarded by the Storthing of Norway on account of the activity of that legislative body in promoting the principle of arbitration in the settlement of international differences. It is highly probable, therefore, that the dispatch from Norway to the President emanated from the Storthing, or Norwegian parliament, in recognition of his splendid work with the Peace Commission.

In 1901 the prize in physics was awarded to Wilhelm Roentgen for his discovery of the X-ray; the prize in chemistry to Van't Hoff of Berlin; the medical prize to Von Behring; and the literary prize to the poet Prudhomme of the French Academy.

In 1903 the physics prize went to Becquerel and Curie of Paris for their researches in radio-activity; the chemical prize to Arrhenius of Stockholm for his work in electrolytic disassociation; and the literary prize to Björnson the Norwegian poet and writer.

The peace prizes were awarded, in 1901 to Henri Dunant, promoter of the Geneva conference, and Frederick Passy, founder of the International Arbitration Society; in 1902 to Elie Ducommun, secretary of the Peace Bureau of Berne, and Dr. Gobat, director of the Interparliamentary Peace Congress; and in 1903 to William R. Cremer, M.P., secretary of the International Arbitration League.

It is a singular circumstance that the man whose fortune was made in the manufacture of guns and ammunition, and who for years filled contracts for supplying the great armies of Europe with fighting material, should thus provide for rewarding those whose talents are spent in preventing war.

Where could the peace prize be more worthily bestowed than upon President Roosevelt? According to the dreadful statistics of the Russo-Japanese war, the casualties of the two armies have reached an aggregate of 370,000—about equal to the entire population of San Francisco, and the cost of the war amounts to the almost incomprehensible figure of $2,650,000,000, enough to have doubletracked the Siberian Railway, and in addition to have gridironed China, Mongolia and Korea with a splendid railway system. It is such awful havoc as this which the President has been instrumental in bringing to an end.

THE BISHOP'S MISCARRIAGE.

New York's consecrated "boosting ken," to which Bishop Potter gave evanescent notoriety by bestowing upon it his sanction and benediction, has gone out of business for lack of patronage.

For a few days after the saloon was dedicated by the Bishop, it was visited by throngs of curious people who assumed that there would be something unique about the place to distinguish it from the common, unsanctified gin mill, but when it was found to be only an ordinary saloon, decorated with a few scriptural texts, it ceased to be an attraction even to "slummers." Rounders avoided the place, because they had a vague notion that it was a sort of missionary "joint," in which the unregenerate would be urged to cut out hard drinks and flush their cauterized gullets with soda water.

The Bishop meant well, but his remarkable performance only brought down on his venerable head a storm of criticism and censure, and was utterly unavailing to raise the moral and social standard of the whisky shop. The fumes of red-eye, the exhalations of stale beer and the odor of sanctity would not mix.

AN ENEMY TO LOS ANGELES.

The Yellow Knocker of the Owens River project is doing its worst to muddle the minds of its readers and to misrepresent the plans of the engineers.

It professes to find a contradiction in the statements that private capital is ready to take up the project, and that the government would resume relinquished rights and go on with its irrigation project if the city should reject the Owens River scheme.

It is known to the Knocker that the government project extends south only to Fish Springs, and that the city's riparian options are below that point in the valley. The government might take the reservoir site on the Rickey ranch and complete its irrigation project, and yet the city's options below Fish Springs, including the power of Cottonwood Creek, would suffice for the basis of a power and irrigation enterprise.

The Knocker is becoming as puerile as it is vicious. A cement conduit, it says, is an absurdity, because an evil-disposed person could make a breach in it with a pickax. The city is now getting its water supply through a cement conduit that is not even protected by a covering of earth, but, strange to say, no person having the malicious disposition of a yellow journalist has broken into the conduit with a pickax.

What sort of a conduit would suit the chief engineer of Hearst's fake factory is not known, but no form of construction has been devised that could not be impaired seriously by an evil-disposed person with a stick of dynamite.

But it is idle to argue with the Knocker or to treat its pretended objections as worthy of serious refutation. The Hearst concern has taken a position of hostility to the welfare of Los Angeles and opposition to the unanimous desire of intelligent citizens for a prompt and adequate solution of the water problem. It is a stupid, vicious enemy to the city's interests, and its only method of attack is to lie persistently, malevolently and idiotically.

Its motives are as inconsequent as its assaults are ineffectual, and nothing it says or does can influence the mind of any man fit to be a citizen of Los Angeles.

The city must have more water or cease growing. Before the water of Owens River can be brought to the San Fernando basin, the need of a greater supply will be emphasized by a great increase in the number of consumers. More people are heading this way from the East than ever before, and the ebb tide of winter travel will, as always, leave a large permanent addition to the population. The city will be fortunate if the rainfall of the next four or five years is sufficient to keep the flow of the Los Angeles River up to the average and to avert the necessity of rigid economy in the use of water.

Owens Valley offers the only available and adequate supply of good water, and the engineers employed by the city have presented a feasible, well-considered plan for bringing it here. Mr. Mulholland is known throughout California as an expert on water supply and an experienced designer and builder of water works. He has constructed more pumping plants, conduits and works of that general character than most engineers in the State, and is a recognized authority whose advice is sought and valued. Mr. Mulholland has made surveys, plans and estimates of cost of the Owens River project, and every citizen of Los Angeles knows him to be honest and competent, and has entire confidence in his judgment.

It remains for a dogmatic ignoramus from Jayville-on-the-Hudson to tell the people of Los Angeles that Engineer Mulholland is a fool; that former Mayor Eaton, the Water Commissioners, the City Attorney and the Mayor are grafters; that the Government Geological Survey is a fake, and that the only man in Southern California who knows anything about water engineering and is not a grafter is himself, Lowenthal the Impossible.

IN THE BIG INDUSTRIES.

Canada as a Wheat Producer.

Canada now boldly calls herself "the granary of the world," and her claim to the title, in the near future at all events, is strikingly brought out by a series of calculations made by Prof. James Mavor of the University of Toronto. His report shows that in the province of Manitoba the acreage under wheat has advanced in the past twenty years from 261,000 acres to 2,412,000 acres, and the wheat production from 5,858,000 bushels to 29,000,000 bushels. The potentialities for commerce in these figures are revealed in the further fact that of the total 171,000,000 acres of arable land in the Northwest Territories, only 5,560,000 acres are under cultivation, and that with one-fourth of the arable land devoted to wheat there would be an annual crop of 500,000,000 bushels. Such a harvest would be sufficient to supply a home demand in Canada for a population of 20,000,000, besides providing for all the present requirements of Great Britain more than three times. Hence the strenuous efforts being put forth in the Dominion to attract population for the growing of the wheat and to provide the railroad facilities to handle the ever-increasing crops. The wheat lands of Manitoba, Assiniboia, Saskatchewan and Alberta are being rapidly taken up, largely by American farmers, and it is figures like the above that explain this movement of population.

Redwood for New York.

The first shipment of California redwood by the long sea route to New York will shortly be made. About the middle of November the ship Argyle will sail from Eureka with a million and a half feet of this lumber, and her cargo is expected to be delivered in April. Hitherto the redwood has been sent to the Eastern States by rail, and therefore in comparatively restricted amounts. One consignment has gone as far east as Philadelphia, but there is no record of any having ever been sent direct to New York. Therefore this big sea shipment of the favored wood will to all intents and purposes open up a new market. It is expected that the whole cargo will be sold long before its arrival in New York on terms that will net a handsome profit, so that a large and regular trade is likely to result from the experiment.

Camphor Helps Seeds to Germinate.

A use of camphor that is not generally known is to aid seed germination. According to a writer in the Journal of Agriculture most seeds are greatly hastened in their germination by being soaked previous to sowing in a pint of soft water in which a lump of camphor about the size of a walnut has been dissolved. This experiment has been found very successful with many varieties of vegetable seeds, such as peas, beans, etc., as well as with palms, castor oil and various other tropical seeds that have very hard shells. These latter sprout easily and readily after the camphor treatment. According to the same authority camphor can be equally well employed in stimulating cuttings of roses or other plants sent from one country to another. "Rose cuttings," for example, "posted in England, carry safely to India, and the stimulation caused by dipping their freshly-cut ends in camphor water helps greatly to enable them to take root when placed in the soil." On these premises it might be suggested that the effect of camphor in the operation of budding orange trees should be tried.

Transplanting Large Trees.

A new method of transplanting large trees is described in the American Inventor. It avoids altogether the handling of the tree by its trunk, so that the most vital as well as the most tender part, the bark, is saved from all possible injury. A heavy, flat steel ring, constructed in sections and six feet in diameter, is laid around the tree. The sections are then securely bolted together, so as to form a rigid platform. In the ring at regular intervals are apertures, with guides, through which curved shovels are driven down. These practically enclose the tree roots in a circular steel basket. The transporter, a bottomless circular wagon with an opening at the rear, is now backed into position, so that the tree trunk occupies its center. Then hoists, pulling on the steel basket, lift the latter up bodily, with tree, roots and earth. The tree is then made to recline at an angle, and the transporter is driven to the spot where the replanting is to take place. This process is simply a reversal of the former one, the tree being hoisted back into an upright position, the steel basket dropped into the hole ready for its reception, the shovels removed, one by one, and all holes filled with earth properly tamped down. Two men can work the entire apparatus, and so little injury is done to the tree that the leaves do not even wilt. Transplanting by this process is successful any month of the year, although spring and fall are preferred. It is held to be an important point that the tree, in its new position, should stand exactly as it grew originally to the points of the compass. The thorough soaking of the roots and earth a day before the removal is also insisted on as a condition essential to the best results.

Electricity in the Home.

A recommendation is made by the Electrical World and Engineer that electric-lighting companies should be prepared to lend to likely customers for a free trial the varied apparatus for electrical heating, cooking and other domestic purposes. The devices can be such as may be connected directly to the lamp sockets and require no additional house wiring—small stoves, flatirons, chafing dishes, curlers, griddles, etc. In this way the public will be taught the convenience and the reliability of the appliances, and a much larger demand for the electric current during the day, when it is not required for lighting, will be created. The business, also, in selling the cooking and other equipment would be considerable. There is a widespread belief that these appliances are costly, elaborate, and difficult to operate, and their cheapness and simplicity have only to be shown to make them at once popular. With the majority of purchasers the convenience of the particular device wanted would prove the determining factor, the cost of the power being given but small consideration. But it is claimed that in most cities now the cost of operation is well within the reach of the ordinary consumer, while there are advantages in the use of electrical apparatus—cleanliness, saving of wear and tear, no need of constant supervision, etc., that more than compensate for any slight extra expense involved. Current, moreover, is steadily becoming cheaper.

PROMINENT PERSONS.

Prince Peter Kropotkin, the famous social reformer, now resides at Bromley, Eng.

Admiral Evans has been asked by the crew of the battleship Missouri to assign a mule to the ship as mascot.

"Buddie" Krupp, a Kentucky mountain boy, walked eighty miles in two days from Morehead to secure a place as school teacher.

Henry Marr, a farmer who lives near Columbus, Bartholomew county, Ind., is said to be the center man of the entire population of the United States.

While pursuing a mouse the other day, Mme. Delatour of Paris broke through the floor of her room and discovered a box containing $1000 in gold coin.

If Lord Templemore, who lately celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday, is not the oldest peer he is without doubt "father" of the House of Lords, of which he has been a member for sixty-three years.

Though W. P. Frith, R.A., is 86 years of age, he nevertheless works all day long at his easel, and is at present engaged in doing replicas of the famous pictures with, which his name will ever be associated.

James Boyle, recently United States Consul at Liverpool has taken up his permanent residence in England. He is general manager of an American company which is doing an immense business at Liverpool in coaling ships by machinery.

Thomas E. Watson is negotiating for the purchase of Gunston Hall, Fairfax county Va., and proposes quitting Georgia for good and making his home near the national capital, where he can keep in closer touch with national events.

The Chicago Commercial Association has selected Curt M. Treat of that city to become manager of the new Chicago Convention Bureau, the object of which is to secure conventions of every character for that city.

Henry H. Rogers, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, arrives at his office and departs at exactly 10:20 in the morning and 3:30 in the afternoon. One morning recently the veteran watchman who stands at the Broadway entrance to the building was seen to take out his watch when Mr. Rogers hurried in, took at it and confidently set it forward ten minutes.

Mrs. Edison has but one speech to his credit. He was to lecture on electricity before a girls' seminary and was to be assisted by a friend named Adams to work the apparatus. He was so dazed when he arose that he simply said: "Ladies, Mr. Adams will now address you on electricity and I will demonstrate what he has to say with the apparatus."

Mrs. Mackay, the widow of the bonanza king, J. W. Mackay, is an enthusiastic collector of curios, particularly those of copper and brass, and she has a wonderfully interesting collection. Part of it consists of a large number of candlesticks, nearly 200 in all, every one of which has some association, either historic or personal, for Mrs. Mackay does not care to add anything that is not interesting in some way or other, no matter how beautiful it may be.

Penalty Doesn't Deter.

Since the day that Adam sunk his incisors into the apple, pleasure has always been the precursor of pain, happiness of misery, joy of sorrow, peace of war, health of pills.

Smoking cigars causes heart disease.

Eating hot biscuits causes dyspepsia.

Late rising causes apoplexy.

Automobiling causes broken legs.

Eating terrapin causes gout.

Spending money causes appendicitis.

Drinking champagne causes headaches.

Being a millionaire causes that tired feeling.

Owning a private yacht causes seasickness.

Flirting causes scandals.

All of these things are admitted, but nevertheless that does't deter the average American from accomplishing the acts mentioned whenever he can, or from envying those who can when he can't.—[Baltimore Herald.

Brave American Firemen.

Comparatively few extensive fires occur in large cities, more especially in such as are largely given to manufacturing, without giving occasion for the display among the men whose business it is to protect the community from fire of heroic qualities not often surpassed in war, which has been regarded as the peculiar theater of the hero.—[Chicago Chronicle.

OLD MEMORIES.

We're riding in automobiles for a while
And making the nations all stare,
But who knows when Dame Fashion with softly beguile
Us back to the old sedan chair?
And then as the cycle is rapidly told,
Sans sorrow, sans pride or remorse,
We may yet revert to that creature of old,
The dear, little Eocene Horse.

How often I think of those days when, perhaps,
I journeyed from tree unto tree,
Or covered the earth with my reptilian laps
Or swam in the depths of the sea.
But oftener yet, in those hours which one spends
In autos and Pullmans so grand,
I think of the days with my Eocene friends,
For I rode them, of course, in some land.

Who would not this minute his auto and T,
The Subway and trolley give up
To hitch to his chariot a score, it may be,
Of nags just the size of a pup?
Oh, glad were those moments, and joyous, I know,
When sideways or straddled across,
I rode, in some shape, through the world's dawning glow
On the back of the Eocene Horse.

Now the Ex-Lord Mayor Sees Los Angeles.

Sir Henry Knight Says This Weather Isn't Hot.

Public Ownership Makes Life Like a Car Ride.

Sir Henry Edmund Knight, Alderman or life of London, and former Lord ayor of the greatest city, is "doing" os Angeles.

Sir Henry is, above all things, a ood-natured chap. He radiates a mplacent good cheer, even on a warm ay. He has a lifetime cinch on his ob as Alderman and enjoys the privige not given an American politician having opinions of his own and voicg them freely whenever he feels so clined.

For instance, what American statesan would have dared utter an opinn on the weather yesterday? But r Henry says it is all right and not but as it was cracked up to be by e weather man.

"Why, just look at me," commanded e former chief of Lunnon town as vainly attempted to peer over the prism at the lower button of his vest. This is not hot. I haven't even taken r my waistcoat"—he said "westcut."

"Don't you know, I haven't seen a aper in weeks. Don't need to. The sporters keep me posted. Funny lot, on't you think? Sometimes they get e out of bed at 2 o'clock in the morng to tell me all the news. Then they sk me what I know. Now, what do ou think of that?

"Sorry to hear that Japan has conluded peace at the cost of giving up o much of what she had won. She eserved all she wrung from the Rusians, but perhaps it's as well they quit fighting. Russia probably wouldn't ave had any kind of a government ft for anyone to treat with, if they ad kept at it a little longer. Presdent Roosevelt's a great chap, isn't he, r?

"Oh, my, my no, I am not in politics, ou know." Then Sir Henry hastened explain what a great thing it is to e an Alderman of London. One is lected for life. Ye shades of Dick rokne, think of that!

"A London Alderman.. also explains ir Henry, is elected with some regard his supposed fitness to hold down e job and the lid with distinction, nd not through his ability to pay for ore beer than the other fellow.

Since away back in 1347, Sir Henry as been a servant of the people, when e was chosen a member of the Corporation Board of London. Then he ecame Alderman and was made heriff of the city, and boss of the own, his keys and grisly history.

Then he was Lord Mayor of London or a year. No man can hold the job ore than a year. It has to be assed around, and is especially imortant when there is a king or a ueen to be crowned. Then the Lord ayor carries a crystal mace, occuies a prominent position at the cereony, and presents the crownee a up of wine in a magnificent solid old cup. After the new ruler has ad the Lord Mayor takes the up, keeps it in his pocket, and keeps forever after. But during his adinistration Sir Henry had to let the ust accumulate on his crystal mace, nd fails to win the gold cup.

Monday Sir Henry will leave, for ome by way of the Grand Cañon. He is going to steer clear of Kansas. He has promised views "again" the way they look at things in Kansas.

Sir Henry believes in freight rebates, nd says that if the Standard Oil Comany is the largest customer of the ailroads the surely it ought to have ome encouragement above that of the mall shipper, who doesn't amount to much, anyway. So it's lucky for ir Henry that he isn't going through ansas. The bans might get him.

Neither does the distinguished visor believe in government ownership f public utilities. It makes the govrnment tend too much toward the paernal, he says. The tendency must nevitably be made to make the peole too dependent.

"Life will come to be like a streetar ride. You simply pay the fare, nd don't attempt to take a hand in it ourself. It will prove deadly to ealthy ambition. And I am unalterbly opposed to the thing in principle nd practice. But I do think that the overnment should exercise some conol over corporations which serve the ublic, in order that the rights of the eople may be properly safeguarded.

"Russia a menace to our interests in sia? No, never, least of all now. ussia is dangerous to no one but herelf. Her defeat means the beginning f reform at home, the overthrow of he worst, most despotic and brutal overnment on the face of the earth, nd through Japanese supremacy, the eginning of the development of the rient.

"No, I believe the Japanese are goig to make good world citizens. They re ambitious in the right direction, nd they are indomitable in anything hey set about doing. My sympathies re entirely with the little brown en."

Sir Henry and his umbrella are travling entirely alone. Few Britons now the United States better than e. He has many times traveled all ver the country, but until the present e has never visited Los Angeles.

"I just couldn't ignore Los Angeles ny longer." Everywhere I go I have eard so much of this wonderful city hat I felt I would be doing myself a reat injustice in not paying it a visit hile I have arrived, I have discovred that missing it would have been ne greatest mistake of my trip hrough Canada and the United States. os Angeles strikes me just right."

partaken, the Lord Mayor takes the p, sticks it in his pocket, and keeps it forever after. But during his administration Sir Henry had to let the dust accumulate on his crystal mace,
and failed to win the gold cup.
Monday, Sir Henry will leave for home by way of the Grand Cañon. He is going to steer clear of Kansas. He has pronounced views "again" the way they look at things in Kansas.
Sir Henry believes in freight rebates,
and says that if the Standard Oil Company is the biggest customer of the railroads that surely it ought to have some encouragement above that of the small shipper, who doesn't amount to so much, anyhow. So it's lucky for
Sir Henry that he isn't going through
Kansas. The Indians might get him.
Neither does the distinguished visitor believe in government ownership of public utilities. It makes the government tend too much toward the paternal, he says. "The tendency must inevitably be made to make the people too dependent.
"Life will come to be like a streetcar ride. You simply pay the fare, and don't attempt to take a hand in it yourself. It will prove deadly to healthy ambition. And I am unalterably opposed to the thing in principle and practice. But I do think that the government should exercise some control over corporations which serve the public, in order that the rights of the people may be properly safeguarded.
"Russia a menace to our interests in India? No, never, least of all now.
Russia is dangerous to no one but herself. Her defeat means the beginning of reform at home, the overthrow of the worst, most despotic and brutal government on the face of the earth, and through Japanese supremacy, the beginning of the development of the Orient.
"No, I believe the Japanese are going to make good world citizens. They are ambitious in the right direction, and they are indomitable in anything they set about doing. My sympathies are entirely with the little brown men."
Sir Henry and his umbrella are traveling entirely alone. Few Britons know the United States better than he. He has many times traveled all over the country, but until the present he has never visited Los Angeles.
"I just couldn't ignore Los Angeles any longer." Everywhere I go I have heard so much of this wonderful city that I felt I would be doing myself a great injustice in not paying it a visit since I have arrived. I have discovered that missing it would have been the greatest mistake of my trip through Canada and the United States.
Los Angeles strikes me just right."

Camp Roosevelt, U.S.W.V., Buy up Entire Sittings at Burbank Theater to See "The Mizzourian."

Members of Camp Roosevelt, No. 9, United Spanish War Veterans, with their wives, sisters or sweethearts, took complete possession of the Burbank Theater last night to witness the presentation of the play, "The Mizzourian."
On the entire lower floor the Spanish War veterans were in uniform. The house was appropriately decorated in red, white and blue bunting and many flags, and an ingenious flag curtain was used during the performance.
Between the second and third acts members of Camp Roosevelt gave bugle calls and delineation of camp life.
The camp realized a handsome sum from the affair, and this is to be placed to the credit of its relief fund.
This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will be a meeting at the Grand Pacific Hotel of all ladies interested in organizing an auxiliary to Camp Roosevelt. Every woman who is a mother, sister, wife or daughter of a Spanish War veteran is eligible to membership, and is invited to be present.
Camp Roosevelt has engaged for its meeting place the hall at No. 220 South Main street, and will hold sessions there every Thursday night.

HE HELD LID ON "LUNNON."

Now the Ex-Lord Mayor Sees Los Angeles.

Sir Henry Knight Says This Weather Isn't Hot.

Public Ownership Makes Life Like a Car Ride.

Sir Henry Edmund Knight, Alderman
e life of London, and former Lord ayor of the greatest city, is "doing" s Angeles.

Sir Henry is, above all things, a od-natured chap. He radiates a nplacent good cheer, even on a warm
y. He has a lifetime cinch on his b as Alderman and enjoys the privie not given an American politician having opinions of his own and voic-them freely whenever he feels so clined.

For instance, what American states-an would have dared utter an opin-n on the weather yesterday? But r Henry says it is all right and not hot as it was cracked up to be by e weather man.

"Why, just look at me," commanded e former chief of Lunnon town as vainly attempted to peer over the rison at the lower button of his vest.
This is not hot. I haven't even taken f my waistcoat"—he said "westcut."
"Don't you know, I haven't seen a per in weeks. Don't need to. The porters keep me posted. Funny lot, n't you think? Sometimes they get e out of bed at 2 o'clock in the morng to tell me all the news. Then they k me what I know. Now, what do u think of that?

"Sorry to hear that Japan has conuded peace at the cost of giving up much of what she had won. She served all she wrung from the Rus-ans. But perhaps it's as well they lt fighting. Russia probably wouldn't ve had any kind of a government t for anyone to treat with, if they d kept at it a little longer. Presint Roosevelt's a great chap, isn't he, w?

"Oh, my, my no, I am not in politics, u know." Then Sir Henry hastened explain what a great thing it is to an Alderman of London. One is ected for life. Ye shades of Dick roker, think of that!

A London Alderman, also explains r Henry, is elected with some regard his supposed fitness to hold down job and the lid with distinction, d not through his ability to pay for re beers than the other fellow.

Since away back in 1867, Sir Henry s been a servant of the people, when was chosen a member of the Cor-ration Board of London. Then he came Alderman and was made eriff of the city, and boss of the ower, its keys and grisly history.
Then he was Lord Mayor of London
r a year. No man can hold the job r more than a year. It has to be assed around, and is especially imrtant when there is a king or a ueen to be crowned. Then the Lord ayor carries a crystal mace, occu-s a prominent position at the cereonial, and presents the crownee a p of wine in a magnificent solid old cup. After the new ruler has pended, the Lord Mayor takes the up, sticks it in his pocket, and keeps t forever after. But during his administration Sir Henry had to let the dust accumulate on his crystal mace,
and failed to win the gold cup.

Monday, Sir Henry will leave for home by way of the Grand Cañon. He is going to steer clear of Kansas. He has pronounced views "agin" the way they look at things in Kansas.

Sir Henry believes in freight rebates,
and says that if the Standard Oil Company is the biggest customer of the railroads that surely it ought to have some encouragement above that of the small shipper, who doesn't amount to so much, anyhow. So it's lucky for
Sir Henry that he isn't going through
Kansas. The Indians might get him.

Neither does the distinguished visitor believe in government ownership of public utilities. It makes the government tend too much toward the paternal, he says. "The tendency must inevitably be made to make the people too dependent.

bly opposed to the thing in principle and practice. But I do think that the government should exercise some control over corporations which serve the people may be properly safeguarded.

"Russia a menace to our interests in self. Her defeat means the beginning of reform at home, the overthrow of the worst, most despotic and brutal

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1893, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

Store Open Saturday Evenings Now

Commencing Saturday, September 2nd, the Staub Shoe Store will be open Saturday afternoons and evenings until 10 o'clock.

These hours will be continued until next Summer, when we will again pursue the same policy we have in the past two months—of closing Saturdays at noon.

Every employee in the Staub Store has had a ten days' vacation on full pay, besides having every Saturday afternoon off during July and August.

Many of our customers have helped us carry out the Saturday half-holiday idea by doing their shoe buying earlier in the week or Saturday mornings—and we thank them.

We have preparations in progress for doing the largest Fall and Winter business we have yet done. The styles, varieties, qualities, we shall show will astonish even those who know what we have done in past years. And we expect to more than ever deserve our reputation of being the finest and most complete shoe store on the Coast.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

NEVER had a handsomer bride knelt before the gleaming white altar of Christ Episcopal Church to receive a nuptial blessing than was kissed by the rays of its shining cross last evening, when Miss Mary Babcock became the wife of Daniel Hinds Laubersheimer.

The solemn words of the holy rite were pronounced by Rev. Baker T. Lee, while the exquisite improvisation of Prof. Thomas Wilde poured forth a soft flood of melody from the deep-toned organ.

The church had been prepared for the bridal by loving hands and its natural beauty was enhanced by the tall plumes of the pampas grasses that adorned the chancel rail and were fastened with the blooms of pink geranium, pink and green being the colors used in the artistic effect.

A bridal bell of green starred over with pale pink asters with a clapper of the flowers hung over the stairway leading into the sanctuary, and upon the altar were vases of the same soft blooms. The pews for the family were railed off with strands of white tulle intwined with smilax and terminating with great fluffy bows.

Long ere the hour for the service the church was filled with the throng of friends, who had come to witness one of the weddings of the season.

A music programme was given by Prof. Wilde, which merged into one of the wedding marches as the party approached, the ushers leading the procession down the broad church aisle. Roy Hillman, Clinton Ball of San Francisco, Calvin Green and Dr. Charles Freedman were the ushers.

They were followed by Miss Isabel Ingle of San Diego, gowned in white and carrying pink tiger lilies, and by Mrs. Roy Hillman, another attendant walking alone and similarly garbed, carrying the same great tiger lilies. The matron of honor, Mrs. Herbert Leroy Jones, sister of the bride wore an imported robe of rich lace, with twisted girdle of green panne velvet and she carried a cluster of white lilies.

The dainty little flower girl, Grace Dowling, wore an airy frock of white and scattered petals of pink roses before the fair bride.

Miss Babcock's stately beauty was something to remember, clad in the wedding robes of gleaming white satin. The garb became her rarely, the gown being trimmed with a bertha of real lace and a tulle veil sweeping in soft folds about the figure. The veil was fastened with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Herbert Leroy Jones of Chicago untered with the bride and gave her away. Mr. Laubersheimer and his best man, Dr. George Laubersheimer, meeting them at one side of the chancel. Eight hundred invitations had been issued for the church and a number of social leaders were present in spite of the fact that so many are out of town. At the home only the bridal party were received and a wedding supper was served, the young couple leaving last evening for a wedding journey, which will continue until late in the fall, when they will return and later on will occupy a home which is now being built for them in the Arroyo Seco.

MRS. DANIEL HINDS LAUBERSHEIMER.

Miss Ethel Kennedy and Richard J. Finn, who will be married this morning.

Bond-Frost.

The University Methodist Church was the scene of a beautiful, though simple wedding last evening, when another one of its favorites, Miss Alice Bond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Passmore Bond, became the bride of Howard Frost, a young business man of the city.

A mass of greenery was arranged in front of the choir loft and the chancel rail, and at intervals the living green was broken by the great clusters of snowy asters, giving a rarely beautiful effect.

The organist of the church, Roy Christ played the wedding marches, and the Rev. Dr. Healey, pastor of the church performed the ceremony, according to the Episcopal service, used by many of the churches.

The slender young bride wore a smart frock of white silk crepe over taffeta. The yoke and the half sleeves were fashioned of many tiny frills of real valenciennes lace, and the skirt was made with panel front and a deep flounce forming a demi-train. Her veil of tulle was fastened with lilies of the valley, and instead of flowers, she carried a white prayer book.

The maid of honor, Miss Edith Bond, the bride's sister, was gowned in pale green silk gauze made over taffeta silk, with high panne velvet girdle and embroidered applique trimming. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

J. Reid Kirdpatrick, acted as best man and the ushers were Bruce Hess and George W. Jepson, the bride's father giving her away.

Only the family were received with the bridal party at the residence after the conclusion of the ceremony and the young couple left for a trip to various points in the North to be gone about a month.

Miss Bond is an exceedingly popular girl and has many friends in Los Angeles. She is a graduate of the Los Angeles High School and a member of the D.O.T. Sorority of Occidental College.

Morning Wedding.

At the home of Mrs. Alonzo Baily of No. 1002 South Burlington avenue the marriage of her sister, Miss Ethel Tupper Kennedy, to Richard James Finn of Minas Prietas, Mex., will be solemnized this morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. B. F. Boller performing the ceremony.

The home has been artistically decorated for the occasion with smilax and pink carnations, and a number of guests have been asked to witness the marriage.

Miss Kennedy, who is the daughter of Mrs. Jane Kennedy, was for quite awhile connected with the civil service in Manila and her prospective husband is a mining man. While in Manila Miss Kennedy learned to love the beautiful filmy pina cloth of the Filipinos and her wedding gown has been made of pina cloth of a creamy tint. Her veil will be of tulle and she will carry a shower bouquet of roses.

Little Gertrude Bailey, her niece, will act as ring bearer, and the bridegroom's niece, Christine Luy, will be the flower girl.

Miss Wynette Bailey will be the maid of honor and the best man chosen is the bride's brother, R. M. Kennedy.

The young couple will catch the noon train which will carry them to their future home in Minas Prietas, Mex.

Birthday Dinner.

Mrs. R. A. Parker gave a dinner Tuesday evening at her handsome Figueroa-street home in honor of the birthday of her guest, Miss Mary Eva Billings, who, in company with the hostess's sister, Mrs. Youngs of Philadelphia, Pa., is spending the summer here.

Soft garlands of asparagus plumosus were about the rooms, while clusters of pink roses and carnations gave a touch of delicate color. The table was decorated with a pleasing arrangement of pink satin ribbon, ferns and carnations. Covers were laid for ten.

Miss Billings has made many friends since her arrival here, and several social affairs are to be given in her honor before her departure for the East.

House Party.

A house party was given this week by Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Shepard of Shepard's Inn, in honor of Miss Rae Shepard, who is spending her summer vacation with her parents at their Carpinteria home. About forty guests friends and relatives of the little miss, were present. A ball was given in the evening, and the young people danced to the strains of sweet music until the early hours. At midnight refreshments were served under the oaks. The following day a barbecue was given on the picnic grounds at the inn, and all present enjoyed the day. The third day was spent in horseback riding and automobiling, after which the guests departed, after a most enjoyable time. The guests were: Miss Rae Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Deval, Mr. and Mrs. George Thurmond, Sam Shepard, M. D. L. Todd, Hunter Thurmond, Mrs. Carswell, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Keller, Misses Grue, Lawrence Slosson, Walter Keller, Donald Andrews, Fred Hogue, Mrs. Claire Kirch, Miss Hazel Kirch, Mrs. George Zomley, Mrs. Edwin Zomley, Miss Margaret Lowe, Harry Sexton, Thomas Lowe, Miss Grace Squire, R. Lowe, Stewart Slosson, Master Edwin Zomley.

"SIMPLE LIFE" SIMPLY WED.

NO UNNECESSARY WORDS FOR THIS CEREMONY.

Advocates of Uncooked Foods and Believers in Plain Existence United, and Supper Unmarred by Touch or Smell of Fire Served—No Tour for Them.

One of the simplest weddings, perhaps, ever celebrated in Los Angeles was that of Miss Anna Louise Ambrose and Edgar Wallace Conable, both fruitarians and believers in the "Simple Life."

MRS. E. W. CONABLE.

No unnecessary word was spoken during the ceremony, which took place last night. The bonds of wedlock were tied by Rev. D. L. Jenkins, pastor of the West Temple Congregational Church, who is also a believer in the tenets of those who prefer, of all things, nuts, fruits and uncooked food.

Few and short were the words of greeting spoken to the blushing bride by the dozen or more guests assembled, as every effort was made to do away with formality.

The marriage was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, No. 145 South Griffin avenue, and many curious ones gathered, outside the house, to watch the splicing of the knot.

There was, however, little that would distinguish the ceremony from the ordinary ritualistic service, and though the bride was not compelled to "obey" her liege lord, the service was not robbed of one whit of reverence.

There was an absence of all cooked foods at the wedding supper, and the guests were obliged perforce to enjoy the tempting salads and fruits on which the smell of fire had not passed.

The groom, who is a well preserved man in middle life, is the editor of "The Pathfinder," a journal which advocates a diet of uncooked food.

The young bride, who is an admirer of these simple teachings, is in full accord with the man of her choice, and at their pretty home in Pasadena, where a cottage has been built at the intersection of Penn and Los Robles avenues, both will continue to teach the plain-food doctrines.

Because a wedding tour usually follows the ordinary marriage ceremony the bride and groom chose to omit the formality, and took a street car en route to their cozy little home near the foothills.

The following-named were guests: Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Ambrose, father and mother of the bride; Mrs. Mary A. S. Amet, Mrs. Walter James, Miss Maud Johnson, Miss Grace Boal, Messrs. W. b. and F. F. Ambrose, E. G. Vestal, Frank Cooper.

For the first time in its picturesque history as an entertainer of the great American public, Barnum & Bailey's circus is coming to Los Angeles. The show will arrive here in its special train September 25, and will pitch its city of tents on the Prager tract at Washington street and Grand avenue.

For two days and nights on the 25th and 26th, the wonders of the great double menagerie and three-ringed circus will be exhibited for the edification of little boys and girls, and their papas and mammas and other grown relatives who will find it imperatively necessary to take the youngsters to see the show.

Tody Hamilton, the advance agent, promises many new and varied attractions, and acts startlin, picturesque nd wonderful.

A RECENT traveler to Tahiti remarks: For a tired-out business man, a nervously-exhausted individual, this is the ideal ocean passage, possessing advantages which probably are not to be fount in any other part of the world. Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word; minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1895, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

MYRTLE GRAHAM, the modest Covina lassie, made the highest score yesterday and goes up the rounds of the score ladder from 13 to 11. This increases her cash prize by $5.00 and gives her considerable preference in the matter of scholarships.

Gesfeha Brunjes might have made a considerable advance had coupons and subscriptions voted for her arrived a few minutes earlier. Bel Skidmore, the leader last year, has made a canvass in favor of the Azusa singer. She arrived with her prize package a few minutes after 6 o'clock, too late to get them into the count. Had these points arrived the Brunjes girl would have gone into the cash prizes.

Ernest Waldo Stein received 1354 votes, which is a good day's record for a boy who is very much occupied in managing a milk route.

Harold Beeson gathered 1295 votes and puts himself that much nearer to the Whittier College scholarship, which he seeks. He will have to go up the ladder higher than he is now if he secures that valuable prize. But Beeson has run into good luck recently and he has confidence in his future.

Louise Scherer continues to put in every minute to the bettering of her score. She is a practical girl. She knows that values do not often "fall to people. She looks for them. She never folds her hands and waits. She goes out into the highways and byways of trade and asks for subscriptions. Many places where she applies she gets no encouragement, much less the subscription which she asks for, but she continues the quest until her labor is rewarded. Yesterday she gathered 1173 points.

Leroy Miller, "the little soldier," made a conquest of 1090 votes yesterday. He has been making a remarkable campaign.

F. Carl Ewing, the Hollywood favorite, goes up the line by the addition to her score of 2077 points.

Helen Pitner, the parson's daughter, collected 1574 points and her face beams with hope and confidence.

Mable C. Soule betters her prospects by 1183 votes. She has her field well laid out and wastes little time in making fruitless calls.

John A. Wharton at the Soldiers' Home gathered 2108 scholarship votes [illegible] worker, John took the latter.

ALONG THE RIALTO.

President D. M. Linnard of the Board of Trade, who is ill in San Francisco, suffered a slight relapse yesterday, according to advices received here, but his condition is by no means alarming. The patient has been taken to the Mercantt Hospital from Hotel St. Francis for a second operation.

Leading members of Pasadena's lodge of Elks are perfecting arrangements to go in a body to the annual Grand Lodge session at Denver next year. Extensive preparations include the chartering of a special train for those who contemplate the trip.

MYRTLE GRAHAM, the modest Covina lassie, made the high score yesterday and goes up the rounds of the score ladder from 13 to 11. This increases her cash prize by $5.50 and gives her considerable preference in the matter of scholarships.

Gusetta Brunjes might have made a considerable advance had coupons and subscriptions voted for her arrived a few minutes earlier. Bel Skidmore, the leader last year, has made a canvass in favor of the Azusa singer. She arrived with her prize package a few minutes after 6 o'clock, too late to get them into the count. Had these points arrived the Brunjes girl would have gone into the cash prizes.

Ernest Waldo Stein received 1354 votes, which is a good day's record for a boy who is very much occupied in managing a milk route.

Harold Beeson gathered 1285 votes and puts himself that much nearer to the Whittier College scholarship, which he seeks. He will have to go up the ladder higher than he is now if he secures a very valuable prize. But Beeson has run into good luck recently and he has confidence in his future.

Louise Scherer continues to put in every minute to the bettering of her score. She is a practical girl. She knows that values do not often "all to people. She looks for them. She never folds her hands and waits. She goes out into the highways and byways of trade and asks for subscriptions. Many places where she applies she gets no encouragement, much less the subscription which she asks for, but she continues the quest until her labor is rewarded. Yesterday she gathered 1173 points.

Leroy Miller, "the little soldier," made a conquest of 1090 votes yesterday. He has been making a remarkable campaign.

F. Carl Ewing, the Hollywood favorite, goes up the line by the addition to her score of 2077 points.

Helen Pitner, the parson's daughter, collected 1574 points and her face beams with hope and confidence.

Mable C. Soule betters her prospects by 1163 votes. She has her field well laid out and wastes little time in making fruitless calls.

John A. Wharton at the Soldiers' Home gathered 2108 scholarship votes and nursed sick soldiers during all the hours of his regular shift of duty.

Bertha Fessenden must have been attending Baptist revivals lately. She has been doing very well in her scholarship efforts. This race for a scholarship is a serious business with this girl. For several years she has been making her way at housework at which she is said to be very much in demand. Now she wants to elevate herself, in her own and in the world's estimation by qualifying herself to do something more remunerative. Her vote yesterday was 2261 points.

Blanche Cunningham, the drummer's daughter, turned in 3012 points yesterday. She is now making a persistent canvass to recover ground which she has been losing for two weeks. She has not the large acquaintance to draw upon in the closing days of the contest that many of the contestants have. She is a stranger in Los Angeles.

Anna McNaughton, the Pomona favorite, sent in 3127 votes yesterday and has lots of business in sight. Pomona has lots of room to own and the banger of gospel hymns has friends in every town in Southern California, besides her loyal acquaintances in Pomona.

Carrie Macioskey gathered 3535 votes and is as vivacious and cheerful after every hard day's work as though to live is divine. She never complains about anything nor about anybody. She smiles on the world, a sincere honest and innocent smile, and the world receives her well. Whatever this girl does is well done.

The following are all high-markers; here are the scores they earned yesterday: Earle V. Weller 3378, Bruce Moore 3668, Tessie Tag 3655, Merle Melvin 3576.

Yesterday's scores produced twenty-one changes in the relative positions of contestants, as follows:

Minnie Ponedel 11 to 12, Iva Engel 12 to 13, Myrtle Graham 13 to 11, Albert Capron 15 to 16, Blanche Cunningham 16 to 15, Louise Scherer 20 to 21, Jessie Mae King 21 to 22, Anna McNaughton 22 to 20, Leroy Miller 24 to 25, Bertha Fesenden 25 to 24, Hazel Doyle 26 to 28, Edna Schrock 28 to 29, Tessie Tag 29 to 26, Meta Brunjes 30 to 32, Robert Lee Scott 31 to 30, Wm. C. O'Connor 41 to 42, Elsie Jean Brebner 42 to 43, Charlie Yglesias 43 to 44, Harold C. Beeson 44 to 41, Thomas E. Greer 46 to 47, E. Waldo Stein 47 to 46.

WILL END.

The Times Scholarship Contest will end at midnight September 6. To be counted, subscriptions and coupons must bear postmark not later than that hour and date. The last coupon will be printed in The Times next Sunday.

Librarian Lummis to List "Prominent Citizens."

All Who Alike to Fortune and to Fame are Known.

Money for It Appropriated by Library Board.

Los Angeles is to have an official roster of its "560" prominent citizens.

Acting on the recommendation of the City Librarian, the Library Board last night appropriated a sum of money for the purpose of securing biographical sketches of prominent Los Angeles people now living—presumably a plan of getting obituary notices to keep in stock for future reference. The biographies will be made a part of the library records.

When the resolution was offered Director Wright facetiously suggested that the prominent-citizen list should be prepared with great care, and that none of the officers of the Friday Morning Club should be omitted.

In his bi-weekly report City Librarian Lummis took occasion to cast a few verbal brickbats in the direction of one Melville Dewey.

Here is what his report has to say about the "Dewey classification:"

"The decimal system invented by Mr. Melville Dewey is a monumental work, but has—as all universal systems have—some reductions to the absurd. These are particularly aggravated by the condensation of a small bulletin. The absurd classifying of hop-scotch, checkers and progressive euchre, canoeing, guns and ammunition under the 'Fine Arts;' and a biography of Shakespeare under the name of James Jenkins, who happened to write it; Dr. Eastman's book of Indian hunters and their relations to game under 'Natural Science;' and all this sort of thing, is a little too much."

WORK FOR HIMSELF.

Mr. Lummis proposed to the Library Board that he be instructed to prepare copy for publication of a compact dictionary of California and western place-names.

"I beg to urge," says the Librarian in his report, "that this library is now of sufficient importance to put forth some publication of its own which shall have a real place among scholars." And he continues:

"I would very much like to see this library sponsor for the first adequate publication in the world of a compact dictionary of California and western place names, their derivation, their meaning, and (when necessary) their pronunciation. In 1902 the United States Geological Survey put out such a list. 'The Origin of Certain Place-Names in the United States, by Henry Gannett,' a monograph of 290 pages. Here is the second edition of 1905, greatly enlarged. Both are so full of blunders, as you may see by this marked copy, as to have no reliable value for the West. Furthermore, the method pursued is as far from critical as it well could be—though the work deserves credit for a great deal of patience and labor. In 1903 a school teacher of Long Beach printed in this city an eighty-page brochure, 'California Names and Their Literal Meaning, etc., by C. Drake.' This also shows hard work, but is even more inadequate. And there are others. But there does not exist in the world today any work or collection of gazetteers covering this important ground. The resources of this library were taxed in vain the other day for the derivation of the now famous place-name, 'Owens River.'

"I recommend that this library undertake to fulfill by an official publication this long-felt want, and I am willing to undertake the preparation of copy. Such a publication should be sold, as the finding list of this library is, and it would have an immediate and lasting sale at any reasonable price.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Director Marshutz pricked up his ears at the recommendation and asked about the probable cost of the proposed publication.

"It will cost nothing to compile the copy," answered the librarian. "I shall do that, with the assistance of my staff."

"Then I move that the librarian be instructed to prepare the data for such publication," said Marshutz. And the motion carried unanimously.

"Almost as bad as New York sweat shops," is the vigorous description which Mr. Lummis gives of the quarters in which the training class works during the hot season. On this text he last night based the following spicy appeal for a new library building:

"If the public forgets the need of a new library building, none of us have the chance to forget it. The urgent necessity of adequate quarters for this library becomes more aggravated every day. The present housing is neither secure, hygienic, nor adequate as to space. The 120,000 volumes are not safe. The public has frequently to wait while an attendant rummages in the cellar or the garret. Attendants have not only to employ in this the time for which they are paid, but many of them have also to work in quarters which, at this season, are almost as bad as a New York sweatshop. I think that if the whole population of the city, official and lay, has visited the attic workrooms of this library during the last three days, there would be a popular demand for better quarters. According to instructions received from this board at the time of my appointment, I have taken up the matter of the library plans and site and am securing such data as will be useful. Certainly no intelligent person who examines the present situation will deny the crying necessity of a change; and it is my opinion that activity to secure a library building such as cities of this size are expected to possess should be begun as soon as digested plans can be presented, an dthen urged to a finish."

"TOO MANY LIBERTIES."

Mr. Lummis displays an inclination to curtail the "perquisites" of city officials in so far as they affect the library. He last night informed the board as follows:

"It has long been an unwritten rule that reference books and periodicals should be loaned to all city officials, and this has been done in a loose fashion. I have given instructions that only principals of departments shall be allowed to make such loans and with the approval of the librarian and the taking of a formal signed receipt."

Each recommendation of the librarian was adopted by the board. Director Marshutz objected to a few minor suggestions embodying the expenditure of money, but the other directors persuaded him that they were "for the good of the service."

About $250 was ordered expended in the purchase of files of newspapers and magazines.

In the absence of President Trueworthy, who is confined to his home by injuries received in a recent street-car smash-up, Director Rodman presided as temporary chairman. He declined to vote for the payment of Mr. Lummis's salary for the month of August, but the other three directors passed the demand.

Mr. Marshutz explained his pleas for economy by saying that the directors are working on a new salary scale which will give to each attendant in the library an increase of at least $5 a month. "If we make those increases in salaries," said Mr. Marshutz, "we must practice economy along other lines in order that we may not exceed our appropriation for the year. I for one will not consent to the expenditure of a single dollar over the sum allowed us by the Council."

BOY HOLD-UP GANG?

Three Messengers in City Jail Believed to Have Been Implicated in Recent Bold Robberies.

Ray Carmichael, Lee Griffin and Frank Seeley, messenger boys, are in the City Jail with the charge of robbery against them. They are supposed to be members of a hold-up gang of boys who have been operating in the city recently.

Saturday night George Chamberlain was held up on San Pedro street and robbed of $17. The boys now under arrest are supposed to have committed the crime, and several others who have not yet been apprehended are believed to have been implicated

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1¼ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1893, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

Try it!

The cost is trifling, yet often big transactions are accomplished at small cost. Classified ads. in The Times are frequently the forerunners of large deals, and scores of small business trades are of daily occurrence as a result of them. They cost only a cent a word.

YOUNG MOTHER'S DEATH.

Suddenly Expires While Visiting at Her Father's Home—Funeral This Afternoon.

A sad death occurred in the city on Wednesday, when Mrs. Leona H. Teague suddenly expired at the home of her father, Rev. H. G. DeWitt, who resides at No. 2225 West Eighth street.

Mrs. Teague, who is the wife of Charles Teague, a merchant of Fresno, came to this city a few months ago with her little babe to visit her father. The latter took advantage of he daughter's visit to his home to go to Fresno to visit Mr. Teague. The daughter was taken suddenly ill a few days ago and the husband and father were summoned by telephone, but death was ahead of them, and fifteen minutes before they arrived at the house Mrs. Teague's life had ebbed away.

The funeral will be held today at the residence on West Eighth street at 2 o'clock, the service to be conducted by Rev. A. P. Graves of the Baptist Church, after which the body will be taken to Oakland for burial.

WAGON BEFORE CAR.

Two Men and Two Horses Injured in Needless Collision at Flower and Eighth Streets.

Fred Ladd and John Dodson, in an express wagon of the American Transfer Company, tried to cross the car tracks at Flower and Eighth streets last night in front of car No. 141 of the University-Interurban line. Both men and the horses were injured in the collision which resulted.

They either misjudged the speed of the car or were reckless and cared little for consequences, for they drove directly in front of the car, and the resulting accident was unavoidable. The men were hurled from the wagon, which was slightly demolished.

Dodson, who resides at No. 1226 Girard street, fell on his head and suffered concussion of the brain. Ladd fell limp as a dishrag and escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

The injured men were sent to the Receiving Hospital. Dodson's injuries may prove serious, but Ladd's case was diagnosed simply as a jag and he was put to bed.

The men were driving south on Flower, when they attempted to cross Eighth street, in front of the big red car. The motorman had no time to stop, though he applied his air before he struck the vehicle.

ANTS AS UNDERTAKERS.

Insect Man Describes How They Deal With the Cockroach Tribe.

[New York Tribune:] "The 'undertakers' will get him," said the insect man to a Tribune reporter one night last week, as a big, dark grown cockroach came speeding across the billiard-room floor in a well-known Fifth-avenue hotel. Then the insect man—for every large New York hotel has an insect man—explained his remark.

"I don't bother to kill a cockroach when I see one scooting along, because I know his days are numbered. The 'undertakers' will get him."

"What are they?"

"That's what I call the black ants in this basement," said the insect man. "I calls 'em 'undertakers' because they does up the cockroaches an' lugs 'em away and puts 'em out of sight."

Having lighted the proffered cigar, the insect man, assured of a good listener, went on:

"Ye see, I used to have the fidgets when I seen a cockroach, and I wouldn't rest till I'd killed him, but that was before I caught on to what the black ants do to a cockroach. Now," he continued, after a hard pull at the cord, "I'm tellin' you only what I have saw. You can depend on it that you won't have cockroaches long if you have black ants. I keep the ants in one place, and they know their holes as well as dogs or cats. I've got a colony of 'undertakers,' as I calls 'em, under a board in the storeroom. If they try to spread brown 'em, and they've got to, they know their place. The first time I seen the 'undertakers' tackle a cockroach was five years ago last winter, when I took the job of insect man here. I was settin' over there by the door, near the wash basins, one night, when I seen a big, black roach comin' across the floor like an auto on a down grade. He got to within five feet of me an' stopped, sudden like, same as a man does when he's been to a store and suddenly wonders if he's forgotten any of his wife's errands. Well, this chap stopped and then turned around and started to run. I jumped up to kill him, when I happened to see a black ant heading for him. The next thing I noticed was that the roach was in trouble. He was making off, but he seemed to be crippled. Then the ant I spotted rushed right over and jumped onto Mr. Roach. I got down on my knees to investigate, and found that a big black ant was holding fast to two legs of the roach—holdin' on like grim death. When the second ant piled on to the roach he grabbed another leg and bit it in the joint. That crippled the roach pretty bad, but he could still navigate a little.

"Now, you may think I'm lying, but I ain't. One of them ants suddenly let loose and run like a suburban winner for home. He went up the wall like a telephone message, and in less than three minutes he was on his way back with a squad of ten ants, all runnin' to beat the band. The leader made a beeline for the roach, which had warried along about six feet with one 'undertaker' fast to his legs. The reinforcements pitched onto the roach and frilled him quickerin' you could say Jack Robinson.

"Then the twelve dragged their victim over to the wall, and there they stuck. They couldn't get the roach any farther. Then they seemed to hold a council, and one feller piked off home again, returning in a few minutes with fifty or sixty 'undertakers.' They tried carrying the roach up the wall and failed. But they was dead gritty. A few feet away the steam pipes rest against the wall, and the whole bunch of 'undertakers' got under and around the roach and took him over to the steam pipes. There wasn't much steam on that night, and in twenty minutes them ants had carried that dead roach up the steam pipes, along a moulding, into their den.

"I've watched 'em out after cockroaches many times since. They usually hunt in pairs, and when they smell a roach they'll lay in wait for him. A roach can outrun 'em, two to one, but they'll somehow head him off now and then, and when one of them little black 'undertakers' once tackles a cockroach it's all day with the bug. The ant will get word to the gang under the plank, and before the bug knows it he's being carried home to breakfast, same as a man would go out an' shoot a bear. It's because they act so sure and solemn-like I calls 'em 'undertakers.'"

KEEPS LOTS OF PEOPLE BUSY.

"Town is Crazy Over 'Times' Knowledge Contest," Expresses It—Telephones Worked Overtime.

Anna's age wasn't in it for a minute with the knowledge contest which The Times is conducting this week. As one prominent business man said yesterday: "The town has gone crazy over your knowledge contest." All day The Times telephones have been on the jump, anxious readers desiring further information and wanting to know if there is still time to send in a solution.

Answers came in all day, but, as announced, the last have as much of a chance as the first. As each answer is received it is numbered and when the count is made the first number which contains the correct information will be awarded the first prize, and so on to the finish.

"Isn't there some way you can fix it so I won't have to take all my time answering telephone calls?" is the question one business man asked yesterday. It seems that a great many people thought he was represented in the contest and they had called him up to make sure. In several stores represented a certain person was designated to answer the telephone calls, so frequent were they. It is certain that from the time The Times appeared on the street Tuesday morning the young women in the telephone exchanges have been working within an inch of their lives.

"Why, I have only an average of about five telephone calls a day," one man said yesterday, "but today there have been so many that I have been forced to send for my wife to come to the store to answer them. And the worse of it all is that I wasn't wise enough to get into the contest, but you can be sure I'll be in the next one, if you will only let me know when it is going to be started."

Advertisers of the city said yesterday that the contest is the greatest scheme they ever saw, and many of them thanked The Times for giving them the privilege of being represented. One man said: "This contest has been worth $100 to me in calling attention to my store." It is this way with all of them.

Anyway, the contest is a big success. Readers have been given something to interest them and advertisers have found a miniature gold mine. Then, best of all, fifteen people are to have gold prizes.

The contest closes at noon next Monday. Don't think just because you didn't reply the first day that you can't get a prize—a correct answer may not be sent in till the last minute.

She Said Grace.

A visitor of noble birth was expected to arrive at a large country house in the North of England, and the daughter of the house, aged 7, was receiving final instruction from her mother.

"And now, dear," she said, "when the Duke speaks to you, do not forget always to say 'Your Grace.'"

Presently the great man arrived, and after greeting his host and hostess he said to the child: "Well, my dear, and what is your name?" Judge of his surprise when the little girl solemnly closed her eyes and with clasped hands, exclaimed: "For what we are about to receive may we be thankful, amen."—[The Tatler.

Crowded Out by Corn.

A large number of Miami county farmers—in fact, most of them—will have to abandon their homes this fall and take to the woods. They will need the ground occupied by their houses, barns, feed lots, etc., on which to stack their corn, and will also probably have to take up part of the public roads and the suburbs of the towns. This corn proposition is a growing one and the map of Miami county will have to be enlarged to accommodate it.—[Paola (Kan.) Republican.

BREAKS AFRESH IN TIMBER.

FIRE FIERCE IN THE SAN BERNARDINO MOUNTAINS.

Devil's Canyon Is Out of Danger, but the Flames are Sweeping Over the Range—Spectacular View Presented to the People in the Valley. Mexican Fighters on Strike.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The mountain fire which has been raging northwest of the city the past three days was today believed to be under control, but tonight at sundown it had broken out afresh near the crest of the range in the heavy timber district.

It is burning fiercely, the flames shooting high in the air, and great clouds of smoke rolling up. The arm of the fire that was creeping down into Devil's Cañon has been conquered and there is no more danger in that section. That which is burning is at the crest and north slope of the range and is in the heavy timber.

The force of men, mostly Mexicans, who went up last night to aid in the fire fighting, went on a strike this morning and walked back to the city today, not being willing to undertake the strenuous work. As the fire seemed to be under control today, no effort was made by the rangers to retain them in the mountains.

No word has come from the mountains tonight, but the work of the flames can be plainly seen from the city, the northern sky being lighted up.

A bad brush fire started this afternoon south of the city, near Reche Cañon, and burned fiercely for a time, but was quickly gotten under control with no serious damage.

SUIT AGAINST "DIZZIE BLONDE."

David C. W. Porter of Colton has commenced a second suit for divorce here against his wife, Mrs. Rose D. Porter, who is now a resident of Los Angeles. Mrs. Porter is better known in this section as the "Dizzie Blonde."

Several months ago Porter commenced suit against his wife for divorce on the ground of adultery, but, owing to cross bills and other entanglements arising, the case was finally dismissed. The present suit is on the ground of desertion.

The woman is a stunning blonde and gained her appellation of "dizzy blonde" from the stir she ever created wherever she went. She always drove a fashionable rig and appeared in stunning gowns. Several years ago she induced an Ontario rancher to deed her a $30,000 ranch to forestall an effort of another claimant to get the property.

The real owner had to go to the courts finally to induce Mrs. Porter to deed back the property.

TRAIN SERVICE DISMISSALS.

In the past few weeks there have been a considerable number of the men in the train service of the Santa Fé on this division dismissed from the service. The dismissals followed investigations made by the division officials.

Recently the officials have been greatly annoyed by a string of mishaps which have resulted in many employés being called onto the "carpet," dismissals following in many cases. Some of the employés who have been with the company a number of years are included in the list of those who have been discharged.

SAN BERNARDINO POINTS.

The suit which was started by Capt. S. W. McNabb against three privates of Co. K for the collection of fines imposed for non-attendance at drill, came to a sudden end today, when all three of the men paid their fines. This, it is believed by the military men, will in future prevent any further attempt on the part of the men to dodge payment of fines.

Dan Weeks nearly lost the sight of an eye yesterday by the bursting of a shell while out hunting rabbits. Splinters flew out from the breech of the gun and entered the ball of the eye close to the sight. It is doubtful that the vision can be saved.

SANTA ANA.

IRRIGATION'S COST.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 31.—According to the statement of the secretary of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company, which furnishes the irrigating water for all the ranches of this valley, the expenses last month for maintenance amounted to $3038.07. The major portion of this sum was for the regular employés pay roll, the remainder being for material and work upon new ditch construction. The receipts for the month, including water sales and shares of stock sold, amounted to $2359.28, and the balance of cash on hand for the new month is $12,564.77 as compared with $13,843.46 for the beginning of last month.

The company is planning the placing of a series of new wells in the Yorba district to augment the present supply of summer irrigation water derived from the Santa Ana River canals. These wells will be brought in for use next summer.

CHANGE IN AGENCY.

The Santa Ana and Tustin agency of The Times has been transferred to W. Schmelts, recently here from Whittier. Mr. Schmelts will assume control September 1, retaining the agency headquarters at the same office, No. 212 East Fourth street. The Orange agency of The Times will remain in charge of Mrs. J. H. Gitchell, who is now the owner of the route.

FULLERTON.

OIL WORKERS' PICNIC.

FULLERTON, Aug. 31.—The employés of the Fullerton oil wells, accompanied by their families, will go to San Diego on a special train September 17, leaving Olinda at 5:30 a.m. Returning, the train will leave San Diego at about 6:30 p.m. It is expected at least 100 people will participate in the day's outing, as a number will go from Fullerton.

Walnut growers of this section report that the output this season will be fully as large as that of last year, which was not an average crop.

Miss Sallie McCullough has arrived from Cane Hill, Ark., and is a guest of her brother, Steve McCullough. She will make Santa Ana her future home.

Miss Christine Hansen has returned from a six months' visit in Northern California, accompanied by her cousin, Miss P. Hansen of Watsonville.

Miss Emma Hart has gone to Woodland to teach in the grammar schools.

A number of Japs are planting eighty acres in the west end of the valley to tomatoes.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.

RATHER IN BAD FRIGHT.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 31.—Mrs. W. R. Higgins had a bad fright in the surf today when she swam out over two hundred and fifty feet. Just as she was approaching shallow water on the sand bar, she realized that she was nearly exhausted. She called for help, then turned over and floated safely until her friend, Mrs. Caldwell, reached her and helped her to shore. This is the nearest to an accident that this beach has had, with the hundreds of bathers daily. Mrs. Higgins did not know that there was a sand bar so near her.

Some of the soundings for the shelf-foot pier extension were made yesterday by W. B. Corbally, assisted by G. A. Reynolds. The work is awaiting the shipment of piles from the North.

An eighteen-pound yellowtail was caught from the wharf today by Harry House. The boy is less than sixteen years old. He used a rod and reel. The fishing is improving, and a good many yellowtail are caught.

W. B. Parker and family have moved into the Hison cottage on Third and Ocean avenue.

Mrs. A. L. Reed, wife of the manager of the Huntington Beach Company, has returned to Whittier.

S. S. King, one of the young real estate men associated with the Huntington Beach Company's office, has resigned, and after tomorrow will be with a Los Angeles establishment.

SHERIFF SELLS RICH ACRES.

LARGE TRACT IN ALESSANDRO DISTRICT CONVEYED.

Lands Once Bonded for the Site of a Model City Pass Into Control of a Riverside Real Estate Operator. Actual Settlers to Have Deeds of Land Occupied by Them.

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Twelve thousand acres, and chattels, of the Alessandro Irrigation District, easily worth a quarter of a million dollars, were sold today by Sheriff P. M. Coburn to D. E. Meyers for $9683.10. The purchaser is a local real estate operator. The district was organized in 1891 under the Wright irrigation law by Frank E. Brown and Charles W. Greene.

These men bonded the tract for $750,000, at the same time laying out miles of irrigation ditches, telephone lines, with the project of establishing a model city on the site. Through the terms of today's sale an enormous tract of valuable property changes hands.

It is said that arrangement was made with the property owners in the Alessandro district, who were likely to become dispossessed of their homesteads, by the terms of which the purchaser of the tract gives them a deed to the land now occupied by them. Many of the property owners in the district retained lawyers and declared their intention of prosecuting their claim to homesteads in case no provision for permanent ownership could be made with the purchaser, such an arrangement forestalling contemplated injunction proceedings against the officials who conducted the sale.

CITRUS FRUIT SHIPMENTS.

Reports of the orange and lemon shipments from Riverside county for the season of 1904-05 were completed today, and give evidence of an unusual era of prosperity in this community. Southern California looks towards Riverside county as the premier orange-growing section and it is with no little pride that officials of the various companies give publicity to their statistics.

To be exact, 6180 cars of oranges have been exported from this county during the past season. The purchase price is given as $2,900,950. During the season of 1903-04 the orange crop was somewhat larger, but this year a big increase in price was secured.

Riverside-county lemons have been distributed far and wide during the past season, and figures show the total sales to aggregate 970 cars of this product, bringing a purchase price of $555,145.

Among the many profitable orange groves in comparative infancy is one located in Riverside consisting of ten acres, of four years' growth. The care of the grove for the year was $206; fertilizer, $160; water, $55; taxes, $18; with pruning and sundry expenses at $35, making a total expenditure of $500. The sale of fruit from this grove amounted in round figures to $2500, which, less the expense, netted the owner a profit of $2000.

Plans are already being made for the coming season in Riverside orange and lemon groves. The outlook is exceedingly optimistic. New packing-houses are being built in anticipation of the winter rush of navels, and everywhere throughout the county is a spirit of satisfaction.

RICHEST CITY PER CAPITA.

In connection with the issuance of figures on the orange crop is a new publication just issued by the Riverside Chamber of Commerce. The publication says:

"Riverside is the richest city per capita in the entire United States. Riverside county is as large as Massachusetts and has only 20,000 inhabitants. There is an acre of oranges to each inhabitant, and there is a vast amount of rich land adjacent to and tributary to the city of Riverside which is now idle and waiting for men and money to develop it. Riverside possesses the largest solid area both of orange and of lemon groves to be found anywhere in the world."

MOUNTAIN FIRE SPREADS AFAR.

ENTIRE OJAI VALLEY THREATENED BY FLAMES.

Blaze Started Three Days Ago Near Casitas Has Spread Over Wide Section, and is Destroying Much Property—Difficulty is Experienced in Getting Fire Fighters.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Word was received in this city late this evening that the mountain fire which started three days ago near the Casitas has spread over the entire county. The Casitas is afire, the Bonestel ranch, four miles from Nordhoff is in flames, and the entire Ojai Valley, in which Nordhoff is located, is threatened and burning in places. Great excitement prevails here and many persons with property in the burning section have left for the mountains. The telephone has been kept busy spreading the news, but it is difficult to get help in the Ojai, as the settlers are kept at home watching their own property.

BIG LEGAL BATTLE.

Answer has been made in the great Camarillo case and the battle is on to a finish between the brothers and sisters, children of the late Juan Camarillo, with the stake the big Callaquas rancho, a fine body of land in this county of 10,000 acres, and worth a million. The array of counsel on both sides is an imposing one. For the brothers, Adolf and Juan Camarillo, appear John S. Chapman of Los Angeles, and Orestes Orr and R. M. Clarke of this city. For the four sisters, appear Knight & Heggerty of San Francisco, and ex-Judge Williams of this city.

The two brothers are in possession of the ranch, having controlled it since the death of the mother, who deeded it to them. After the death of their father the sons managed the ranch in conjunction with the mother. The boys remained in peaceful possession of the property up to 1898, when the sisters threatened them with a suit for a share of the estate. A compromise was effected by the payment to the sisters of $25,000.

It is now claimed that in March, evidence was discovered that the brothers had obtained the ranch by fraudulent practices upon the mother, the allegation being that Juan Camarillo had confessed that Adolf perpetrated these frauds, and that in part restitution on his own behalf Juan paid to one of his sisters, $8000, and that thereupon Adolf threatened to expose Juan's private acts of degeneracy and sent him out of the county.

In their answer, Adolf Camarillo makes a general denial of all the allegations of fraud and says that his mother acted of her own free will and was mentally capable of so doing at all times. He admits that his brother, Juan, went abroad and to travel in Europe, and is now absent, and was absent when this action was commenced, but denies that he threatened him with exposure if he did not leave the country.

The case promises to be a bitterly contested one, and is attracting great interest in this part of the country.

PARSON WOOD'S ESTATE.

The late W. O. Wood, known as "Parson" Wood, left a big estate, amounting to nearly a quarter of a million dollars. William F. Wood of San Luis Obispo, a son of deceased, yesterday applied for letters of administration upon the estate, alleging that no will had been found. The estate was mostly in farm lands in this county, including nearly 2000 rich acres near Springville. These are valued at $181,000.

There are unsold crops, secured notes, stocks, personal property, etc., worth over $20,000. There are yearly rentals from the real property of $7250. The amount of cash in bank is only $86. The other heirs to the estate are Ben Wood and Mrs. Mary Newman of Springville, and Mrs. Sarah L. Gordon of Thermal.

SET STREET AFIRE.

Ethel Hudiburg of Nordhoff last evening set the Main street of Nordhoff afire, but she saved her life, perhaps, and the building she was in by so doing. She is manager for a telephone company there and had just lighted her lamp in the evening to begin her work. Suddenly the blaze in the lamp flared up; Miss Ethel grabbed the lamp and dashed it through the window. It burst in midair and the burning contents spread over the oiled street, setting the thoroughfare on fire, but the blaze, while it made a little excitement, did no damage.

SANTA BARBARA.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 31.—Bids were opened last night for the construction of two new school buildings and for the installation of heating plants in them. The school board accepted the bid submitted by Messrs. Elliott & Miller for the construction of the two school buildings according to the revised plans, to cost $24,600.

Names for the new buildings were discussed and it was agree, without a vote on the subject, that they should be named the Webster and the McKinley buildings. They are to be located respectively in the Oak Park district and on West Haley street. Each will contain six rooms.

BROOME HOME SELLS.

The home of Mrs. Frances Broome, one of the wealthy residents of this city, was sold yesterday to satisfy a street assessment lien of $579.44 against the property, held by W. H. McCaleb, who bid it in at that figure, although it has always been valued at more than $10,000. The Broome estate, left by the late William Broome, was appraised at over a quarter of a million dollars, the family home in this city being a part. Mrs. Broome has always had a great aversion to the process of law, and this was the reason she did not pay up the lien or bid on the property herself.

SANTA PAULA, Aug. 31.—Last evening the newly-organized Uniform Rank of the Knights of Pythias, No. 6, of Santa Paula, were mustered in by Maj. J. A. Driffil of Oxnard. The Oxnard Rank, No. 64, were the guests. Capt. C. H. Fernald was elected captain; M. D. Say, first lieutenant, and R. E. Moore, second lieutenant. A banquet was served later at the home of N. P. Weber.

The High School and Grammar School will open next Monday.

MINES AND MINING.

RESULTS OF NEW PROCESS.

SANTA ANA COMPANY'S WORK IN RARE METALS.

High Values Struck in Tombstone Mines—Seizers of El Tigre Mine Get Greater Liberty Through Action of Higher Court—Active Work at the Pearce Mine.

Some remarkable results are being produced at the works of the Santa Ana Mining Company in Trabuco Cañon, Orange county. General Manager J. A. Comer has been working on a large deposit of refractory ore for more than two years, and is now getting tangible results. He has brought to the office of the company in the Laughlin building a brick of osmiumiridium alloy weighing seven and a half pounds, worth $240 per pound, and a brick of platinum slightly alloyed with gold, weighing sixteen ounces Troy, worth $20.50 per ounce.

These rare metals have been extracted from the ores by Mr. Comer's hydro-metallurgical process—the ores being ground and passing through a succession of solutions in which the final one is a deposit of finely granulated metal. These granules are subjected to an electric arc heat of 3750 deg., when they are fused into the massive brick shown.

There are now at the works sixteen tons of ore distributed through about fifty tons of solution containing in varying proportions the six so-called platinum group of metals, consisting of platinum, iridium, palladium, osmium, rhodium and rhuthenium, besides a considerable sprinkling of gold and tin. For more than a year Manager Comer was engaged in experimental work, ascertaining what was in the ore and how best to extract it, but it has now reached the commercial stage, and is producing practical results very gratifying to the company, of which Gail Borden is president and George W. Hover is vice-president.

THE EL TIGRE CASE.

GRAHAM WINS A POINT.

BISBEE (Ariz.) Aug. 30.—The rich strike lately made in the Consolidated Mines at Tombstone is on the 700-foot level. Though only eight inches in width, the new ore body carries very high values in gold and silver, as well as a proportion of copper, the last a rare metal in the Tombstone mines. It has brought up memories of the prediction once made by a noted Montana mining engineer that at depth the Tombstone mines would turn into copper properties. The new pumps on the 800-foot level are about ready for work, and sinking will be resumed as soon as they have been started throwing water.

A report received yesterday from Mexico is to the effect that B. F. Graham and party, held for several weeks at Moctezuma for their attempt to take the Tigre mines by force, have won the first of the legal actions instituted, and are free to go as they will as soon as they will furnish bond in a nominal sum. They have been held under a $50,000 bond, Mexican, that only permitted them to remain out of jail and not to leave the town of Moctezuma. The change in the condition of affairs has been brought about by a review by a Supreme Court at Nogales of the court proceedings at Moctezuma.

Forty stamps are being operated at the Commonwealth mine at Pearce, which has been almost abandoned for about a year past, following a strike of the workmen and the caving of a part of the mine. At one time the mine produced nearly $1,000,000 a year, and there was wonder when Senator Penrose and the other Pennsylvania owners closed down the mill. A cyanide plant has been running on the property for some time, producing large returns from the tailings.

The Copper Belle property at Gleason is still shut down, as is the Black Diamond. There is a local rumor that the management of the latter property has adjusted all claims, and that the smelter will be in operation before many weeks. Additional equipment has been ordered for the Copper Belle, showing intention to resume operations.

The main shaft of the Gold Nugget, near Bowie, is now down 150 feet, and the management is placing stock on the market for the purchase of a steam hoist. The vein at depth is showing stronger than ever and averages $19 a ton in gold values. The mine is almost entirely owned in Bisbee, where its office is located.

It is reported that a new 1000-foot shaft is to be sunk this fall on the Calumet and Cochise property, below Bisbee, it having been demonstrated that the present shaft was sunk at the wrong place.

It is understood that the Warren Development Company now controls the Bisbee Queen Company, and that Warren men are acquiring large blocks of stock in all the development claims that are within a day's drive to the southward from Bisbee.

The American Minister to Peru, Irving B. Dudley, sailed from Callao yesterday on the steamer Memphis for San Francisco on leave of absence. A large number of diplomats, officials and others bade him farewell.

PAINFUL PERIODS AMERICAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Miss Irene Crosby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that menstruation is the balance wheel of a woman's life, and while no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely.

Miss Irene Crosby

Thousands of American women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors.

Miss Irene Crosby, of 313 Charlton Street East Savannah, Ga., writes:

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a true friend to woman. It has been of great benefit to me, curing me of irregular and painful menstruation when everything else had failed, and I gladly recommend it to other suffering women."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhœa, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

Many Are Treated For Conditions That Do Not Exist

This unreasonable treatment of many conditions is the direct cause for chronic troubles due to improper measures rather than disease. In the treatment of chronic ailments I am safe in saying my method of treatment is the most effective, for it does away with all guesswork. I have cured hundreds of the most chronic cases by this direct method. I accomplish more in one week than can ever be accomplished by guessing through the mail.

None Has Ever Been Cured By Guess Work

varicocele

I cure in four to six days. Many men have treated unsuccessfully for varicocele. My treatment is painless and the results are complete forever.

Stricture

I cure in the right way, once and for all. I remove all urethral obstruction, inflammation and soreness, and restore the membrane to a healthy condition, usually in from five to fifteen days.

Contracted Diseases

Failure to quickly cure these conditions is due to harsh measures, which are the direct cause for chronic conditions. My treatment is most cleanly and perfect.

I cure Rectal, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Piles, Fistula and Blood Diseases, wasting, nervous and chronic conditions, causing functional derangement, impairing strength and vitality.

Pain in the Head

Is a danger signal, warning you that the brain nerves are exhausted—irritated, and are undergoing an unnatural strain.

Frequent and prolonged attacks of pain weaken the generative power of the nerve cells of the brain, and lead to loss of memory, melancholy, spasms, epilepsy, and frequently insanity.

When the brain nerves are weakened they are unable to supply sufficient nerve force to the nerves that control the lungs, heart, stomach and other organs, and these organs are thus robbed of energy, and unable to meet the demands upon them, and they get sick.

Stop the head pains with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and the influence upon your general health will be greater than you can realize.

HAVE A REASON FOR THE DELAY

WHY PASADENA DOES NOT GE HER OWN WATER SYSTEM.

Administration Contends That Two Companies Must be Bought Out Before Ordinance Which Authorized Bonds Can be Complied With. House-breakers Unusually Active.

PASADENA, Office of The Time No. 26 South Raymond avenue, Sep 1.—Repeated inquiries regarding th much-mooted delay in the consumma tion of the municipal water issue hav not gone unheeded by the heads of th city administration, and it can be con fidently expected that City Attorne Fitzgerald will issue a statement de fining the administration's exact atti tude within the next few days.

It is understood that his explanation will be that the city cannot buy one o two "Siamese twins" without takin the other.

The "Siamese twins" referred to ar the East and West Side companies, re spectively. The claim will be advance that inasmuch as the West Side com pany's assets are tied up by litigation in connection with the service o South Pasadena, it would obviously be unwise to take over this plant un til the injunction suits are straightened out; and by a peculiar provision in the ordinance, it is legally impossible to buy one plant without buying the other.

The section referred to came first in the list of propositions voted for by the people, and reads as follows: "Shall the city of Pasadena incur a bonded debt of $427,000 for the purpose of acquiring the system of water works used by the Pasadena Lake Vineyard (East Side) Land and Water Company and the Pasadena Land and Water (West Side) Company, in supplying water to the greater portion of the city of Pasadena?"

Lawyer Fitzgerald will maintain that the wording of this clause links the two companies indissolubly together, and therefore the purchase of one could not be made separately or at different times.

Mayor Waterhouse yesterday called attention to the above provision in the water ordinance and reiterated his determination of carrying out the will of the people.

HOUSE-BREAKERS ACTIVE.

An overplus of burglaries and attempted burglaries, which came to light in the past twenty-four hours revives the rumor that an organized gang of house-breakers is at work in Pasadena and vicinity, but the police scout any such idea. The South Pasadena residence of John Hunt was among the number visited and the head of the household took a shot at a fleeing trousered individual, but the fellow got away with a diamond stud, a gold watch and a sum of money, that may aggregate $1000.

Barefoot, the daring window-climber took the stuff right under the noses of the members of the family, who were asleep at the time. Mr. Hunt was awakened by a noise of some one scrambling off the front porch. Seizing his revolver he hurried to the front of the house in time to catch a fleeting glimpse of his erstwhile visitor vanishing in the darkness.

The shot aroused the neighborhood, but no trace of the robber could be found. It developed that the McCartney home on South Fremont street was also visited, but nothing of value is missing. These occurrences are, of course, out of the province of the local police and the South Pasadena authorities are without a clue.

Two other attempts at burglary were reported in Pasadena. A midnight prowler is reported to have been seen on the premises of H. F. Knight at Summit avenue and Painter street, but he was apparently frightened away. John McLaughlin's residence at No. 870 Summit avenue was visited by a suspicious-acting stranger, according to Miss McLaughlin's story,

HAVE A REASON FOR THE DELAY.

WHY PASADENA DOES NOT GET HER OWN WATER SYSTEM.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 24 South Raymond avenue, Sept. 1.—Repeated inquiries regarding the much-mooted delay in the consummation of the municipal water issue have not gone unheeded by the heads of the city administration, and it can be confidently expected that City Attorney Fitzgerald will issue a statement defining the administration's exact attitude within the next few days.

It is understood that his explanation will be that the city cannot buy one of two "Siamese twins" without taking the other.

RESISTS ARREST.

Patrolman David I. Beasley came near to nursing a beautifully darkened optic yesterday evening when he placed John Bendowski, overburdened with liquid hilarity, under arrest. Bendowski could not understand why it was the officer's duty to intercept his occupancy of a wavy expanse of the front lawn of No. 511 South Fair Oaks avenue, and voiced his discontent by striking out with his intoxicated right. That it was an intoxicated right saved Beasley's eye from discoloration. The fellow couldn't hit straight, and the blow glanced. The officer was compelled to relieve the recalcitrant's emotion by the laying on of his club, whereat the prisoner stepped along. Police Judge Wood assessed a fine of $15 or the usual alternative of serving an equal number of days in jail. Lacking the former, John took the latter.

ALONG THE RIALTO.

President D. M. Linnard of the Board of Trade, who is ill in San Francisco, suffered a slight relapse yesterday, according to advices received here, but his condition is by no means alarming. The patient has been taken to the Merritt Hospital from Hotel St. Francis for a second operation.

Leading members of Pasadena's lodge of Elks are perfecting arrangements to go in a body to the annual Grand Lodge session at Denver next year. Extensive preparations include the chartering of a special train for those who contemplate the trip.

R. E. Sherwin, executive officer of the Humane Society, is investigating a case of a starved horse, which he found wandering in the neighborhood of the Raymond Hotel yesterday. The animal had apparently been without food and water for several days, and was suffering so that the officer put it out of its misery. Who the owner is has not been ascertained.

Township Constable H. F. Newell is back from an enjoyable vacation outing spent in the north, and will resume his official duties today.

Miss Edith Rowland entertained Tuesday with a luncheon for Miss Mary Ranney, who goes East today. Covers were laid for Miss Ranney, Miss Alice Ludovici, Miss Roberts, Miss Marion Armstrong, Miss Theresa Cloud and Miss Rowland.

Secretary Coolidge of the Board of Trade is busily engaged in preparation of the latest Pasadena souvenir book issued by that body of hustlers. It is promised the book will be more artistic than anything of the kind previously attempted here.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Woodbury of La Casa Grande are arranging to celebrate their first or "paper" wedding anniversary with appropriate ceremony on Thursday, September 7.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Ranney and Miss Ranney plan to leave Friday for Chicago.

Many friends of Robert J. Burdette have become needlessly alarmed at a flaming saffron journal story that the distinguished Southern Californian was ill upon his arrival in New York a few days ago. After crossing the celebrated "straits" Mr. Burdette writes that he won't need to be sick again for a long, long time. Mrs. Burdette was slightly indisposed from the long journey, but that was all.

NOT WORRYING IN LONG BEACH.

EAST SAN PEDRO ELECTION IS LOOKED ON LIGHTLY.

The Proceedings Joining That Territory to the Town on Its East are Considered So Far Perfected as to Preclude the Likelihood of Losing the Disputed Land.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 31.—The City Trustees are not worrying over the election held in East San Pedro yesterday, even though that strip of territory voted itself into San Pedro.

With the restraining order against Long Beach dissolved and the certificate of election duly filed with the Secretary of State, the territory is believed to be to all intents and purposes within the Long Beach city limits, and any attempt of San Pedro to exercise jurisdiction will be treated as trespass.

The Board of Trustees is formulating plans for making some immediate permanent improvements in the newly-acquired territory, and these will come up for discussion at the regular board meeting next Monday. It is presumed that San Pedro will also dip her fingers in the boiling pot, with the result that another chapter of the legal tangle will be heard in the courts.

SEASHORE NEWS RIPPLES.

The steam yacht San Diego made her initial trip as an excursion boat today, carrying a crowd of invited guests to Venice and return. The owners of the boat expect to enter a regular trade, stopping at all the beaches.

A leaking gasoline stove in a dye works establishment this morning started what promised a dangerous fire, but prompt work with garden hose and extinguishers subdued the flames. Answering the alarm one of the hose carts broke down and turned over twice, reducing a wheel to kindling wood and damaging the reel drum.

This morning Officer Fred Phillips arrested Frank Seeley on the beach. Seeley is wanted in Los Angeles on a charge of complicity in a highway robbery last Saturday night.

Deputy Marshal Neece began his official duties today by returnishing his office. The ex-Marshal carried off everything but a deal table and a telephone.

At the Methodist parsonage today Rev. W. K. Beans united in marriage Miss Nellie K. Chapin of Huntington Beach and John Walker of Elsinore. A wedding party of relatives accompanied the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Walker will reside in Elsinore.

I. L. Eno, the aged father of Mayor R. A. Eno, is dangerously ill of pneumonia, and his condition is regarded as critical. The illness is aggravated by worry over the safety of his son, his fears being occasioned by the discovery of an attempt recently to burn Mayor Eno's residence.

The grandmother of Roy Andrews, the firebug, who confessed to burning the Casa Palma, has written to Officer Phillips from Great Barrington, Mass., asking for the boy's effects. She scores the court and police officers, and says her grandson was "railroaded" to his death.

CATALINA ISLAND.

CRANKY COMPASS—THICK FOG.

AVALON, Aug. 31.—Capt. Allan of the launch Pasqualita, who delivers The Times to its Catalina subscribers every morning, running across from Long Beach, was for the first time in the entire season obliged to steer his course by compass this morning owing to a thick fog.

To be prepared for such a contingency, the captain has often steered by his compass heretofore. Invariably when within three or four miles of the island the needle begins to swing around to the westward and when port is reached it is fully two points off the course on which he started. Knowing this he steered a bit to the eastward this morning, but nevertheless struck the island about two miles to the westward of Avalon. Capt. Allan lays the needle's variation to the presence of metals on the island.

RESIGNATION.

I.

Be patient and be wise! The eyes of Death
Look on us with a smile; her soft caress,
That stills the anguish and stops the breath,
Is Nature's ordination, meant to bless
Our mortal woes with peaceful nothingness,
Be not afraid! The Power that made the light
In your kind eyes, and set the stars on high,
And gave us love, meant not that all should die—
Like a brief day-dream, quench'd in sudden night.
Think that to die is but to fall asleep
And wake refresh'd where the new morning breaks,
And golden day her rosy vigor takes
From winds that fan eternity's far height
And the white crests of God's perpetual deep.

II.

"His time is spent, our pilgrimage must be—"
So the wise poet—wisest of mankind—
In admonition that should make us see—
Though half distraught, and in our misery blind—
That our sole refuge is the constant mind,
The steadfast purpose, brave, and strong, and free,
To bear affliction, and to be resign'd—
Knowing that ruthless Time will one day rend
The veil that hides the deep that all must cross,
And that th' eternity to which we tend,
Made precious with the soul of many a friend—
Is richer, lovelier, holier, for our loss;
Where, crown'd with peace as with a diadem,
Our lov'd ones long for us, even as we long for them.

Tokay Destroyed.

A sad calamity has overtaken the famous Tokay wines. During Friday night the great wine-making establishments on the royal vineyards of Taresai, in Hungary, were destroyed by fire. The loss is serious, because, in addition to the buildings, a fine manufacturing plant is destroyed, together with large stores of Tokay wines of choice vintages. This establishment is the private property of the Emperor Francis Joseph.—[London Globe.

Did the Cat Reason?

Cats do not think—no animal does, says Mr. Burroughs. But how about the Laconia cat that found it difficult to catch the abundant English sparrow in his New Hampshire village and evolved the scheme of planting himself with his back to the street where the sparrows congregated and watching them in the reflection of a plate-glass window? He has played this game for a long time—not being deceived by the window, but when a sparrow gets within jumping distance, then the cat leaps and gets his victim. And is not this reasoning?—[London News.

CORONER'S BUSY MONTH.

out why. The same day J. Hanson, aged 50, nativity unknown, passed out by the gas route; cause unknown. And here's the last for August of 1905—always barring what may happen between now and midnight: J. Andrae, Spanish War veteran, aged 35, shot himself to death at Venice; had been here only a few days; despondent over illness, inability to get a pension, and failure to gain admittance to the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle. That winds up the suicides. What do you want next?"

"We'll skeletonize the rest," said I, and together we worked out these figures:

Killed by steam railways during the month, 3; two by the Southern Pacific, one by the Santa Fé. Killed by street railways, 7; four by the Pacific Electric, 2; by the Los Angeles Interurban, 1 by the Los Angeles-Pacific.

Electrocuted, 1, by the Edison Electric Company.

Died of natural causes 46; heart disease, 9; consumption, 3; apoplexy, 4; miscellaneous, 29.

"Now," said the Coroner, "let's total." And we did: Coroner's record for August, 1905—76 cases: Murders, 3; suicides, 10; railways, 10; electrocution, 1; common causes, 46. For the same month last year—45 cases: Murders, 2; suicides, 14; accidents, 12; electrocutions, 3; common causes, 17. For the first seven months of 1905, as follows:

January—Murder, 1; suicides, 10; railways, 6; electrocutions, 2; common causes, 29; total, 49.

February — Murders, 0; suicides, 9; railways, 0; electrocutions, 0; common causes, 37; total, 46.

March—Murders, 3; suicides, 8; railways, 8; electrocutions, 3; common causes, 22; total, 85.

April—Murders, 1; suicides, 12; railways, 6; electrocution, 1; common causes, 22; total, 42.

May—Murders, 2; suicides, 7; railways, 7; electrocution, 0; common causes, 35; total, 51.

June—Murders, 4; suicides, 8; railways, 8; electrocution, 1; common causes, 28. Total, 49.

July—Murders, 2; suicides, 4; railways, 8; electrocutions, 0; common causes, 23. Total, 47.

Totals for the year, to date: Murders, 16; suicides, 68; railways, 53; electrocutions, 9; common causes, 258.

Grand total of Coroner's cases from January 1 to August 31, inclusive, 404—an average of 50 cases a month, almost equal to the rate of two a day.

Just as these startling compilations were being finished the outer door swung open and the most appropriate person in the county walked in—Autopsy Surgeon Campbell. In the course of his official career in and about Los Angeles he has "opened up" more than 3000 bodies.

"Hello," said he, "what are you doing?"

"Surveying our ghastly work," replied the Coroner, applying the moist handkerchief to his beaded brow. "How many of the people who commit suicide each year in this county are insane, do you suppose?"

"Eighty per cent.," came the prompt reply. "And though it may sound a harsh, unfeeling thing to say, nearly the whole 100 per cent. are really correct in their notion that they'd better be dead than alive. I mean this:

"An almost exclusive majority of those who take their own lives in Southern California are either victims of bitter penury, hopeless decrepitude, incurable diseases, enthralling vices, or insanity—five main causes of the various sorts of mental depression which engender the suicidal germ. Few persons thus handicapped in the race of life are any good to themselves or others, and in very, very many cases suicide is a logical, though miserable, conclusion.

"I am talking from the philosophical viewpoint and the experience of a physician and autopsy surgeon—purely that. Not for a moment would I contend that these unfortunates are not 'worth saving.' That would be a sentiment too brutal, however much of truth it might contain. I merely look at the facts as seen by themselves."

"Doctor," I suggested, "you say that 80 per cent. of the men and women who slay themselves here are insane. Can that fact be substantiated by post-mortem examinations?"

"Assuredly. There is no insanity without a physical change in the brain. In hundreds and hundreds of 'posts' I have observed these changes. If I were to describe them technically many of the terms would be unintelligible to you. But loosely speaking they may be discerned as little patches, of varying sizes according to the duration and extent of the insanity, in the gray matter that overlies the brain and in which all our thoughts originate. To help the conception, picture to yourself a withered spot in an otherwise perfect lawn—that's a pretty broad simile, I own, but in a measure it will serve."

"Will surgery ever come to the aid of justice by proposing the opening of accused persons' skulls and the examination of their brains to determine, in murder cases, whether the common plea of 'emotional insanity' is a genuine defense?"

"No. The human brain is too exquisitely delicate, and too precious, to admit of that. It is the most marvelous mechanism in creation, and the most fragile.

"In criminology there are two classes of insanity; mania and melancholia. The former impels to homicide, the latter to suicide; for the one is an exaltation, the other a depression. But too often in crime annals impulse has been wrongly classified as insanity, whereas in instances of violence it is nothing more nor less than a temporary loss of the balance, which, in normal brains, represents the control of the gray matter by the ego.

"Want to go deeper?"

"No," said I, "not today."

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1893, The Sunday Times' circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

GO DOWN and see Sunset Beach today. It will recommend itself to you. The owners are now building the new wharf, and a new station house is under course of erection by the Pacific Electric Railway. Make your selection of a lot before the prices are advanced on September 15.

Tungsten Salts.

RANDSBURG (Cal.) Aug. 17, 1905.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Please reply to the following questions "In the Earth."

(1.) Is "tungsten" the proper name for scheelite?

(2.) Please give list of salts obtained from such and by what methods?

(3.) Will you favor me with some tests?

I have a small deposit of the mineral
Yours truly, J. H.

ANSWER: (1.) No. Tungsten is "the heavy stone" of the Swedes. Scheelite, or calcium tungstate is the proper term.

(2.) The most important list follows: Ferrous tungstate (native wolframite.) Manganese tungstate, (native pure hubnerite.) Lead tungstate (native scheeletine) and a few unimportant other native combinations. A metallic tungsten is obtained as a dark-gray powder, by heating—high heat—tungstic oxide in hydrogen. It can be fused in the electric furnace, then it is a white metal, hard and brittle, with density 17.4. By heating metallic tungsten to redness, in the open air it takes fire and reproduces tungstic oxide. "Tungsten forms two classes of compounds, in which it is quadrivalent and sexvalent respectively, and a third class, of intermediate composition, in which it is apparently quinquivalent."

CHLORIDES.

These are formed by heating tungsten (the metal) in chlorine gas. "The hexchloride, or tungstic chloride, is also produced, together with oxychloride, by the action of chlorine on an ignited mixture of tungstic oxide and charcoal. The oxychlorides, being more volatile than the hexchloride, may be separated from it by sublimation. The hexchloride forms dark violet scales or fused crusts, having a bluish-black metallic iridescence. By contact with water or moist air, it is converted into hydrochloric and tungstic acids." Three different chlorides (one, with chlorine 5—another, chlorine 4, and the third, chlorine 2) form when the hexchloride is heated in hydrogen gas. The two first-named are crystalline, while the third mentioned dichloride is a loose gray powder destitute of crystalline structure. "A pentabromide and hexbromide are formed by the action of bromine in excess on tungsten. The hexfluoride, is obtained by evaporating a solution of tungstic acid in hydrofluoric acid."

OXIDES.

Four oxides of tungsten are known with 2, 3, 4 and 5 equations of oxygen combined, respectively. None of these exhibit basic properties. There are, probably, no salts of tungsten in which the metal replaces the hydrogen of an acid "or takes the electro-positive part." The trioxide (tungstic acid of commerce) has decided acid tendencies, "uniting with basic metallic oxides, and forming crystallizable salts called tungstates. Tungstous oxide (the dioxide) is made by exposing tungstic oxide to hydrogen, at a dull red heat. It forms a definite compound with soda. The trioxide, tungstic oxide, or tungstic acid is formed by adding nitric or hydrochloric acid to calcium tungstate (scheelite) and boiling. The yellow powder formed is tungstic acid. "From Wolframite it may be prepared by repeatedly digesting the mineral in strong hydrochloric acid, ultimately with addition of a little nitric acid, to dissolve out the iron and manganese; dissolving the remaining tungstic acid in aqueous ammonia, evaporating to dryness; and heating the residual ammonium tungstate in contact with the air." Tungstic oxide is a yellow powder insoluble in water and in dilute acids, but it is soluble in aqueous ammonia or other alkalies. "The hot solutions of the resulting alkaline tungstates, when neutralized with an acid, yield a yellow precipitate of tungstic monohydrate or tungstic acid. Cold dilute solutions, on the other hand, yield with acids a white precipitate consisting of tungstic dihydrate, or hydrated tungstic acid." Tungstic acid reddens litmus paper and easily dissolves in alkalies.

TUNGSTATES.

Tungstic acid in uniting with bases, forms often, in very unusual proportions. "It is capable of existing in two isomeric modifications, viz.: 1. Ordinary tungstic acid, which is insoluble in water, and forms insoluble salts with all metals, except the alkali-metals and magnesium; 2. Meta-tungstic acid, which is soluble in water, and forms soluble salts with nearly all metals." Tungstates of potassium and sodium—especially that of sodium—are used for making muslin and other fabrics uninflammable.

SULPHIDES.

Tungstous sulphide (disulphide) is easily obtained by igniting tungsten, or one of its oxides, with sulphur. "The trisulphide (tungstic sulphide) is formed by dissolving tungstic acid in ammonium sulphide, and precipitating with an acid, or by adding hydrochloric acid to the solution of an alkaline tungstate saturated with hydrogen sulphide. It is a light-brown precipitate, turning black when dry. It unites easily with basic metallic sulphides, forming the sulpho-tungstates analogous to the normal tungstates."

TESTS.

Scheelite—If of good grade—does not effervesce if a drop of hydrochloric acid be placed on the specimen. Soluble tungstates, saturated with sulphuric, phosphoric, oxalic, acetic, or hydrochloric acid, into which is added a small piece of zinc, gives a beautiful blue color of blue tungsten oxide. "A soluble tungstate mixed with ammonium sulphide, and then with excess of acid, yields a light-brown precipitate of tungstic sulphide, soluble in ammonium sulphide. Hydrogen sulphide does not precipitate the acidulated solution of a tungstate, but turns it blue, owing to the formation of the blue oxide." Ordinary tungstates give, with potassium ferrocyanide, after addition of hydrochloric acid, a brown flocculent precipitate, soluble in pure water free from acid; meta-tungstates give no precipitate." Acids added to solutions of tungstates, throw down white or yellow precipitates of tungstic acid. All compounds of tungsten form colorless beads when borax, or microcosmic salt is added, in the outer blow-pipe flame. In the inner flame, with borax, a yellow glass bead is obtained if tungsten powder is with the borax in large percent—otherwise, with little tungsten, the bead remains colorless in both flames. With microcosmic salt, tungsten gives a bead of blue in the inner flame, if metallic oxides are present especially those of iron the bead is blood-red, if to this bead a small piece of tinfoil is added and then B. B., it turns blue.

Monzonite.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14, 1905.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I take the liberty of asking you for information concerning the rare mineral "Monzonite." No one here seems to know anything about its use, nor can I find any quotations in the papers (mining or otherwise.) If you will kindly let me know its value and also whether it is used in any appreciable quantities, I would consider myself under obligations to you.

Yours very truly,
W. A. E.,
300 N. Main Street.

ANSWER: Monzonite is a petrological term of recent introduction. Such is granite rock—intermediate between granites and syenites. It is a transitorial rock and has a large mineralogical variety. Monzonite, in short, is the same as the old augite-syenite. It is a common rock, and not a rare mineral, and has no commercial, net, value. In your placer operations you may have "monazite" in view. If so, write Director U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C., for copy of "The production of monazite, zircon, gadolinite and columbite in 1904, by Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt."

Thanks.

Messrs. Pilcher and Wiggins, Deputy Commissioners, Lewis and Clark Exposition, are in receipt of a fine, massive, sample of scheelite from the "Papoose Mining Company," Randsburg. The several analyses of the material made by this department were given to the commissioners. Mr. C. J. McDivitt, editor of "The Randsburg Miner," is entitled to praise—through him the sample was obtained and is now among the California mineral display.

Bidding was unusually active on the Los Angeles Stock Echange yesterday, and trading took a wider range than for some days.

Transactions in Associated Oil were 7000 shares, but the stock was fractionally weaker, at 33¾. Mexican Petroleum went up almost a point, 3000 shares being sold at 70¾. Olinda Land gained ¼, and Union about ½ point.

Very little interest was shown in mining stocks. Johnnie Consolidated was the only security in which any change was made, and went down 7 points.

Bank stocks were active, but the effect was irregular. American National lost ½, though earlier in the session 20 shares were sold at 117, while Citizens' National gained 2. Equitable Savings Bank gained a point, but Home Savings lost 2; Mercantile Trust and Savings gained ½; Merchants' National dropping 10 points.

Associated Oil bonds added ¼ under demand, but Home Telephone lost fractionally following the market on the stock. Santa Barbara Electric Railways went up 9 points, closing at 80 without offerings.

California Portland Cement, which has been long quiescent, went up 5 points, closing at 60; Edison Electric preferred gained a point and the common ¾, while the Home Telephone securities dropped 3 points under a bearish influence. San Diego Home Telephone gained a point, and Title Guarantee and Trust preferred 2 points, closing at 125 without offerings. But the only telephone security in which there was any trading was United States Long Distance, 40 shares being sold at 61½, an advance of ½ over the close of the day before.

The banks of the city will be closed Monday and the Saturday following Labor and Admission Day respectively.

WILL PAY 2 PER CENT. Beginning today the Merchants' Trust Company will pay interest at the rate of 2 per cent. a year on daily balances of checking accounts. This is a new departure, so far as trust companies are concerned, though in the line of development of their method of banking. The trust company does no commercial business, i.e., it loans no money on commercial credit, all of its loans being secured either by real estate or collateral, consequently, the trust company, receiving all its deposits from one class and loaning them to another, which gives security for the same, the Merchants' Trust Company believes that its depositors are entitled to receive interest in return for the money they place at its command.

SAN DIEGO SCHOOL BONDS. Sealed proposals will be received until September 5 for the purchase of $135,000 San Diego county High School bonds, bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent. Securities are in denominations of $500, $500 and $1000, and mature in from 6 to 20 years. Proposals should be addressed to the Treasurer of San Diego county.

MUNICIPAL BONDS. The $10,000, 5 per cent. annual 6-15-year Live Oak (Santa Cruz county) serial school bonds have been awarded at 106.178, a basis of 4.268.

The $2500, 6 per cent. annual 3-6-year Latin School district (Fresno county) bonds have been awarded at 104.50, a basis of 4.873.

THE MONEY MARKET. Money is easy with no change in rate.

Time money, 60 to 90 days, 6 per cent.; from 4 to 6 months, 6 per cent.

Commercial paper, 60 to 90 days, indorsed names, 7 per cent.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The hot weather and the supplies operated to weaken the egg market yesterday and local ranch candled were jobbing at 28 to 29 cents, with most of the trading at the former price; fresh Eastern, 26 to 27 cents; ex-storage, 24 to 25 cents.

Two cars of mixed fruit arrived, consisting of peaches, pears and plums. The receipts of plums were light, but practically no change was made in price, but Kelseys were fairly firm at 85 cents, and French and German prunes at 75 cents; fancy German prunes packed, 1.00 to 1.20. Peaches were in good request at 75 to 1.00 for fancy, but no changes were made in pears.

NEW YORK MARKETS.
SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The stock market suffered severely today from heavy selling, which came from all quarters, including London. Much of the selling probably was induced by fears of a coming stringency, this feeling being based upon the low level of New York bank reserves. Veteran observers of recent conditions were of the opinion, however, that other and more important causes were responsible for the marked slump. Chief among these is the fact that London is much disappointed at the manner of its reception here, and has unloaded the greater part of her recent purchases at a loss. The heaviest selling today came from houses which most often act for Boston and New England, thus reviving the reports that raids were being engineered by the so-called backstops of that section. Added to this, all the big commission houses of the Middle West continued to array themselves on the bear side. The declines weakned the position of several pools whose operations were admittedly over extended. They served also to weed out many other weak accounts for the rise. The market opened with a heavy tone, and the early movements were without significance. The more pronounced reactionary tendency came at noon, when heavy selling caused breaks ranging from two points in Southern Pacific to more than four points in Chicago and Northwestern. The pressure against Reading and Amalgamated Copper was especially strong, much of the selling at both time being in these stocks. The Gould group also was heavy, and Union Pacific made a decline of 2¾. Part of the gossip heard in connection with the decline of this stock was that a pool recently organized has found it advisable to liquidate. The market showed some tendency to rally in the later dealings, under the lead of Atchison, which was one of the few strong stocks of the day. There were recoveries of a point or more in the active issues, with indications of a quiet accumulating in moderate volume, but in the final trading prices broke again, causing a weak closing. London's sales were not so large as yesterday. That center's bearish attitude was partly ascribed to the publication of the Bank of England's weekly statement, which showed a heavy decrease of reserve and a greater decrease of general deposits. The announcement from London that Japan contemplated no additional loans would, under ordinary conditions, have been hailed with pleasure, but seemed to go unnoticed today. Conditions dealing with the much-discussed Russian loan have undergone a radical change in the last day or two, according to advices received here by foreign banking interests. By common consent, they are of the opinion that Russia will negotiate her loan abroad. Bonds were weak. Total sales, par value, $3,400,000. United States old 4s advanced ¼ per cent. on call.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.
GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The wheat market opened firm, the September delivery being up ¼c to ⅝c to ¼c to ⅝c, at 78¾@79. December was up ¼c to ⅝c to ⅝c to ¾c, at 80¾@81¼. The chief cause of the initial firmness was general rain in Minnesota and the Dakotas, with light rains in the Canadian Northwest. Soon after the opening an official forecast of addition rain in the Northwest gave further encouragement to the bulls. The market derived increased strength from the firmness of the Liverpool market. Higher prices in the English grain center were said to be the result of bullish advices regarding the German crop. For a time, the offerings here after the opening were light. With a fair demand from shorts, September touched 79¾, while December held firm at the initial figures. Later, the market weakened on liberal profit-taking in September, the price of that option declining to 79¾. Meantime, December sold off to 80⅝. Reports of increased receipts at primary points started liquidation. During the last half hour practically all of the loss was regained on renewed covering by shorts. The market closed firm, with September at 79¾@79⅝, and December ⅛c to ¼c higher at 81. The corn market was irregular. Continued clear weather was the chief factor in the situation. The market closed steady, September opened unchanged at 32¾; sold to 33⅛, and closed at 32. December closed ⅛c to ⅜c up, at 47¾. The oats market was steady. September opened unchanged to a shade higher, at 25½@25¾, sold off to 25⅜, and closed at the lowest point of the day. December ranged between 28¾ and 29¼, and closed a shade higher at 29¼. Under active support from leading packers, the provisions market was firm, notwithstanding 5c decline in the price of live hogs. September pork closed 15c higher; lard, 5c higher; and ribs 7½c lower.

The leading futures closed as follows:

PORT ITEMS.

WEATHER: Clear; wind southwest, velocity 12 miles.

The schooner Oliver J. Olsen, Capt. Olsen, has finished discharging her lumber cargo, and has been delayed in sailing on account of being unable to procure sailors at this port. Capt. Olsen has telegraphed to San Francisco for four men, who are expected tomorrow night, when the schooner will sail for Aberdeen.

The passenger and freight steamer Bonita, Capt. Alberts, cleared yesterday from San Francisco for San Pedro and way ports with 885 tons, consigned to the Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

The lumber steam-schooner Rival has been disabled off Cape Mendocino and is being towed in to San Francisco. The extent of the damages are unknown.

A notice to mariners has been issued, stating that light vessel No. 82 has been replaced on her station, moored in 186 feet of water, about 1½ miles southwest, ½ south from Blunt's Reef, off the seacoast of California, and 4½ miles southwest southerly from Cape Mendocino lighthouse. The lighthouse tender Madrone, temporarily marking the station, has been withdrawn. No change has been made in light vessel No. 82 as to the characteristics of her lights, fog signal or general appearance.

MONEY FOR A HOBBY.

Valuable Snuff Boxes in the Great Hawkins Collection of Curios.

[Tit Bits:] To the man who would consider himself fortunate if he could earn £10,000 by a whole lifetime of hard work it seems difficult to realize that there are other men, to whom fortune has been more kind, who can afford to set apart this sum year by year for the pursuit of a hobby. This was, in fact, the exact amount the late C. H. T. Hawkins allowed himself annually for the indulgence of his hobby of collecting articles of virtu, pictures, china, and so on, with which, before he died, his house was literally filled from basement to ceiling, and which have realized in the recent auction sales the enormous sum of £190,000.

It may be interesting, now that this collection has been dispersed to all quarters of the world by the auctioneer's hammer, to glance at a few of the costly treasures Mr. Hawkins had gathered together, and the prices they realized. So careless, by the way, was Mr. Hawkins of his prizes that, according to a well-known art dealer, he would "put them away in his pocket or in any out of the way corner of his house in Portland Place and forget all about them. A Louis XI oblong gold snuff box by Hamelin, signed and dated 1758, which was bought by Mr. Duveen for £6400 last season, was found in the drawer of a washstand.

Mr. Hawkins had a special weakness for snuff boxes, of which he had collected no fewer than 536, which realized the amazing sum of £54,019, or more than £100 apiece. In addition to the £6400 box mentioned above, there was an exquisite box by Georges of Paris, which was secured by Mr. Durlacher for £1300; and three Louis XVI oval gold boxes, fetched respectively £1650, £1250 and £1150. An oblong gold snuff box presented by Louis XV to the King of Naples realized £630; a Louis Quinze oval gold box, enameled, with battle scenes, was knocked down at £480; and a Louis Seize, painted in opaque grisaille enamel, with figures of Diana and Cupid, after Boucher, at £450. A Louis XVI oval gold, with mythological themes, brought £720; another, similar, with pastoral figures, after Watteau, £560; and an oblong, with scenes after Lancret, the same figure; while a gold circular snuff box, presented by the Empress Catherine to Sir Joshua Reynolds, realized £95 only; and one of fortification agate and metal gilt mounts was snapped up for £2.

These are but a few examples illustrating the largeness and range of the prices paid for these wonderful and historic snuff boxes. Mr. Hawkins had literally ransacked the world for these treasures, and that he was not always happy in his bargains is proved by the fact that one gold box, with an oval cartel of Hercules and Omphale, for which he paid £315, only yielded £60 at the sale.

Mr. Hawkins's collection of miniatures was little less remarkable. For one of Frances Howard, Duchess of Norfolk, painted by Holbein, the large sum of £2750 was paid; and another, of two small children, found an eager purchaser at a round thousand pounds. For one of a lady, by Engelhart, Messrs. Duveen gave £435; and he same firm paid £340 for a Cosway portrait of a lady; another Cosway miniature, in a gold locket set with pearls, realized £360; and many other miniatures were disposed of for prices ranging from £100 to £300 each.

Of the Hawkins collection of porcelain, a cabaret painted with birds in rose-du-Barry and green ground fetched £1732 10s.; an oviform tea set was knocked down for £945 10s.; and a pair of oval tureens for £409 10s. And among objects of virtu a Louis XV gold tablet case brought £515. A Louis XVI gold memorandum case £190, and a Louis XVI gold shuttle, with oval panels in the centre, fell to Mr. Charles Wertheimer for £235. Such are a few of the more notable articles in this truly marvelous collection, the fruit of a rich man's hobby, the total value of which, if well invested, would represent an income forever of at least £8000 a year.

To show how comparative everything is in this world, and what enormous sums can be spent in the pursuit of such an expensive hobby as this of collecting objects of art, Mr. Pierpont Morgan has actually spent more in twelve months than
